

Freshman Cage Coach Is Honored

By JOHN BLACK

Donald B. Swegan, freshman basketball coach, was honored last night by his assistant coaches and players.

They presented to him a certificate of five-year membership as an investor in the Basketball Hall of Fame which will soon be constructed on the campus of Springfield College in Springfield, Massachusetts.

The idea was initiated by assistant coach Gordy McCullough, a graduate of Springfield College, and was immediately endorsed by assistant coach Bob Tyler and the freshman players.

Coach Swegan has been in the sport of basketball most of his life. He was a top-notch collegiate player during his undergraduate days at Wooster College in Ohio.

Swegan was graduated from Wooster in 1947 and earned his master of arts degree from Ohio State in 1953 and his doctor's degree from Penn State in 1957.

He coached several high school teams in Ohio and was varsity coach at Muskingum College near Cambridge, Ohio, before coming to Penn State as frosh mentor five years ago.

Swegan has compiled a respectable 16-9 record while performing the difficult task of training and grooming players for the varsity within a limited game schedule.

The Naismith basketball Hall of Fame will be built as a memorial to the founder of the cage sport, Dr. James Naismith.

Injuries to Savadove, Cunningham Force Change

Gymnastic Coach Gene Wettstone plans major changes in his lineup tomorrow and not just because Syracuse may be his weakest opponent of the year.

Most of the changes are due to injuries to two key triple-threat performers—junior Lee Cunningham and senior Lou Savadove.

Cunningham, who is a top performer on the side horse, high bar and parallel bars, has an infected hand. According to Wettstone, Cunningham may have to have a minor operation on the hand today.

In any event, he will not compete tomorrow and may also miss next week's Pitt meet.

Savadove, who injured his knee Saturday night, has gone through light workouts this week. The knee injury eliminates any possibility of tumbling tomorrow, but he may work the high bar and parallels.

Filling Savadove's tumbling spot will be Bernie Bulhl. The phys ed sophomore will team with Dave Dulaney and Jay Werner on the mats.

But Cunningham's absence necessitates the use of Captain Armando Vega on the side horse. Vega, who considers the side horse his weakest event, will face Syracuse's Ed Levine on the apparatus, Levine, who is undefeated on the horse this year, is Syracuse's best hope for a first place in the meet.

With Vega working the horse and p-bars, Wettstone will have to take the champ off the high bar or flying rings. He will probably use Werner, Savadove and sophomore Bill Smith on the high bar.

That would leave a strong trio of Vega, Werner and Savadove for the p-bars. But Werner has a bruised hand (and pulled thigh muscles) that may force him out of the p-bar event. Smith may again be pressed into service on the p-bars if Wettstone elects to rest Werner.

Even the rope climbers will present a modified lineup. Vince Neuhauser and Jack Hidingier (neither are injured, just resting) will not make the trip.

Don Littlewood will head the trio of Bill Fosnocht and newcomer Bob Mumau who will be competing in his first collegiate climb.

Syracuse, which has not won a meet this year, should be able to score against the Lions. But the makeshift lineup appears to have enough to win the fifth straight tomorrow.

Intramural Results

Delta Upsilon's Two Firsts Pace H-Ball

Delta Upsilon placed two winners in intramural handball Wednesday night. Tom Edwards took the first win with an easy 21-5, 21-6 victory over Bob Ronczka of Phi Mu Delta in the first flight. The second win was recorded by Homer Hilner in the fifth flight with a 21-3, 21-6 decision over Phi Gamma Delta's Bob Snyder.

Flight three also featured the most decisive match of the night as Tau Kappa Epsilon's Charles Bibleheimer whipped Dave Scott of Sigma Nu, 21-1, 21-2. Bob Shaw of Acacia shaded Alpha Gamma Rho's Vernon Bounds, 21-18, 16-21, 21-20.

Other winners in the flight were Phi Epsilon Pi's Bob Gross, Sigma Alpha Epsilon's George Huggler, and Delta Sig's Walt Barnes.

In flight five, Phi Delta Theta's Richie Lucas lost to Jim Brown of Alpha Chi Sigma, 21-20, 21-6. Other winners in the flight were John Urban of Beta Theta Pi, and Ted Lopushinsky of Beaver House.

Loss Becomes Win In IM Cage Action

The fraternity intramural basketball action of Wednesday night featured one of the strangest turn of events of the tournament. Although Kappa Sigma downed Alpha Gamma Rho, 15-7, in the regular game, victory was later awarded to the AGR. Kappa Sig had to forfeit its victory when it was discovered that it had used an ineligible player. In other fraternity action, Beaver House squeaked through a close game as it edged Theta Chi, 22-20. Jerome Abraczinskas led the way for the victors with 13 points, high for the evening. Chi Phi swept by Pi Lambda Phi with an easy 35-16 victory, paced by the 10 points of Dick Hoak.

Independent action saw five games completed with one forfeit. George Hunter and Bennie Coleman counted 10 points each to lead the way in an easy 39-14 victory over the Skeller Atties.

In another one-sided game, the Phakes were led by a team effort as they clobbered the Celtics, 36-13, with the scoring evenly distributed among the starters. Kent Swartz poured through 13 points, high for the night among the independents, as he sparked the Clam Diggers to a 28-17 win over the Hoyas. The Rebel Rousers won the fourth contest of the evening, defeating the Crackpots, 31-23.

ATO, Paced by Neifert, Still First in IM Bowling

In Fraternity League C action Wednesday night, Alpha Tau Omega, led by Jack Neifert, maintained first place by beating Alpha Gamma Rho, 4-0. Neifert rolled a 220 game and a 532 high series. This was the 12th straight point ATO has won in league action.

In other League C matches, Delta Chi rolled over Phi Kappa Sigma, 4-0; Delta Theta Sigma beat Tau Phi Delta, 3-1; Alpha Phi Delta blanked Delta Sigma Phi, 4-0; Kappa Sigma tied Zeta Beta Tau, 2-2; and Theta Delta Chi defeated Lambda Chi Alpha, 3-1.
