Dance—the dancing was wonderful.

There was a thin line between the dancing as it was and as it could have been—it's called precision. The dancers had life and the choreography had imagination but the dancing didn't "have it."

Director Pauloski wisely packed a lot of power into "There's No Biz Like Show Biz" and "They Say It's Wonderful," the two numbers at the end of the show. It gave the production a final charm that dispelled most of the lingering disappointments from such weak numbers as "The Girl That I Marry," "They Say It's Wonderful" (the earlier rendition), and "I Got Lost in His Arms."

Nina Baker is a talented actress and was a fine Dolly Tate, the friction between the show's two love affairs Mike Beattie had a good sense of timing in the comedy role of Charlie Davenport, Buffalo Bill's wisecracking publicity man and seer

All-University President Jay Feldstein wasn't out of his element at all. He was a stately, excellent Buffalo Bill. He can even sing.

Ellis Grove was a wonderful

Sitting Bull. It must be difficult to maintain oneself above the level of corn in such a part, but Grove was able to cope with the task.

The settings and costuming for "Annie" were superb. Designer Richard Frantz showed imagination and ambition never seen in a Thespian show before.

Thespians seemed to spare no expense in procuring costumes—and it was worth it.

"Annie" is a real good show, one well worth seeing. It is this reviewer's opinion that it's not too late to whip some of the dance and production numbers into shape to have one of the best Thespian shows.

dean of women's staff.

Miss Muskat said sorority representatives would meet before the scheduled Monday meeting with Bernreuter to formulate a concrete plan of their own to present to him. No definite date has been set for this meeting.

The letter of protest sent to Walker came about as the result of a meeting Tuesday evening of sorority housing chairmen and representatives of the housing department in which sororities were told the 40 spaces they have now around their suites will be cut to 25.

The plan also provides for the elimination of sorority annexes in Simmons and McElwain Halls and gives sorority members and independent women equal priority for the rooms in the annex corridors.

Under the plan, sorority women have no assurance that all members will be living in the sorority suite or in the residence hall housing the sorority. In addition the plan provides that sororities in the South Halls will have to split one floor between two sororities and fill in other members wherever they can find rooms.

Matmen Seek 14th EIWA Team Title--

fair. He should get the top-seeded berth at 147. Minor's only loss this season was to Lehigh's 147-pound EIWA champ Dick Santoro who is reportedly entering the 137-pound class this time.

All of the other Lion entrants with the exception of Turner could get a seeded position—and most of them probably will.

But the seedings won't be announced until late this morning. Speidel is a member of the committee this year along with Charlie Ridenour, a former 3-time EIWA champ from Penn State who now coaches at Pennsylvania.

The other members of the committee include Percy Sadler of Lehigh, president of EIWA; George L. Shiebler, a representative of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference; Ralph Arderton, coach at Brown; and Leroy Alitz, coach at Army.

The Lions, who lead the league in team championships, will be seeking their 14th title. Their last victory was in 1957 at Recreation Hall. That year, individual championships were won by Johnny Johnston, John Pepe and Dave Adams.

Johnston also grabbed a title last year—his third—and also walked off with the John A. Fletcher Memorial Award, given to the senior who accumulates the most points in tourney competition during his college career.

Overall, the Lions have won 73 individual titles, including at least one a year since 1949.

Up until last year, State and Pitt had held a wristlock hold on the team championship. The Lions had copped the title in 1951, 1952, 1953 and 1957 and Pitt had grabbed it from 1954 through 1956.

However, Cornell broke this streak last year, beating out Lehigh, 64-59. The Lions finished fourth with 35 points and Pitt was fifth with 27. Syracuse was third with 45.

As usual, the tournament will be divided into four sessions with the preliminary round scheduled to start at 2 p.m. today and the quarterfinals for 8 tonight.

The semi-finals will open at 2 p.m. tomorrow with the finals and consolation matches slated for 8 p.m.

Boards Give 135 Penalties To Coeds

Freshman Regulations Board and the Women's Student Government Association Judicial Board of Review issued 129 blackmarks, four 1 a.m. removals, one lenient weekend campus and one strict weekend campus and a day campus at hearings Tuesday.

