

'Mardi' Crowds Fill Lion's Den

The large number of students served in the Lion's Den last Friday night can be attributed to the Mardi Gras crowd, John P. Amacker, general manager of the Lion's Den said.

He said 264 students were served during the extended hours on Friday as compared with 84 served on Saturday.

Residence Halls Will Be Closed For Holiday

University residence halls will be closed from 4 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 26, to 1 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 30, for Thanksgiving recess.

Wednesday lunch will be the last meal served in the dining halls before vacation. Meal service will resume with breakfast on Monday.

Temporary accommodations will probably be provided for men students now living in the residence halls who find it absolutely necessary to remain on campus over the entire vacation. A charge of $4 will be made for these accommodations.

All men students planning to remain on campus must make reservations at the Room Assignment Office, 1-A Irvin, before 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 21.

Room keys are to be called for and room charges paid at 1-A Irvin from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 25 and 26.

Riding Club Farm Tour

The Penn State Riding Club will visit the Hanover Standard-bred Farm on Sunday.

Interested members can sign up for rides at the stable office. Cars will leave at 8.45 a.m. Sunday from the Hetzel Union parking lot.

After the Mardi Gras was over there was an influx of students, he said.

The extended hours in the Lion's Den will last until Dec. 19. Snack bar services will end at midnight and the doors will close at 12:15 a.m.

Ossian R. MacKenzie, former vice president for business administration; Robert C. Proffitt, director of Food Service; Jay Feldstein, All-University president and chairman of the Hetzel Union Board; and Edward Frymoyer, president of the Association of Independent Men, decided that these weekends be used to test student response to the later hours.

Frymoyer said yesterday that he thought more publicity should be given the extended hours so that students would know the Den was open late.

Louis A. Berrena, manager of Food Service, said that it would be possible to post the hours on the doors to the Den. The hours have also been advertised at the student movies on Saturday night, he said.

Although the student response was not good this past weekend, it will not be possible to tell the overall response to the extended hours until the end of the testing period, he said.

The original request for the later hours was made at a meeting of the HUB Board in October by Frymoyer. They would benefit freshmen who are not allowed to visit fraternities because of the deferred rushing program, he said.

Nittany T-Shirterers Win Fight In 75 Per Cent Student Vote

By JOHN ROOT

The Nittany T-shirterers yesterday rolled up their sleeves to fight the battle to take their shirts off when dining—and won.

The final count of the referendum was 531 votes against the rule and 243 for it, out of the total number of 774 votes cast. A total of 516 votes, or two-thirds of those voting, were needed to repeal the ruling.

Approximately 75 per cent of the students turned out to vote in the administration building during the time allotted, showing heavy student interest in the proceedings and in the final outcome of the vote.

The rule was first suggested by Kenneth Comley, vice president of the Nittany Council and passed at the same meeting by the representatives of the various dormitories. The representatives were then told to hold residence halls meetings during the rest of the week and inform the other members of the halls about the ruling. The rule was to go into effect Sunday.

The residence hall meetings ripped the ruling apart. There was talk of misrepresentation in Nittany Council, infringement of student rights and even secession from the Nittany Council.

A petition to hold a referendum on the rule was suggested by Paul Garnet, secretary of Nittany residence hall 43, after much debate at their meeting. The petition was taken to the other residence hall units and more than 300 signatures were obtained. The dress rule was suspended until after the referendum was held and last night's decision repealed the rule.

The ruling, which was turned down by the students in their referendum, called for the ban of T-shirts and sweatshirts from the dining hall during mealtime hours and the wearing of sport or suit coats during the Sunday noon meal.

T-SHIRTS LOOMED as the votes against the ban piled up in yesterday's referendum. Donald Bush, center, and Norman Little, right, get ready to show their matriculation cards to AIM elections committee member Paul Craska.

The referendum ballot read as follows: "The motion under contention is: Sport shirts must be worn to all daily meals, and a sport jacket must be worn over sport shirt for the midday Sunday meal. T-shirts and sweatshirts are forbidden."

The ballot was dated for the day of the referendum and the student could mark either "I approve" or "I disapprove."

William P. Schimpf, president of the Nittany Council, had this comment to make after the voting was over: "I am, of course, very disappointed that the students did not uphold the legislation passed by their representatives. However, I was pleased about the area's response to the referendum and the number who came out to vote."

