

Crowds Fill Schwab To Hear Green

Crowds overflowed from Schwab Auditorium at 11 a.m. Sunday when the Rev. Canon Bryan Green delivered the last of his lectures on "Basic Christianity" at the University Chapel service of worship.

A great number of persons was turned away from Schwab and heard the service broadcast in 121, 10, 1 and 2 Sparks.

After speaking at chapel, Canon Green had dinner with the members of the All-Campus Bryan Green Committee in the Hetzel Union Building. He then held several personal interviews following the dinner.

Green met with students in the pre-ministerial curriculum Sunday night for dinner at the Wesley Foundation.

Green conducted an ecumenical service for all student fellowships at 7 p.m. Sunday. Following this he was honored at a reception held in the Chapel lounge.

Before he left yesterday to return to England, Canon Green met with the Bryan Green Follow-up Committee and held several personal interviews.

The follow-up committee will arrange study groups and discussions on Green's lectures. Also, plans are being made to continue the All-Campus Bryan Green Committee, possibly as a group to re-vitalize campus religious organizations, James Miller, junior in liberal arts from Berwick, said.

Canon Green had been on campus during the past week. He gave two lecture series, one in the afternoons on Love, Friendship and Marriage and the other in the evenings on "Basic Christianity."

Trial--

Schilling pleaded guilty last Monday in a hearing before Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills. He said he got panicky after the accident and drove away.

Schilling added that he went to the police before they came to him and that payment of the damages to the two vehicles has been taken care of.

Verity, Benson and Moyer pleaded guilty in a hearing before Mills last Tuesday to charges of burglaries of Waring snack bar, Recreation Building, the Caddy House at the golf course and the Alvo Electric Co. on South Pugh Street just off College Avenue.

Each of the threesome has been out on $1000 bail since Wednesday night.
