

Cagers Lose Final, 74-69

Harley took advantage at this point and broke the game open. Hancock, who had been the key board man for the Lions, fouled out with about four minutes left and Bucknell locked up the win.

"That was the turning point," Penn State Coach John Egli said. "We missed Hancock's rebounding."

Mark DuMars tried vainly to narrow the margin as he scored the last four points, but the Lions couldn't catch up.

The loss gave the Lions a season's record of 11-9. Bucknell finished with a 16-7 record.

Six seniors—two Penn Staters and four Bisons—played their last games. Performing for the last time were: Hancock and Edwards of Penn State and Flanagan, Harley, Bob Ericsson and Danzig of Bucknell.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Bill Burns (far right) reviews a plan for expanding Syracuse's toll-free calling area with some fellow supervisors.

He wanted more than "just an engineering job"

William G. Burns majored in Civil Engineering at Union College. But he had his own ideas about his engineering future. "I wanted a job with a 'growth' company," he says, "where I could develop and move ahead as a member of management."

Bill found his 'growth' company—and his management opportunity. On graduating in June, 1954, he started work with the New York Telephone Company.

Six months of training and job assignments in Albany familiarized him with the Plant, Commercial, Accounting and Traffic functions of the telephone business. Then came 18 months as engineer in the Long Range Planning Group. In October, 1956, he was promoted to Supervising Engineer.

Bill was transferred to Syracuse in August, 1958, as Supervising Engineer—Fundamental Plans, with a staff of four engineers and two clerks. In this job, he studies and forecasts the future telephone needs of customers in a 4800-square-mile area, planning from three to 20 years ahead. He then co-ordinates the development of plans to meet future needs with the various engineering groups involved. Bill calls it "management engineering."

Bill is married, has three youngsters and owns his own home. "A man has to build his own security," he says, "and finding the right place to do it can be mighty important. Choosing a Bell Telephone career was the best decision I ever made. I don't know where an ambitious young fellow can find more or better chances to move ahead in management."

Many young men, with degrees in the sciences, arts, engineering or business, are finding interesting and rewarding careers with the Bell Telephone Companies. Look into career opportunities for you. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus. And read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.
