Colender Scores 27 In 71-51 Win

Wally Colender scored 27 points last night, 20 coming in the second half, to lead the Penn State basketball team to a 71-51 win over Colgate at Hamilton, N.Y.

The Lions now have a season's record of 9-6 and can increase that tonight when they meet the Syracuse Orangemen at Syracuse.

Colender, who has been specializing in breaking games wide open lately, did it again last night as his 20-point outburst in the second half left the Red Raiders stunned.

With the score 33-27 at the outset of the second half, Colender hit for six points in three minutes to give the Lions a 12-point edge.

At the 10-minute mark Colgate was still close, but then Colender dumped 14 more points through the nets, and Colgate was finished.

Paul Sweetland and Bob Edwards both had 17 points, and it was their play that carried the Lions to a 33-25 halftime lead.

Playing his first full game since being injured at Navy 11 days ago, Edwards led the Lions in rebounds, with nine. Sweetland also helped off the boards, pulling down five.

Tom Hancock, the Lion rebound leader, didn't play a good portion of the second half because Lion coach John Egli wanted him to rest as much as possible for the game with Syracuse tonight.

Penn State's scoring leader—Mark DuMars—experienced the worst night of his collegiate career, scoring only two points that was 14 under his customary output.

The 5-10 sophomore took a tremendous riding from the highly partisan Colgate crowd throughout the whole game. Informed sources said that DuMars began to try too hard and as a result he couldn't get started.

Egli pulled him out of the lineup with 14 minutes remaining in the game and he didn't see any more action.

But Colender, Edwards and Sweetland took up the slack and the Lions coasted the rest of the way.

Charley Hagenah was Colgate's leading scorer with 18 points. The Red Raider captain is one of the leading scorers on the New York team this season.

Art Brandon, a fiery little playmaker, followed Hagenah in the Colgate scoring department, tallying 13 points.

The loss was the 11th for Colgate this year; they have won seven. It was also their second loss to the Lions.

Colender's 27 point spurge was his highest mark this season. His previous high was 26 against Syracuse two weeks ago at Rec Hall when the Lions won, 81-72. He now leads DuMars in the Lion scoring race, 247-235.

G-Men Go After 6th Minus Cunningham

The Orange boast their only undefeated performer in horseman Ed Levine. But Wettstone could come up with a big surprise in the person of Armando Vega. The versatile Lion captain considers the horse his weakest event, but should give Levine a tough ride for the top spot.

Syracuse's publicity director, Val Pinchebeck, feels that the Orange have little chance of winning anything else: "Our top man is captain Ed Levine, a junior from Philadelphia. He is undefeated in side horse competition this season. Sophomore Al Bird is a good tumbler, but a bad hand may keep him out of the Penn State meet. Sophomore Ken Orkin could score some points on the high bar or rings."

Wettstone's tumbling trio, which swept the event from Navy last week, will again be composed of defending Eastern champion Dave Dulaney, Jay Werner and sophomore Bernie Buhl, who will be filling in for Savadove.

The Lions will still be able to field strong trios on the high bar and parallels, with Vega probably working the p-bars and Werner heading the high bar unit. Savadove and sophomore Bill Smith will probably fill the other spots.

On the other hand, the Syracuse team has little top talent beside Levine and Bird. In one of their weakest years, they have lost three of their four meets to opponents that the Lions have had little trouble defeating.

The Syracuse losses include a 57½-37½ decision to Pitt (whom the Lions meet next Saturday), a 44½-51½ decision to Temple (Lions won by 20), a 70-26 decision to Navy (Lions won by 38) and a 64½-31½ decision to Army (Lions won by 11).

Sigma Chi, DSPhi Win In IM Swim

Sigma Chi ran away from Alpha Chi Rho right from the start in intramural swimming last night, copping all five firsts to win, 32-8.

Don Brubaker took the 60-yard free style in 35.6, followed by teammate Jack Dellastatious. Tom Barnes took successive firsts in the 60-yard backstroke and breaststroke events, with the loser picking up its first points on Jerry Ziegler's, second in the breaststroke.

Brubaker, Dellastatious, Jim Short and Norm Connors combined to take the relay in 1:05.4. Short came right back to take first in diving with a 177 total score.

Delta Sigma Phi followed suit with another one-sided victory and five firsts to beat Lambda Chi Alpha, 31-10.

Ron Kolb took the free style with a 36.5 time, trailed by the loser's Jack Schweitzer. Walt Gladhowski's 50.3 time won the backstroke and Francis Varvoutis took the breaststroke with 48.5.

The relay team of Jim Eastman, Guy Tucci, Kolb and Varvoutis splashed in first, and Gladhowski repeated in diving with a 10.6 total score.

Beaver House came close to matching the clean sweep precedent, taking four firsts to whip Beta Sigma Rho, 29-12. Tom Creese took firsts in the free style and breaststroke, while Irving Klein brought the loser's a first in the backstroke. Melvin Sweeney edged Tom Brandeis in diving 14.1 to 14.0.
