

Outing Club Will Hold Workshop

The Outing Club has invited the officers of outing clubs from 17 other colleges to attend a workshop here tomorrow and Sunday.

The purpose of the workshop is to acquaint representatives with the various ways each club is organized and with the different activities of each club, David Hutchison, chairman of the workshop, said.

Members of the Outing Club who have not yet registered for the workshop may still register in the Hetzel Union lobby today.

Registration for the off-campus representatives will be held to-night.

The workshop will open with a discussion of outing club operations at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the civil engineering cabin. A discussion of outing club activities will be held at 10:15 a.m.

A trapshoot, hikes, rockclimbing, canoeing and an archery exhibition will make up the afternoon session. The various divisions will leave from the Civil Engineering Cabin.

Saturday evening will feature a square dance and song fest.

The workshop will end on Sunday with an interdenominational worship service and a discussion of outing club equipment.

WSGA Discusses Summer Government

A Women's Student Government Association Senate committee is studying the present system of governing the women students attending summer sessions to determine whether to expand or re-organize its summer organization.

"We have just established a need (for the study); nothing definite has been decided," said Ellen Donovan, WSGA president.

Committee members, appointed by Miss Donovan, are Jessie Janjigian, chairman; Sue First, Jean Nigh, Kip Taylor and one of the two newly elected freshman senators.

With the increasing number of women registering for summer sessions, Miss Donovan said a complete summer WSGA organization might be needed.

In previous years, a Judicial Board was the only formal student government for the summer students.

A former judicial member was appointed as chairman by the Dean of Women's office. The other board members were selected from the women students with no judicial record who were attending the complete 12-week summer program.

"Although summer judicial fits in well with the casual atmosphere which exists at summer sessions, as the past chairman of summer judicial it is quite evident that some type of formal organization is absolutely necessary," said Sandra Shogren, secretary of WSGA Senate.

Miss Shogren listed a four-point program to improve summer judicial.

- Publish the regulations and distribute them to women. Last summer the only regulations known to summer students were those posted above the sign-out sheets.

- Draw-up a complete set of summer regulations.

Miss Shogren said she herself learned of many of the rules through word of mouth and would otherwise have been unaware of their existence.

- Determine fixed penalties for offenses and infractions. Summer judicial members had no precedents to guide them in deciding penalties.

- Select the judicial chairman by a better method.

Miss Shogren advocated a recommendation by the winter judicial chairman.

Miss Donovan said the committee will probably report before Christmas.

Arnold Society Will Be Host For 7 Schools

Members of the Arnold Air Society from seven Pennsylvania colleges and universities and Penn State will attend their annual meeting here tomorrow.

The visiting schools are Franklin & Marshall, The University of Pittsburgh, Duquesne University, Lehigh University, Allegheny and St. Joseph's Colleges.

Speakers at the meeting will be Louis J. Ciccoli, executive secretary of Arnold Air Society from Washington, D.C.; Orin H. Rigley, professor of Air Science; and John Johnston, National Conclave Chairman from the University of Pittsburgh.

The squadron commanders will exchange ideas on the practices and ideals of the society. The plans for the society's program on campus will be made after suggestions are received at the meeting.

Movies will be shown on communist military movements and on the United States Air Force. There will be a banquet following the meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Barbara Simon, senior in elementary education from Douglassville and National Commander of Angel Flight, will be a guest at the meetings.

The officers of the Arnold Air Society here are: William Simon, Commander; Michael Lightner, Executive Officer; Samuel Fenati, Adjutant-Recorder; Dale Sypberd, Comptroller; and Michael Maxwell, Information Services Officer.

Sunny Skies, Cold Forecast for Today

Sunny skies and continued cold are seen for today with a high of 50 degrees. Fair and quite cold again is predicted for tonight with a low of 25.

Lectures--

(Continued from page one) or a question and answer period for the students after the lecture at the meeting, but these things might be discussed and arranged in the future.

The University Lecture Series was set up to bring "big name" speakers to the campus. Mrs. Roosevelt is scheduled to speak here on January 7, and Attlee on February 23. Schwab Auditorium has been reserved for both those nights. Contracts for these speakers were signed and sent out on October 29.

Members of the committee who set up the series are: Forster, professor of European history, and Miss Wyland, professor emerita of education, chairman; Donald B. Sweegan, assistant professor of physical education, Sherry Parkin, Jack Kendall, Reilly Johnson, Joyce Carson and Kriss Myers, arrangements.

Lehman, assistant executive secretary of the alumni association, and Wilbur Lewellen, publicity; Pat O'Bryan, finance; Robert Beam, director of the alumni fund, Christian K. Arnold, staff assistant to the president, and Jay Feldstein, selection.

The cornerstone for Albert Schweitzer Village was laid last Sunday. The village, named after the famed doctor, philosopher and humanitarian, is designed to provide homes for stateless persons.

Student Uninjured In Auto Collision

A University student was uninjured early yesterday afternoon when his 1957 Chevrolet coupe collided with a station wagon at the intersection of East Nittany Avenue and South Pugh Street.

Nathan Koenigseerg, sophomore in business administration from Lebanon, was traveling north on South Pugh and Charles Taylor of State College was driving east on Nittany Avenue when the mishap occurred.

Five-Man Band, Small Crowd Send Team to West Virginia

By SUSIE LINKROOM
An original five-man band opened the show at last night's pep rally as a small and shivering crowd cheered for the Nittany Lions in preparation for Saturday's game with West Virginia.

The band, composed of five students, was heartily cheered as it appeared loudly playing "When the Saints Go Marching In." The students voluntarily accepted the offer to play in place of an organized band, which could not be obtained.

Vince Marino, junior class president and master of ceremonies, entertained the small crowd of spirited students with jokes and "ad lib" comments.

J. T. White, end coach for the Lions, was the featured speaker. White said the team's chances for victory are about even with those of West Virginia.

Alpha Chi Omega sorority gave a comedy skit, "The Vanquished Mountaineers." It featured a song contest between the Penn State "tweedies" and the West Virginia "drippy mountaineers." The "mountaineers" groggily entered carrying jugs of "mountain dew." The "tweedies" soon overwhelmed them, claiming victory and singing "When the Saints Go Marching In." The rest of the sorority joined in the singing.

A motorcade which preceded the rally traveled through town and campus gathering prospective "ralliers." It was headed by the cheerleaders, who later led the students in songs and cheers. Next week a banner contest will be held for the last home game. Jack Lange, head cheerleader, said he hopes it will induce greater interest and spirit in the student body. Prizes will be given in each of the three groups, fraternities, sororities, and independents. Since a limited number of participants will be allowed, the groups are urged to start work on the banners now.

Judith Klanke was general chairman of the sorority skit, which included Ellen Butterworth, Lois Henderson, Sylvia Sumner, Carol Bowman, Margery Green, Barbara Hill, Mildred Moyer, Jacqueline Long, and Theadora DelPrete.

Co-chairmen of the rally were Jack Lange, head cheerleader Theodore Haller, president of Androcles and John Nagy, president of Blue Key.
