

Urrutia Names Castro As Cuba's Prime Minister

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban Cabinet resigned last night and Provisional President Manuel Urrutia named Fidel Castro as Prime Minister.

The 32-year-old rebel chief replaces Jose Miro Cardona in the premiership and will take office Monday.

Prime Minister Miro Cardona said in his letter of resignation he felt Castro should be the head of government.

Venezuelan President Inaugurated

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—With tears in his eyes, Romulo Betancourt took the oath as president yesterday with a pledge of economy and democratic rule to repair what he called the havoc and a decade of dictatorship in Venezuela.

The moderate leftist promised cordial relations with the United States, called for the eradication of Latin American dictators and announced he will form a coalition Cabinet, with Communists excluded.

Troops stood watch against demonstrations as 50-year-old Betancourt was inaugurated as Venezuela's first freely elected president in 10 years.

Violence threatened by followers of fallen dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez and the Communists never took place.

Instead, thousands of friendly Venezuelans stood behind the troop cordon cheering and applauding as Betancourt's car sped by.

Intimidation Cited In Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Brooklyn man refused to say yesterday whether he picketed for unions allegedly used to shake down coin machine operators. Senate investigators charged he had been frightened into silence.

Some Parker's refusal to talk came as an apparent surprise to the Senate Labor-Management Committee. Robert F. Kennedy, the group's counsel, said the 23-year-old Negro had spoken freely to the investigators at the Capitol as recently as Thursday. Kennedy called it an outrageous turnabout.

Objections By Soviets Hurt Talks

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union raised new objections yesterday to the international staffing of control posts and thereby deepened a basic East-West dispute holding up progress in the nuclear weapons test ban conference.

The Soviets did more than turn thumbs down on international manning of such stations located in the territories of the three atomic powers themselves. They now say they would have no confidence in such a manning system for posts set up in such countries as India, Sweden and Mexico which possess no atomic weapons.

Soviet chief delegate Semyon Tsarapkin and Prof. E. K. Fedorov raised this point at yesterday's session of the now completely deadlocked conference.

They questioned the integrity of international personnel.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore again stated—as they have for several days past—that international manning offers the only true guarantee of a workable control system.

If a test suspension treaty ultimately is drafted here it is expected to provide for 180 control posts scattered throughout the world. The Soviets say these stations should be operated entirely by citizens of the countries in which they are located under supervisors sent by the three atomic powers.

It was Castro's first move into political office and it came at a time when there was wide speculation that he was on the way to becoming president.

Up to now the bearded, 32-year-old leader has served the provisional government as commander in chief of armed forces.

Earlier this week the provisional regime lowered the eligible age for president of the republic from 35 to 30. This was regarded as an accommodation making it possible for Castro to become president.

Castro said he had made no decision on whether he would run or accept the presidency.

Urrutia became provisional president at Castro's request and took office after Castro's revolution chased the dictatorship of President Fulgencio Batista into exile Jan. 1.

S. Korea Against Repatriation Move

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Koreans formed a united front last night against Japan's decision to let some of its Korean residents find new homes in Communist North Korea.

Though officials discounted the possibility of an armed clash, there was a breakoff in 10-month-old Tokyo negotiations to establish diplomatic relations.

Amid anti-Japanese demonstrations in the streets, President Syngman Rhee's Liberals and the opposition Democrats joined hands in a rare show of unanimity. They backed a nonpartisan committee to combat the repatriation program.

Beam, Ping-nan Meet

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Communist Chinese Envoy Wang Ping-nan met for 2½ hours yesterday to discuss outstanding problems between their two countries.

It was the 14th meeting of the two since last Sept. 15. Neither one had any comment except to say they would meet again March 19.

Fire Inspection to Start In Pittsburgh's Schools

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A new fire and building inspection of Pittsburgh schools will get under way Monday.

The inspection was ordered following a meeting of the Mayor's Committee on Fire Safety on Thursday.

The committee said all inspection reports will be sent direct to the Pittsburgh Board of Education.

The mayor's committee was formed after H. H. Rothrock, business manager for the board of education, said he has not received a written report on fire conditions in the schools since Aug. 29.

Read to Serve on Panel

Dr. Harold Read, professor of physical metallurgy, will spend the week of Feb. 16-20 in Washington, D.C., serving for the sixth time as a member of the evaluation panel for National Science Foundation fellowships.

Makarios Will Go To London for Talks

LONDON (AP)—The exiled Cypriot Archbishop Makarios III is coming here next week from Athens to take a top hand in a three-power conference called to endow Cyprus with independence and peace.

There is speculation that the 45-year-old Greek Cypriot leader may become the first president of the projected Cyprus republic.

He was long regarded by the British as one of their chief undercover foes in the years of battling over the eastern Mediterranean island bastion.

Makarios is outstanding among the Cypriot leaders invited to sit with representatives of Britain, Greece and Turkey in the conference called for Tuesday to discuss approval of the plan mapped out at Zurich for the future of Cyprus.

The conference is expected to usher the British Mediterranean island colony into a new era of peace within a week.

Archbishop Makarios has acclaimed the Zurich agreement of Greece and Turkey on the proposed republic as opening the way "to a new period of freedom and welfare for both the Greeks and Turks of Cyprus."

The British Foreign Office announced the arrangement for the conference and the invitations last night.

With Greece and Turkey already behind it, nobody in London doubts that the agreement will get official approval from Prime Minister Macmillan's government. The agreement promises an end to the strife that has marked post-war years of Britain's 81-year rule. It would maintain British sovereignty over military bases on the strategic island.
