another Lehigh man, top-seeded Ed Hamer this afternoon.

Lehigh's other semi-finalists besides Santoro include Turner; Hamer; Greg Ruth, top-seeded at 157; John Driscoll, third seeded at 147; and Leon Harbold, fourth seeded at 130. Ruth meets Cornell's two-time "bridesmaid" Steve Friedman, Driscoll goes against Army's Dick Hyde, and Harbold faces Pitt's unbeaten Larry Lauchle.

Defending champion Cornell and unheralded Army are given the best chance to overtake the two leaders, Cornell, with 13 points, and Army with 12 points will both have four men in the

Leeman, Speidel Express Opposite Feelings in Ithaca

ITHACA, N.Y., March 13 — There was an optimistic air surrounding Lehigh's coach Gerry Leeman and a pessimistic aroma about Penn State's coach Charlie Speidel following tonight's EIWA quarter-final action.

Penn State leads Lehigh, 17-14, at the end of the quarter-finals, and these two teams are expected to battle it out for the crown.

Both Leeman and Speidel indicated a hope of winning the team title when the tournament resumes action tomorrow afternoon. But Leeman seems more sure of himself than the veteran Lion mentor. "It looks like it's either going to be State or Lehigh," Leeman said in a very confident tone. "And we've been second six out of the last seven years. I think we're about due to win, don't you?"

"This thing isn't sewed up yet," the Lehigh coach went on to say. "It's going to be a dog-fight all the way."

semi's. Pitt, which had also been considered a pre-tourney favorite, also has 12 points but will have only three men in the semi-finals.

Pitt was hampered by injuries. Bob Bubb, the Panther captain, did not even enter the tournament because of an injury suffered in his final dual meet against Minor. Meanwhile, Alex Skirpan, who was seeded third at 157 was injured in a match tonight. His injury has been diagnosed as a torn rib.

George Gray recorded the only fall for the Lions this evening after three pins were scored in the preliminary round. Gray flattened Penn's fourth seeded Al Donzanti in 4:43 with a half nelson and press.
