

Reshevsky, International Chess Champion, Will Play Students, Faculty, Townspeople

Samuel Reshevsky, internationally famous chess figure, will challenge Chess Club members, faculty, and townspeople at 7 p.m. Jan. 12 in Waring Lounge.

The exhibition, which will be preceded by a lecture, is expected to consist of about 30 simultaneous matches.

Reshevsky played a similar exhibition here last spring. He lost only to Professor Orrin Frink of the Mathematics Department, and tied his game with Jerry Wetzel, a current sophomore.

The Chess Club will charge $4 to those who match wits with the master. Onlookers will be asked to donate 25 cents.

For further information and reservations, Fred Shaffer, Chess Club president, may be contacted at AD 8-8441, extension 2897.

Reshevsky, whose great ambition is to bring the chess championship to the United States, was born in Ozorkow, Poland, on Nov. 26, 1911.

The Grandmaster learned to play chess when he was five, while watching his father play. At the age of six, he was touring in Europe giving simultaneous exhibitions.

After retiring from the chess arena to attend school, he emerged at Syracuse, New York, where he copped premier honors in a field which included all the top flight players of this country.

Reshevsky won the title of Grandmaster when he defeated the invincible Capablanca in Margate, Eng., in 1935.

He won his first United States Tourna-ment Championship in 1936.

Since then, Reshevsky has been one of the international leaders, always finishing in the top three.

Last year he played in approximately 20 colleges and universities and played about 800 games. He won about 770, lost 2 and drew the rest.

Vega Wins

Freshman Greg, Weiss, junior Jay Werner, Frank Donatelli and Lou Savadove all played an instrumental part in pleasing the appreciative audience.

17-Game Cage Streak

Penn State's longest winning streak in basketball was a 17-game skein in the 1924 and 1925 seasons.

WILLIAM F. BLOOMFIELD, B.S.I.E., LEHIGH, '53, SAYS:

"Join me for a day at work?"

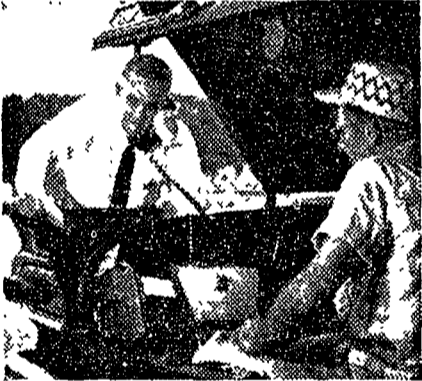

Bill is Plant Service Supervisor for New Jersey Bell Telephone Company at Dover. He joined the telephone company after graduation, has held many jobs to gain valuable experience. Now he has three foremen and 32 craft people working for him. "It's a challenging job and keeps me hopping," says Bill. "See for yourself."

"8:30 a.m. With my test bureau foreman, I plan work schedules for the coming week. Maintaining equitable schedules and being ready for emergencies is imperative for good morale and service."

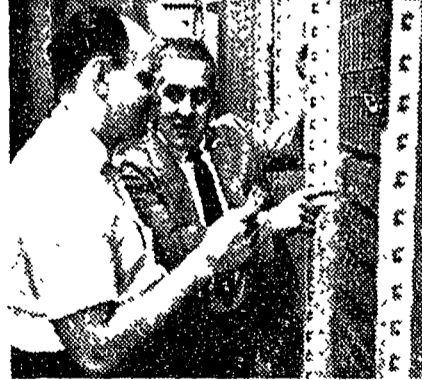

"9:10 a.m. The State Police at Andover have reported trouble with a mobile radio telephone. I discuss it with the test deskman. Naturally, we send a repairman out pronto to take care of it."

"11:00 a.m. As soon as things are lined up at the office, I drive out to check on the mobile radio repair job. The repairman has found the trouble—and together we run a test on the equipment."

"1:30 p.m. After lunch, I look in on a PBX and room-phone installation at an out-of-town motel. The installation supervisor, foreman and I discuss plans for running cable in from the highway."

"2:45 p.m. Next, I drive over to the central office at Denville, which is cutting over 7000 local telephones to dial service tomorrow night. I go over final arrangements with the supervisor."

"4:00 p.m. When I get back to my office, I find there are several phone messages to answer. As soon as I get them out of the way, I'll check over tomorrow's work schedule—then call it a day."

"Well, that's my job. You can see there's nothing monotonous about it. I'm responsible for keeping 50,000 subscriber lines over a 260-square-mile area in A-1 operating order. It's a big responsibility—but I love it."

Bill Bloomfield is moving ahead, like many young engineers in supervisory positions in the Bell Telephone Companies. There may be opportunities for you, too. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus and get the whole story.
