

Les Elgart Surprised At Split-Ticket Custom

By SUSIE EBERLY

Les Elgart was a "little surprised" last night at the IFC Ball when he saw an almost complete change of faces after the first intermission.

"The two shifts at Penn State is a custom all its own," said Elgart. He was referring to the practice of two couples splitting a ticket, the one couple going to the first part of the ball, and the other to the second half. Elgart said that he had not seen it used at other college dances he has played.

Les Elgart and his Band played Duke University two nights ago and will play the University of Pittsburgh tonight. "We usually have a slower schedule during Lent," commented Elgart, "but we pick up afterwards, and we'll soon be playing the southern schools."

Elgart and his band have recently cut a record which is soon to be released by Columbia Records under the title "On Tour." "This record was made with the same sixteen men and vocalist we have tonight while actually playing at different schools across the country," Elgart said.

Elgart played at the IFC Ball here two years ago with many of the same band members. Two 1954 graduates of the University's music department are now playing with his brother Larry. They are Skip Ryder, who plays the trumpet, and Dick Brady, who plays the trombone.

While at Penn State, Brady played mostly Dixieland with a group called the "Sadistic Six" but is now progressive. Ryder has always been progressive and had a combo of his own when he was here. Ryder also arranged some of the music which the Phi Mu Alpha (music honorary) dance band still uses.

The dance was decorated in blue and white with an imitation gold lyre at the far end of Recreation Hall. The ceiling was blue with white broad banners draped toward the center of the floor. Dra wings of Greek-like statues were placed on the sides of the dance floor on the blue drapery.

Future Leaders To Register For Course

Students wishing to participate in the Spring semester leadership training course may register at the Hetzel Union desk until 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Anyone is eligible to attend but enrollment will be limited to 120, according to James Ettelson, chairman of the program.

The first session is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday in 214 Boucke and will last approximately one hour.

According to Ettelson the course has been changed from last semester to stress leadership qualities rather than activities. He said the main areas to be covered are qualities essential to a good leader, committee organization, parliamentary procedure and the psychology of leadership.

Members of the faculty and administration who are experienced in these fields will conduct the classes. Ettelson said the present program, sponsored by All-University Cabinet, was planned to give the student a "new slant on leadership."

A diploma will be presented to students who attend regularly.

Leeman, Speidel Express--

"We won five out of eight matches today," Speidel said, "but I'm still not pleased—some of the boys lost."

One of the big surprises of the tournament was the absence of Rutgers' Chuck Crosby, defending 167-pound EIWA champion. He could not return to defend his title because of leg injuries... a crowd of about 500 turned out for the afternoon session and about 2000 more came out in the evening session. Four thousand to five thousand are expected for tomorrow's action, including three busloads of "die-hard" Lehigh fanatics.

Les Austin of Syracuse and Greg Ruth of Lehigh had the toughest matches of the seeded entries. Austin beat Pitt's Sherm Moyer in the quarter-final round, 9-7, but in the process almost blew away a 7-2 lead... Ruth, top-seeded at 157 pounds, barely got by Brown's Lou Winner in the quarter-finals, winning, 6-5, on time advantage.

Four seeded entries lost out in today's matches and Penn State was involved in three of the seeding upsets. Harry Polak of Syracuse knocked off third-seeded Alex Skirpan of Pitt at 157. Penn State's Gray stopped Penn's Al Donzanti at 167, Army's Art Bair whipped Penn State's fourth-seeded Hank Barone at 177, and Johnston Oberly stopped F&M's Chuck Pfrommer, third-seeded at heavyweight. It was the first time in three years that Pfrommer failed to make the semi-finals. He finished fourth the past two years.

There were about 25 Penn State fans on hand at today's bouts including Athletic Director Ernest B. McCoy, C. O. Williams, retired Dean of Admissions, and Robert G. Bernreuter, special assistant to the president for student affairs.

There were 19 falls and one default in the preliminary round but in the quarter finals only three falls were recorded and two defaults.

English: SCANDAL MAGAZINE

Thinklish translation: This magazine is put out by a bunch of troublemakers. Their other monthly offerings: a horror series (feariodical), pin-up pictures (leeriodical) and a fortune tellers' gazette (seeriodical). Naturally, none carries ads mentioning the honest taste of fine tobacco. Who'd want Lucky Strike mixing with that crowd? As for the scandal sheet, it's a smeariodical which deserves nothing but snublicity.