Thirty-three blackmarks were awarded for lateness of one to four minutes, 34 for extreme noise, 30 for not having room ready for cleaning, 19 for failure to sign in or out, seven for signing in or out incorrectly, three for not having linen ready for changing and two for disorderly rooms.

Freshman Regulations Board reversed a decision made last week to give a girl who was 12 minutes late a lenient weekend campus, changing the penalty to a blackmark. The hostess requested the board to reconsider the case, as she felt the circumstances of the case merited special treatment. The girl had been looking for a lost wallet containing $15 after the Jussi Bjoerling concert, March 1.

An accumulation of four blackmarks cost one woman student a 1 a.m. removal this weekend.

A lenient weekend campus was awarded for a 20-minute lateness.

A freshman who took two 1 a.m. permissions this weekend will receive a strict weekend campus, including an extra day.

British Prof To Give Talk

The seventh speaker in the Distinguished Lecturer Series in Philosophy will be Stephen Toulmin, of the University of Leeds (England), who will present a public lecture on "Matter, Life and Spirits" at 8 p.m. tonight in 121 Sparks.

He will address the philosophy staff and other interested persons at 10 a.m. tomorrow in 217 Willard on "How Concepts Develop."

Toulmin holds a chair in philosophy at Leeds. Educated at Cambridge, where he studied mathematics, physics, and philosophy, he has held positions at Kings College, Oxford and the University of Melbourne (Australia).

He is the author of "Reason in Ethics," "Philosophy of Science" and "The Uses of Argument." He also produced the film "Earth and Sky."

HUSBANDS, ANYONE?

It has been alleged that coeds go to college for the sole purpose of finding husbands. This is, of course, an infamous canard, and I give fair warning that, small and spongy as I am, anybody who says such a dastardly thing when I am around had better be prepared for a sound thrashing!

Girls go to college for precisely the same reasons as men do: to broaden their horizons, to lengthen their vistas, to drink at the fount of wisdom. But if, by pure chance, while a girl is engaged in these meritorious pursuits, a likely looking husband should pop into view, why, what's wrong with that? Eh? What's wrong with that?

The question now arises, what should a girl look for in a husband? A great deal has been written on this subject. Some say character is most important, some say background, some say appearance, some say education. All are wrong.

The most important thing—bar none—in a husband is health. Though he be handsome as Apollo and rich as Croesus, what good is he if he just lies around all day accumulating bedsores?

The very first thing to do upon meeting a man is to make sure he is sound of wind and limb. Before he has a chance to sweet-talk you, slap a thermometer in his mouth, roll back his eyelids, yank out his tongue, rap his patella, palpate his thorax, ask him to straighten out a horseshoe with his teeth. If he fails these simple tests, phone for an ambulance and go on to the next prospect.

If, however, he turns out to be physically fit, proceed to the second most important requirement in a husband. I refer to a sense of humor.

A man who can't take a joke is a man to be avoided. There are several simple tests to find out whether your prospect can take a joke or not. You can, for example, slash his tires. Or burn his "Mad" comics. Or steal his switchblade. Or turn loose his pet raccoon. Or shave his head.

After each of these good-natured pranks, laugh gaily and shout "April Fool!" If he replies, "But this is February nineteenth," or something equally churlish, cross him off your list and give thanks you found out in time.

But if he laughs silverly and calls you "Little minx!" put him to the next test. Find out whether he is kindly.

The quickest way to ascertain his kindness is, of course, to look at the cigarette he smokes. Is it mild? Is it clement? Is it humane? Does it minister tenderly to the psyche? Does it coddle the synapses? Is it a good companion? Is it genial? Is it bright and friendly and full of dulcet pleasure from cockerow till the heart of darkness?

Is it, in short, Philip Morris?

If Philip Morris it be, then clasp the man to your bosom with hoops of steel, for you may be sure that he is kindly as a summer breeze, kindly as a mother's kiss, kindly to his very marrow.

And now, having found a man who is kindly and healthy and blessed with a sense of humor, the only thing that remains is to make sure he will always earn a handsome living. That, fortunately, is easy. Just enroll him in engineering. © 1950, Max Shulman

For filter smokers the Philip Morris Company makes Marlboro, the cigarette with better "making." New improved filter and good rich flavor. Soft pack or flip-top box. A lot to like!
