

Jazz Club to Retain Schwab, Rec Hall As Concert Sites

By DENNY MALICK

The Jazz Club may now sponsor concerts in Schwab Auditorium and even Recreation Hall—providing it does not exceed its funds in making financial commitment.

This agreement was reached yesterday after an hour-long discussion of the club-sponsored concerts in the office of Dr.

Robert G. Bernreuter, special assistant to the president for student affairs.

The written agreement, signed by Bernreuter and Ronald Palmer, Jazz Club president, states: "It is agreed:

1. that the Jazz Club is free to promote concerts.
2. that, in promoting concerts, the Jazz Club will not, in making financial commitments, exceed the sum in their account in Associated Student Activities."

The agreement overrules a directive issued by Bernreuter last week that the club could not use Schwab or Recreation Hall for concerts.

Bernreuter explained that this directive was made to stop plans for a jazz concert featuring Dakota Staton March 20 in Recreation Hall.

He said he took this action because it was too big a risk for a club which has been financially unstable for some years.

Jazz Club officers protested the decision claiming its $1000-plus treasury made it quite stable. But Bernreuter said it was not enough to attempt the Staton concert which would have cost more than $3500.

The meeting yesterday hit an early snag when All-University President Jay Feldstein and Robert Franklin, editor of The Daily Collegian, questioned where the

Thompson, McKee To House Women

Men to Get New Halls

By LOLLI NEUBARTH

The West Halls will again be the scene of community living next fall when the completion of four North residence halls for men leaves Thompson and McKee dormitories open to women students.

The Department of Housing has made room available in the North Halls for approximately 500 upperclass men who may submit applications for occupancy starting March 9.

According to Miss Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, Thompson Hall has been designated for freshman coeds, and McKee will house transfer students primarily.

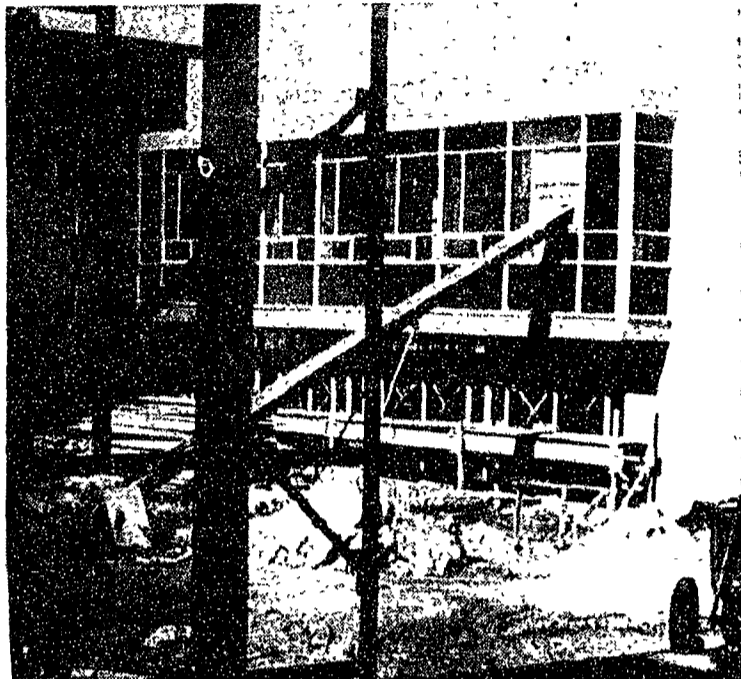

Coeds lived in Thompson from September 1956, until February 1958, when the South Residence Halls were ready for occupancy. This will be the first time women have lived in McKee.

Men students must submit housing and food service applications before March 20 if they wish to be in the drawing for room assignments in any residence halls next year. Besides Beam, Loete, Holmes and Runkle in the North group, upperclass men will occupy the Nittany Halls and Hamilton, Jordan, Irvin and Watts in the West Halls.

Although the deadline for filing contract forms falls two days before fraternity pledging, set for March 22, Dean O. Edward Pollock, assistant to the dean of men for fraternity affairs, did not foresee any conflict.

Pollock said that a student who intends to join a fraternity should under no circumstances sign a housing contract. He said any man who wants to can find a suitable fraternity to join, during either formal or informal rush.

