

Senate to Discuss Publications Policy

A University Senate committee hearing will be held Thursday to discuss whether the Board of Student Publications should have direct supervision over student communications or should be an advisory body.

Edward P. Nye, chairman of the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, has called the hearing for 3:15 p.m. in the Board Room of Old Main.

Chapel Choirs Will Highlight Special Service

A special Lenten-Easter service of worship with music by the five Meditation Chapel Choirs will be conducted at 8 tonight in the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel.

It will consist of scripture lessons and anthems which are in accordance with the Holy Week.

The Meditation Choirs, under the direction of James W. Beach, will sing "Hosanna to the Son of David" by Michael Praetorius, "Lift Thine Eyes" by Felix Mendelssohn, "O Sacrum Convivium" by Giovanni Pergolesi, "Crucifixus" by Johann Sebastian Bach, "Ave Verum" by Wolfgang Mozart, and "Easter Salutation" by Johann Sebastian Bach.

As organ preludes Nancy Hadfield, junior in education from Downingtown, will play "Christ Lag in Todesbanden" and "Vater Unser im Himmelreich" by Johann Sebastian Bach. As organ postlude Mary Herold, junior from Lancaster, will play "Toccata in F" by Charles Widor.

Participating in the service will be Dr. Luther H. Harshbarger, University Chaplain and assistant University Chaplain Charles E. Minneman and the Rev. Preston N. Williams.

Student lectors in the service will include William Monie, freshman in electrical engineering from Cape Elizabeth, Maine; Fred Beamer, junior in secondary education from Greensburg; Carl Sipe, freshman in mechanical engineering from Mechanicsburg; and David Bittner, freshman in music education from State College.

Frosh Better Than Ever, Says Ford

"The current freshmen are better prepared and have more potential than ever," Donald H. Ford, director of the Division of Counseling, told the Faculty Luncheon Club yesterday.

Ford said that even though students are better, grades are getting no better. The All-University average of the freshman class has remained fairly constant over the past four or five years.

Ford said that current applications for next year's freshman class are running 30 per cent over figures for last year and last year's applications ran about 30 per cent over the previous year.

So far this year the University has offered admission to 4875 high school seniors. Of these, 1235 students have already accepted the offer of admission.

Ford said that next fall's freshman class will have a great majority of students from the first or second fifth of their high school class. Seventy five per cent of the freshman class of 1958 were taken from the first or second fifth of their classes.

Ford pointed out that the University has a very extensive personal counseling service for each freshman that accepts admission. He said that he did not know of another university which has an equally extensive counseling program.

Two of the main functions of the Division of Counseling are to help freshmen to plan broad outlines for their future careers and to help them avoid any roadblocks which might hinder them.

Ford said that counseling of the freshmen first begins with tests and questionnaires which the Division of Counseling mails to the students to be completed and returned. Then the Division plans a day of counseling with each student during the summer before he comes to the University. Conferences are held with parents and measures of the student's special abilities or deficiencies are obtained.

The Division makes a special effort to inform parents about the standards of the University and the abilities of their children as compared with other entering freshmen.

Ford said that a second major function of the Division is to help all University students who have personal or academic difficulties. The Division tries especially to follow the freshmen through their first year and then help them with any difficulties they meet.

You Auto Be A Stick-in-the-Mud

IFC weekend is no time to be stick-in-the-muds.

Ten male students discovered this fact as they tried to push their blue and white Chevrolet off the lawn of Lyons Hall.

After about 15 minutes of pushing and shoving, the boys had failed to move the car, which had been jumped onto the lawn in order to avoid an oncoming car. The aid of two policemen and a thin rope was enlisted, but the rope broke.

By the time the boys finally pushed the car to the end of the lawn and into the street, their clothes were covered with mud. One boy sunk so deep into the mud he couldn't lift his legs and had to pull himself out of the muck by grabbing a newly planted tree.

But the story ended happily as one of the boys made a date with a Lyons Hall coed who had come out to watch.

Phi Mu Alpha to Hold Rushing Smoker Tonight

Phi Mu Alpha, professional music fraternity, will hold a rushing smoker at 9 tonight at Delta Chi fraternity.

All men who have at least third semester standing may attend. Men must also be either a music major or an active participant in a major musical activity.

The hearing will deal with a conflict between the constitution of the publications board and the Senate Regulations for Undergraduate Students.

The Board of Publications is composed of representatives of The Daily Collegian, Radio Station WDFM, LaVie, Froth, Penn State Engineer, Penn State Farmer, Circa and the Home Ec News and Views.

One article in the Senate regulations states: "The direct supervision of the operation of student publications shall be vested in the Board of Student Publications."

However, a recent constitutional amendment to the publications board states that the purpose of the body is to serve "as a purely advisory organization."

Nye said the hearing should determine some working arrangement to insure coordination of policy and effort in the operation of student communications.

"In the past there has been a failure to follow the prescribed authority," he said. "Either the rule or the practice must be changed."

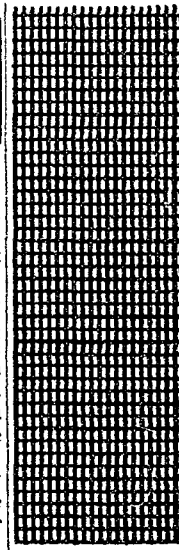

The Board of Publications has been in operation since 1953. There has been a recent recommendation to change its name to the Board of Student Communications since WDFM has been added to the board.

Pizza--

Although the Lion's Den staff has been ready to start for several weeks, some delay was caused when the firm supplying the special pizza oven put off delivery until last week.

The oven was installed in the grill section of the Lion's Den and will hold four pies. But the regular kitchen ovens will be used if needed.
