

Werner's 'Comeback' Tabbed Outstanding Sign for Future

Behind the scenes and the mass of statistics at any meet are the incidents that are off-times more interesting than the actual meet. And there were many interesting side-lights at the Eastern Gym championships this past weekend.

One of most important was the comeback of 1958 all-around champion Jay Werner. Unfortunately for Jay, he was overshadowed by teammate Armando Vega's greatest Eastern performance.

Werner started off the all-around events with a weak side horse score, third on the high bar with his best routine, and fourth on the parallel bars.

But then he got into the Olympic events of long horse vaults, still rings and free exercise and would have won them but for a fellow named Vega. But his second place finishes were enough to overtake all except that Vega fellow and take the runnerup spot in the grueling all-around.

Then he completed the finals with his best flying ring routine worth 283 points. But Dave Hirst of Pitt and winner John Aaronsohn of Army topped him on the strength of big leads in the preliminaries. Still, he was at his best Saturday which may be a good sign for the coming two weekends.

Besides his first set of 90 scores, tumbling champ Dave Dulaney also won the outstanding praise of the judges Saturday. They said his combinations can win a National title if he uses the same top form he threw Saturday. The only thing he needs is a double sommy (somersault) ending—which he started working on last week.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY TACTICS—Army Coach Tom Maloney hid behind a canvas while Aaronsohn won the rings. Reason: if Aaronsohn missed and lost, the season was over. If Aaronsohn won, Maloney and he had a free ride to the nationals in Berkeley, California. Aaronsohn won and Maloney came out of hiding.

OTHER MATTERS—Lou Savadove was a big disappointment . . . He failed to qualify in any of three events . . . Aaronsohn could be another Darling (Pitt's Tom who won the title three times) on the rings . . . Springfield has the talent (and fans) to become a top contender in the EIGL, if they apply . . . Cunningham hit his best "scissors" last weekend, but it wasn't enough to win. Frank Cumiskey, a former horseman himself and the top judge in the East, said Lee needs only more riding time—in practice . . . Anyway, Penn State still showed Pittsburgh the best in gymnastics during its Bi-Centennial Year Celebration.

3 Lion Cagers to Play In Stokes Benefit Game

Three Penn State seniors—Tom Hancock, Ted Kubista and Bob Edwards—have accepted invitations to participate in the Maurice Stokes benefit basketball game to be played at the Pitt Field House March 24.

All proceeds of the game will go to Stokes who has been hospitalized since last March with a brain injury.

The former Cincinnati star was stricken and paralyzed just about a year ago as the Royals were traveling to Cincinnati for a playoff game with the Detroit Pistons.

The benefit will match a team composed of players 6'5" and over against a team of small men under 6 feet. The players will be selected from teams in the Tri-State area.

The team composed of the big men will be coached by 5'8" Dudley Moore who is head coach at LaSalle while the little men will be coached by 6'5" Fred Schaus of West Virginia.

Edwards wound up the season as Penn State's third leading scorer with an average of 12 points per game.

Hancock, on the other hand, finished as the top Lion rebounder for the second straight year.

Kubista has been out of action since mid-January when he suffered a hairline fracture of his left ankle. Until he was sidelined he was averaging 10.4 points per game and was second in rebounding.

The 6'5" senior was selected as the "Most Valuable Player" in the Richmond Invitation tournament during the Christmas vacation.

TKE, Alpha Zeta Pace IM Wrestling

By BILL BARBER

Tau Kappa Epsilon came through strong in IM Wrestling last night as its grapplers picked up three victories—two by pins and one by forfeit.

Rodger Munnell started things off for TKE in the 158 pound weight class by whipping into an 8-4 lead over Marty Aronoff of Phi Epsilon Pi before pinning his foe at 5:23.

Keith Carlson continued TKE's pinning purge in the 150-pound class as he pasted Phi Epsilon Pi's Howard Schwartz to the mats in 3:35.

Alpha Zeta was the second big winner of the night as it scored four victories on the score sheet on two pins, a referee's decision, and a forfeit.

Alpha Zeta's Don Robinson scored his pin over Jim Welsh of Kappa Delta Rho in the last few seconds of the final round.

After controlling the entire match from the start, Bill Eberhardt finally pinned John Leise of Delta Chi at 3:55 of their 167-pound match.

In a hard fought match that was close all the way, Alpha Zeta's Bill Harding finally managed to tie up his match with Stan Turel of Phi Kappa at 8-8. As time had run out Harding was awarded a referee's decision by the riding time he had piled up.