ROTC--

(Continued from page one) placed in the College of the Liberal Arts and a course in civil defense be instituted. The committee took no action on the proposal.

But the Liberal Arts Student Council took up the issue and voted to have President Robert Nurock present a voluntary ROTC proposal to Cabinet. After weeks of debate the proposal was defeated.

In other business Cabinet will hear a report on the Freshman Customs Board and the progress of the Mall Bulletin Board committee. Officers' reports will also be given.

Green Proposes Six 'Tests for Love'

By CAROL BLAKESLEE

How do you know you're in love?

The Rev. Canon Bryan Green attempted to answer this oft-asked question by proposing six "tests for love" yesterday in the third of a series of five lectures on "Love, Friendship and Marriage."

Your first consideration should be how long you have known the person, Green said. No one can completely belong to someone else unless he really knows him as a person.

Secondly, you should consider the circumstances under which you have known him, he said. You reveal your personality through communication with others in various situations. By observing how he responds in different instances, you can get to know his real personality.

Thirdly, you should ask yourself, "What social backgrounds and interests do we have in common?"

Green said the happiest marriages tend to occur between two people who are of the same general social grouping. Contrary to popular belief, he said, the "exceptions do prove the rule."

If you should think you're in love with someone outside the general cultural family to which you belong, Green said, you "ought to wonder" whether you can really belong to each other.

In the fourth place, he said, you should ask, "Do we share a common faith and common ideals?"

A disagreement in this respect can cause many tensions after marriage. "How can you share your lives if you don't share common ideals?" he said.

Regarding marriages between Christians and non-Christians, Green said, "No real Christian who loves Christ could love one who doesn't."

When two people share in the deepest level of religion their love is deepest, he said.

The fifth question you should consider is, "What do I miss most when I am away from him?"

If you miss mostly the erotic side "put a question mark after your love," he said.

Lastly, you should ask yourself, "Do we trust each other absolutely?"

"Trust precedes love," Green said. You cannot give yourselves to each other in complete love if you lack trust in each other.

If, in answering these questions, you find yourself unsure, Green emphasized, "wait, wait, wait." By waiting you will become certain, he said.

FRATERNITY NEWS LETTERS
Letterpress • Offset
Commercial Printing
152 E. COLLEGE AD 8-5194

RADIO Service and Supplies
• Car Radios
• Portable Radios
• Phonographs
• Batteries

State College TV
232 S. Allen St.

ROTC
AIR FORCE, ARMY, NAVY

★ ★ ★

Men's Fine Dress Leather Gloves
FACTORY PRICES

CONTACT ALAN MOSES
P.O. BOX 355, STATE COLLEGE

Phil Club to Meet

The Philosophy Club will meet at 8 tonight in 217 Hetzel Union. Dr. H. W. Johnstone Jr. will speak on "What Price on Reason?"

CATHAUM
Now - 1:56, 4:28, 7:00, 9:30
She Needs Her Man... Now!
JEAN SIMMONS
"HOME BEFORE DARK"

NITTANY
Tonight - Doors Open 6:45
Burt Lancaster
Katherine Hepburn
"THE RAINMAKER"

FRIDAY EVE
JAMES STEWART
"THE SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS"

WMAJ

5:30	Sign On
6:30	Morning Show
8:30	Morning Devotions
8:45	News Headlines
9:45	Morning Show
11:00	News
11:05	Swap Shop
11:15	Classical Interlude
12:00	Music at Noon
12:15	County News
12:30	What's Going On
12:35	Music Show
1:00	News and Sports
1:15	Contact
5:00	Local News
5:05	LP's and Show Tunes
5:30	News
5:35	LP's and Show Tunes
6:00	News and Markets
6:15	Sports Special
6:30	LP's and Show Tunes
7:00	Fulton Lewis Jr.
7:15	LP's and Show Tunes
7:45	Public Service Program
8:00	News
8:05	WDFM Programs
10:00	News
10:05	Groovology
11:00	News
11:05	Sports
11:10	Groovology
12:00	News and Sports
12:05	Groovology
1:00	News and Sports
1:05	Sign Off

STATE Theatre
STATE COLLEGE, PA

NOW PLAYING

THE NEW SCREEN MUSICAL BY THE COMPOSERS OF "MY FAIR LADY"

The Picture of the Year with the love songs you hear everywhere!

Glorious COLOR!

M-G-M

Feature
1:10, 3:14, 5:18, 7:25, 9:32