

Heavyweight Oberly To Debut Tonight

ing sophomore Bill Hardham in a two-match elimination scrap.

Although Oberly has never wrestled on an intercollegiate varsity level before, he is an experienced performer. He has competed in numerous AAU tournaments and three years ago won the heavyweight title at the Wilkes College tourney—a mid-season carnival which attracts outstanding college, amateur and high school grapplers from the East, South and Midwest.

Colgate will counter with a lineup tonight which includes three veterans, Paul Martin, Dick McShane and Schult. Martin, who dropped a 5-4 decision to Jack Maher last year, will open at 123 and McShane, a 6-0 loser to three-time Eastern champ Johnny Johnston a year ago, will open at 147. Schult, a two-year veteran, starts at 177.

Four sophomores and a junior are expected to start at the other Colgate positions. Included among these men are the Venier twins—Pete, a 130-pounder, and Paul, the 137-pound regular. Sophs Dave Daily, 157, and Jim Hancock, unlimited, and junior John Hamilton, 167, fill the other starting berths.

This will be the third meet of the year for the Raiders. However their wins have been over lightly-regarded foes — Clarkson College and Union.

New Stalling Rule Among '58 Changes

By SANDY PADWE

Two new major wrestling rules and one new basketball rule will be in effect tonight and Tuesday night when the Nittany grapplers and basketball team open their home seasons.

The wrestling team opens tonight against Colgate, while the cagers lift the lid Tuesday against Gettysburg.

The two wrestling rules deal primarily with scoring. Last season a near fall was worth only two points while this year it is worth three.

The other change involves the stalling rule. This year there will be no warning for running away from an opponent. Last year a warning was given to the men before he was penalized, but this year it will cost one point for stalling and there will be no warning.

According to Penn State wrestling coach Charlie Speidel the new rule was enacted because of the way Oklahoma State's Bob Herald "ran away" from Penn State's national champ of 1957, Johnny Johnston, in the semifinals of the 1958 N.C.A.A. tournament. Herald jumped into a quick lead on a take down and then started to stall. Johnston
