

Upset-Minded Wrestlers Face Eastern Champions

By LOU PRATO
Sports Editor

ITHACA, N.Y., Feb. 7—An upset-minded Penn State wrestling team will be trying to extend its winning streak to three when it faces defending eastern champion Cornell here this afternoon.

The Lions have beaten Army, 15-9, and Navy, 17-8, in their last two engagements and own an overall record of 3-1. Lehigh has been the only conqueror of the Nittanians, winning by a 17-8 count. Colgate was beaten, 19-10, in the season's opener.

Cornell, with five veterans in the starting array, is favored over the more inexperienced State unit. However, the Big Red machine is not unbeatable. Iowa State handed the home club its only loss, 18-11, last month and they accomplished the victory by holding Cornell's mainstays to a stalemate.

Defending 123-pound EIWA kingpin Dave Auble was the only one of the Big Red aces to gain a victory against the Iowa State juggernaut. George Willis was beaten on a decision and Dave Dunlop—last year's EIWA heavyweight titlist—Steve Friedman and Al Marion were held to draws.

Thus, if the Lions expect to

Sam Minor ... in major battle knock the EIWA co-leader off its high pedestal, they will have to prevent the winning efforts of the Auble-Willis-Dunlop - Friedman-Marion regime.

The key matches to a Penn State victory are probably the 130-, 157-, 167- and 177-pound encounters. Victories in these four divisions would just insure the Lions of a win.

Junior Gordon Danks, who made his season's debut against Navy last week, will face Willis at 130. Danks was beaten by his Middie foe, but he gave a highly creditable performance and a win this afternoon would not be too surprising.

Sam Minor tangles with either Friedman or Al Rose at 157. Friedman could also go at 167 against George Gray. It is Friedman who will decide the importance of either match. Minor (3-1) and Gray (2-0-1) could handle any of the other men Cornell would throw at them, but with the unbeaten Friedman it's a different matter.

Hank Barone, who was one of the standouts in the Navy win, will probably meet Cornell's highly-touted sophomore sensation, Marion. This match is rated a tossup. But if Barone could give a performance like he did last week when he tied highly-rated Navy captain Doug Volgenau, a win or tie would probably be inevitable.

In the other matches, either Joe Cramp (0-2) or Don Wilson (3-1) will meet Auble; Dan Johnson (4-0) will face either Bill Jones (0-1-2) at 137; either Neil Turner (1-1) or Guy Guccione (0-1) will meet Ted Carter (1-2-1) at 147; and Johnston Oberly (0-2) will go against Dunlop (4-0-1).

Moran Will Compete Against Top Milers

By JOHN BLACK

Penn State track star Ed Moran will compete against four sub-four minute milers tonight when he runs in the Hunter Mile, feature event of the 70th Boston A.A. games.

One of the greatest fields ever assembled on the boards will aim to shatter the Boston Garden mile record at 4:03.8 and the world indoor mark 4:03.4 with rumors circulating that the first inside sub-four mile may be in the making.

Moran and Phil Coleman of Chicago are the only entrants that have not maneuvered the distance outdoors within four sweeps of the second hand.

Ron Delany, current indoor kingpin, who has never lost a race on U.S. boards, is favored to capture his 27th straight win.

The pack includes three, sub-four-minute milers—Brian Hewson, European champion from from England who has run a 3:58.9; Dan Waern, Swedish champion with a 3:58.5; and Polish titleholder Zbigniew Orywal, 3:59.7.

Moran, described by his coach Chick Werner as "the most fantastic runner that I have ever had to work with," is a decided underdog in the Boston classic but has worked hard and is in real good shape.

A relative newcomer to the indoor "big time," Moran won the Washington Star Games last month in his first start—though against a less distinguished field—and has been superlative in collegiate competition this year.

Hewson and Waern will be making their U.S. debut as well as their initial start on the indoor track and will accompany Delany to Philadelphia for next week's Inquirer Games.

Frosh Matmen Will Test Cornell Yearlings Today

The Blue and White freshman grapplers take to the mats at Ithaca, N.Y., at 1:30 this afternoon when they engage the Cornell yearlings in the second of their abbreviated 3-meet schedule.

Frosh mentor Hal Byers received his call from Uncle Sam last month so Charlie Speidel will tutor his novices as well as his varsity in today's proceedings on the Big Red campus.

The only two changes in the lineup that dropped a close 19-13 decision to Lehigh in its first test are in the first and last weight divisions.

In the 123-pound class the Lion cubs lost Tony Scordo via the scholastic route, but the gap should be adequately filled by Jere Seiple from Greenville who was the outstanding wrestler in the State College Invitational Tournament last year.

The other switch will be in the heavyweight division where Penn State will be represented by either "Woody" Woodside or Ned Kerr, an Air Force veteran from Titusville.

Inclement weather was a factor in the poor attendance. Pitt Stadium has no covered stands, as does Forbes Field.
