

White Rates Longfellow, Williams Among Best

Lions Fear Mountie QBs

LSU Star Looms As All American

A pair of homegrown quarterbacks who probably learned the art of throwing by tossing jugs of moonshine around pappy's stills, could send Penn State's football team into a frenzy tomorrow afternoon.

The duo are Dick Longfellow and Danny Williams, of rival West Virginia. And according to Penn State's end coach J. T. White, who scouted the Mounties this season, Longfellow and Williams can run and pass with the best.

Longfellow is more dangerous than his cohort, White said, but only because of his experience. He's a senior who for the last two years had been partially hidden in the shadow of the now-departed Mickey Trimarki. Williams is only a sophomore.

"Longfellow is a better passer," White said, "although, Williams can heave them too. He especially likes to throw to (Terry) Fairbanks, (Melvin) Reight and (Dave) Rider."

Longfellow is the nation's fourth best total leader mainly because of his aerial wizardry. He has completed 48 of 95 passes for 650 yards and five TDs and four conversions.

Williams, who was one of West Virginia's outstanding schoolboy athletes two years ago, has hit on 13 of 25 passes for 231 yards and three conversions. None have been intercepted.

"They're both dangerous runners," White said, "and they run with the ball as much as pass. If they get outside of the ends, they can really go."

White isn't kidding about the running ability of the combo.

DICK LONGFELLOW

Both are listed among West Virginia's top five ground gainers. Ray Peterson with 117 yards on 59 carries for a 3.0 average per trip. Williams is fifth, gaining 131 yards on 38 rushes for a 3.4 average.

White also was correct about Longfellow's favorite pass targets. According to the latest statistics out of Morgantown, Reight, the starting left half, leads in receptions. He has grabbed 16 for 174 yards and one TD. However, Fairbanks, who has been described by White as a "rough, tough end," has gained the most yardage on passes, taking 11 tosses for 269 yards and one TD.

Rider, the other receiver mentioned by White, is fourth in pass receiving—one aerial behind Peterson. Peterson has 11 receptions for 117 yards and one TD, while Rider has 10 catches for 219 yards and two TDs.

But getting back to the quarterbacks, Longfellow and Williams are also among the top five Mountaineer scorers. Longfellow has two touchdowns and six extra points (made no three runs) for 18 points and Williams has three TDs and one running conversion for 20 markers. Reight, incidentally, is the scoring leader, with 42 points on six TDs and six extra points (by pass receiving.)

The Mountie signal-callers also handle all their team's punting. Williams has kicked 31 times for a 36.3 average and Longfellow has punted eight times for 33.6 yards per kick. They also have had a hand in kickoff returns, running back two apiece—Williams for 41 yards and Longfellow for 32 yards.

Besides their passing, running, punting, scoring and kickoff returns, the West Virginia quarterbacks do absolutely nothing to help the Mountaineers offensive.

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Cannon, spark of undefeated LSU's offense, is receiving strong support for the first team All America backfield, a callover by The Associated Press showed yesterday.

The East and the Midwest, however, also have outstanding backfield candidates in Tommy Greene of Holy Cross, Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson of Army, Randy Duncan of Iowa, Dick Thornton of Northwestern, Bob Jarus of Purdue, Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame, and Dale Hackbart of Wisconsin.

Other backs who have attracted heavy support include Richie Peterson of Tulane, Charles Flowers of Mississippi, Fred Pickard of Florida State, Billy Austin of Rutgers, Bob White of Ohio State, Larry Hickman of Baylor, Don Meredith of Southern Methodist, Billy Holsclaw of Virginia Tech, Sam Honer of VMI, Joe Kapp of California, Dick Bass of the College of the Pacific, Dainard Paulson of Oregon State, Alex Hawkins of South Carolina and Don Perkins of New Mexico.

The Associated Press All-American is selected on the basis of recommendations from 12 regional boards and will be announced Dec. 4 after the results from all games including the big Army-Navy tilt of Nov. 29 have been studied.

Unbeaten in 30 Games

Penn State post-World War I football teams went unbeaten for 30 straight games during the 1919-1922 period.

—by Lou Prato

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE - BUT TODAY'S L&M GIVES YOU-

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE!

They said that bullfighting was strictly for men, and a woman couldn't do it. But pretty Pat McCormick, while a student at Texas Western College, ignored the scoffers, and became the first American girl to win international acclaim as a torea-Dora.

Puff by puff

Less tars & More taste

DON'T SETTLE FOR ONE WITHOUT THE OTHER!

Change to L&M and get 'em both. Such an improved filter and more taste! Better taste than in any other cigarette. Yes, today's L&M combines these two essentials of modern smoking enjoyment—less tars and more taste—in one great cigarette.

PACK OR BOX

LIGHT INTO THAT LIVE MODERN FLAVOR!