Supporting Franklin's motion, Robert LaBar, president of the Agriculture Student Council, urged that the Cabinet committee contact alumni to determine their opinion on ROTC and its value.

Bruce's Battle--

Fegley had never played soccer before, and Bruce helped him learn the finer points of the game. Jerry started the first six games this year, turning in a shutout against Syracuse. But in the Navy game he hurt his finger, and Fegley replaced him. Apparently Bruce was too good a teacher because Fegley hasn't been replaced there yet.

Tomorrow, Bruce ends his soccer career at Penn State when the Lions play Pitt at Pittsburgh. He hasn't had a spectacular career here during his four years, but any sports fan has to admire and respect Bruce because he didn't give up when the odds were against him.

Men's Dormitories Nearing Completion

The furnishings in Runkle and Leete Hall, divisions of the North Halls Residence Hall project, are nearing completion.

The only thing preventing rooms in Holmes and Beam Hall from being furnished and painted soon is the completion of the heating system in these units, according to the superintendent of the building project.

The interior masonry is almost done in Holmes and Beam. Contractors are now starting to lather and plaster in these dorms.

The superintendent said, "We are moving along according to schedule and should be done by the July date, if no hitches develop."

He also said that if Holmes and Beam are enclosed and the heating system connected and installed, his men will be able to work throughout the winter.

After the convectors for the heating system are put in the rooms, it takes about three weeks for the system to be connected.

At present workmen are installing the heating system in Holmes Hall. When this is completed, they will furnish the rooms in Holmes and go on to work on the heating system in Beam.

There is no heating in the Warnock Dining Hall yet, although there is some heat from the heating pipes that run through the building. The heat in all the buildings, originates from the power plant.

The furnishings in the rooms include bookcases, desks, storage lockers, bulletin boards, dressers and closets.

Each L-shaped building is four stories high. Runkle and Warnock Hall are located along Shortlidge Road, while the other buildings are on Park Avenue.

Stan Kenton, winner of Down Beat Magazine's popularity poll for five consecutive years, will appear with his famous 20-piece orchestra at 8 p.m. Sunday in Recreation Building.

The concert will be sponsored by the Jazz Club.

The Kenton orchestra will be making its first appearance here since winning the Down Beat award for the fifth time. The orchestra is currently on a nationwide tour.

Kenton, billed as "Modern America's Man of Music," will appear with the orchestra which Billboard Magazine last week called Kenton's finest band to date.

This is the second big concert this semester presented by the Jazz Club. Ted Heath and his orchestra appeared here in October.