New Men's Dorms To Open Next Fall

Next fall more than a thousand men students will be living in the new North Halls which are now under construction at the corner of Shortlidge Road and Park Avenue.

The four dormitories and one dining hall, which are slated for completion sometime in July, are rapidly progressing, according to Lewis Polley, job foreman. Polley said that the job is now about 75 percent completed.

Buildings 1 and 2 are farthest along according to Polley. Workmen now are painting and varnishing woodwork in the two buildings.

Room furnishings are being installed in the other two dorms. All buildings have had heating units installed which are now in operation. Most of the plumbing and electrical fixtures have also been installed but have not been hooked up yet.

Each hall will have a combination lounge-recreation room in the basement and four study rooms—two in each wing.

Rush Correction

Women who registered for formal spring rushing need not register again for informal rushing as erroneously reported in yesterday's Collegian. They are still eligible to visit sororities when informal rushing begins on Monday.

WDFM to Broadcast Stereo Show Tonight

Campus Radio Station WDFM will keep in step with the times tonight when it broadcasts an hour-long music show in stereophonic sound.

"An Introduction to Stereo" is the title of the show to be given from 9 to 10 p.m.

This is the first of three stereophonic programs being broadcast this weekend over WDFM and WMAJ.

"HiFi Open House" will be presented in stereo from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday.

The stations' first attempt at "live" stereo will be made at 3 p.m. Sunday with the broadcast of the Concert Blue Band performance in Schwab Auditorium.

Wilbur Lewellen, WDFM station manager, explained that a listener will need two radios—one AM, the other FM—to get the full benefit of the stereophonic sound.

The programs will originate in the WDFM studios and will be sent out from both WDFM and WMAJ transmitters. Half of the sound will come over AM and the other half over FM.

The AM and FM radios should be placed eight to 10 feet apart and the listener should sit about the same distance from each set.

The listener will hear sound from one radio in one ear and the second in the other ear. The volumes should be adjusted until they are about the same. Then the stereo effect will be heard from anywhere in the room.

Lewellen said the number of stereo programs will be increased soon.

"HiFi Open House" will probably be in stereo every week," he said, "and so will some of the jazz programs and other better music shows usually carried from 8 to 10 every night over WMAJ."

However, additional live shows, such as the Blue Band concert, will depend on the success of Sunday's broadcast.

To Hear Kingston Trio

Sharp to Visit Campus

By NEAL FRIEDMAN

Larry Sharp will travel to the University at the end of next week for the Kingston Trio concert in his benefit, according to Carmella LaSpada, general chairman of the Sharp Campaign.

Miss LaSpada said last night that Sharp's male nurse had been engaged to drive him here Saturday, March 7, and to take care of him until he leaves the day following the concert. Sharp will stay at the Nittany Lion Inn at the Inn's expense.

Sharp is expected to arrive here around four or five p.m. He will leave his home in Swarthmore around 11 a.m. Saturday.

Miss LaSpada spoke to Sharp's mother on the telephone last night to make the arrangements for his arrival. Mrs. Sharp said

Larry was still confined to his wheelchair, but that his spirits were high.

Sharp was completely paralyzed when he broke his neck in an accident in Recreation Hall Oct. 12, 1957.

Miss LaSpada quoted Mrs. Sharp as saying that Larry was "thrilled" to be able to come up for the concert.

The concert, now completely sold out, is the final event of a week of activities to raise money for Sharp. His expenses to date have run into thousands of dollars and Mrs. Sharp said it costs $50 a week to care for him now.

The $50 includes twice-weekly visits by a therapist. He did have a nurse, but this was discontinued because of the expense. Mrs. Sharp is now serving as Larry's nurse.

Despite the fact that he has been confined to the wheelchair, Miss LaSpada said he looked very well when she saw him last and that "you wouldn't know there was anything wrong with him."

She said Sharp is now considering the possibility of continuing his education in the near future.

Last year a variety of student drives collected $5300 for Sharp and $2800 was collected between the halves of a football game this year.

Goal for the Larry Sharp Week, which will run from March 2 to March 8, has been set at $7000 or $1000 a day.

In addition to the money students have given, several thousand dollars was collected in and around his hometown.

The University carries no insurance on students who have major injuries on campus. The Sharps' insurance could not pay all of the expenses either. Shortly after Sharp's accident, All-University Cabinet approved a student insurance plan which is now in effect.
