

Rec Facilities Seen Lacking

Immediate steps to provide for extensive expansion of campus recreation facilities was recommended to the University Senate yesterday.

Findings of an evaluation study of intramural and general recreation facilities showed that these programs are not keeping up with the rapidly growing enrollment.

The study was conducted by a committee headed by Eugene S. Lindstrom, associate professor of bacteriology.

In addition to the expanded facilities, the committee recommended:

• All incoming freshmen be tested on their health knowledge and then sectioned in health education classes according to their knowledge.

• At least two experienced, trained professional recreational leaders be added to the staff to assist in developing and operating the recreation program.

• Existing facilities, including residence halls, be studied to make sure all existing space is better used efficiently.

• An outside professional agency be engaged to provide an overall plan to help provide an integrated recreational program.

The health and physical education study showed that the facilities are especially lacking for women.

From 1924 to 1958, the report stated, there has been no increase in indoor facilities for women and there has been a decrease in outdoor facilities while the enrollment has jumped from 336 to 3360 women, a 10-fold increase.

Evening classes have further cut into the intramurals program. Sports programs for graduate students and faculty are out of the question except during ROTC common hours, the report pointed out.

An informal poll of students in health education showed they felt the course material was just a repetition of high school health.

No Students May Repeat English 0

Students failing English 0 cannot repeat the course but will be able to take the final examination again in order to qualify for English 1 under a new ruling of the Department of English

Dr. John S. Bowman, chairman of the English composition sections, told the University Senate yesterday that the only exception to the new ruling will be students who failed English 0 before last semester.

Students who plan to take the final exam under the new rule must register for it before May 1. They will take the exam with the regular sections that enrolled in the course this semester.

Prior to this ruling, a student failing English 0 could repeat the course as long as he stayed in college until he passed it.

May 1 and Dec. 1 have been set as the deadlines for registering for the final exam in the spring and fall semesters.

Bowman said it will be the students' own responsibility to prepare for the final exam.

Press Contest Seeks Coed For Cover Girl

Coeds interested in entering the Pittsburgh Press Campus Cover Girl Contest should place their names and photographs in a box in The Daily Collegian outer office by noon, Feb. 14.

The Pittsburgh Press newspaper sponsors of the contest, has invited many colleges to participate. Each school will enter one candidate

The candidates from the University will be chosen by the Board of Editors of The Daily Collegian and her photograph will be sent to the Press.

On March 22 pictures of the candidates from the various colleges will appear in the Press Roto Magazine. From this group five finalists will be selected by judges.

These five will be invited to a luncheon in Pittsburgh to meet and talk with the judges. The following week the Campus Cover Girl will be chosen and the four other finalists will become the queen's court. Photographs and an accompanying story on the finalists will be featured in the Press Roto Magazine.

House Approves Bill For Extension of Draft

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted 381-20 yesterday to extend the draft four years beyond June 30.

A strong drive to hold the extension to two years failed. But it is expected to be renewed in the Senate, next stop for the bill backed by President Eisenhower and Pentagon chiefs.

Alum Named Admissions Assistant

Paul A. Mitten, sales manager of Offset Printing, Inc., of State College, has been named administrative assistant to the dean of admissions at the University.

Dr. Robert G. Bernreuter, dean of admissions, said Mitten will devote much of his time to working with high school graduates requesting admission and with their parents. He will also travel throughout the state, representing the University at college nights and similar programs.

Mitten is a 1931 graduate of the University in business administration. As an undergraduate, Mitten was president of his freshman class, vice president of the senior class, basketball manager, vice president of Student Council and the Student Board, president of Lion's Paw and of Blue Key and a member of Parmi Nous. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

A native of Towanda, Mitten operated a men's clothing store in State College from 1933 to 1943. From 1943 to 1949 he was a sales representative for Baldwin Locomotive Co., with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

He was engaged in sales work with Palm Beach Clothing Co. from 1950 to 1955 and with F. H. Lee, Co., New York City, from 1955 to 1957.

He served a term as president of the State College Chamber of Commerce and as a member of Borough Council while in the clothing business in State College.

Mitten is married to the former Louise Turner, also of Towanda, and they have two children, Paul A., Jr., a junior at the University and Polly, a sophomore.

Miss Pa. May Visit During Sharp Week

Rosalie Samley, Miss Pennsylvania of 1958, has been asked to attend the Sophomore Class Dance to be held during Larry Sharp Week and an invitation has been extended to Sharp and his parents to visit the campus during the fund-raising campaign.

Carmella LaSpada, general chairman for the campaign, told All-University Cabinet last night that she has written to Miss Samley but has not yet received any reply. Miss LaSpada pointed out that the appearance of the beauty queen probably would aid in the success of the dance and the overall success of the campaign.

If Sharp and his parents are able to visit the campus, Miss LaSpada said, free accommodations have been arranged at the Nittany Lion Inn for their stay.

Cabinet approved a $1700 budget for the over-all expenses of the campaign, to be held March 2 through 8. All-University President Jay Feldstein urged Cabinet members to approve this budget after Miss LaSpada presented a detailed report on plans for the week.

The budget will include the $1250 cost for the Kingston Trio.

which will be appearing at a discount because of the nature of the drive, and publicity expenses.

The publicity will include a banner on the Mall, billboards on the outskirts of State College, car stickers, match books, tags, posters to be circulated within a 40-mile radius of the campus, advertising the Kingston Trio.

The admission price for the trio, to appear from 3 to 5 p.m. March 8 in Recreation Building, has been set at $1.25. Feldstein pointed out that although this price may seem rather low, the Larry Sharp committee wants to give the student body the benefit of the appearance as thanks for contributing so generously to the drives in the past.

The Larry Sharp committee has set its goal for the campaign at $7000, according to Miss LaSpada.

HIAWATHA had HALITOSIS
Yes, HIAWATHA DUPONT NISBY, 11th semester Pre-Spire major from Upper Wow, Vt., was a chronic halitosis sufferer . . . and even her best friends, of whom she had none, wouldn't tell her. Well, one day in the PUB, er . . . is it HUB? Anyway . . . one day Hiawatha happened to spot a dog-eared Daily Collegian of Feb. 31, 1927 . . . and what to her watering eyes did appear . . . a big, juicy advertisement offering "20 WALLET-SIZED PHOTOGRAPHS OF ANY PICTURE YOU HAVE . . . FOR JUST $1 . . . 20 SPARKLING, WALLET-SIZE PHOTOS MADE FROM ANY NEGATIVE OR PICTURE YOU WISH" . . . for just ONE BILL! Intelligently heeding this swinging advice, Hiawatha ran to the CENTRE COUNTY FILM LAB, hoping the offer hadn't expired. Luckily, she avoided the rush by arriving early. Guess you know the rest of this American success story . . . WELL . . . Hiawatha still has halitosis and the CENTRE COUNTY FILM LAB still offers 20 wallet-size photos for ONLY $1.

Special Course Offered in Math

The Department of Mathematics has established special sections of Mathematics 42 for students who have shown special aptitude on the basis of their performance in Mathematics 41.

These sections were formed from lists submitted by instructors in Mathematics 41. The special sections, used for the first time this semester, include as many of the listed students as possible.

Orrin W. Frink, head of the department, said "the primary aim of these sections is to give these students a better basic understanding of the fundamental processes of calculus. This will place the student in a better position for applying calculus to allied fields of interest. To help accomplish this, a different textbook will be used."
