

Both Have Different Objectives

Pros, Colleges Cannot Mix

On Education and Athletics

There's no place for professional athletics in the collegiate athletic system, according to the views shared by University President Eric A. Walker and Athletic Director Ernest B. McCoy.

The two Penn State administrators took this firm stand when queried on the controversial college-professional feud that is known to exist among the nation's athletic population.

"I don't think college and professional athletics can mix because their meanings and objectives are quite different," Walker said. "In college athletics, the major objective is to get a college degree and the second objective is physical education.

"But in the pros, it is obvious that the major objective is to earn a living. The minute that a college athlete signs up to be a pro his objective changes. Then, he is no longer interested primarily in getting an education but in making a living.

"Of course," Walker added, "there are some boys who are looking ahead to when they will not be able to play pro ball. I think this is why Cal Emery is a smart guy. He's a pro, but in another semester will get his degree. He's looking towards a job after he stops playing."

Walker was referring to the former Penn State baseball star who signed a pro contract with the Philadelphia Phillies last year although he still had a year of college eligibility left.

McCoy feels that the professionals have not been ethical in their dealings with college athletes and officials. "It would be hard to go into the ramifications of all the under the table deals between colleges and pros," McCoy said. "But they have been making too many inroads. And the way they rundown our games in their broadcasts is really bad. "The NCAA is in a constant fight with the pros," McCoy continued, "and they've made many rules (to fight them), such as, you can't be a coach on an all-star team that plays a pro team or you can't be a scout on their payroll and still hold a college coaching job."

McCoy said that many colleges are having real trouble with the pros, particularly the colleges which are located near professional football franchises. He mentioned specifically Pitt, Penn, Michigan and the west coast schools around Los Angeles and San Francisco.

McCoy admitted that Penn State does not have a big problem with the pros and said he did not want to have one. "That's why I turned down the alumni game featuring pro players," he said "We do not have to bring in the pros to make our program go. That's not within the precepts of education and besides, it leads to overemphasis."

Long Wrestling String

Penn State's longest dual-meet wrestling winning streak was a 34-meet skein in the 1951-53 period. The Nittany Lions finally were sunk by the Navy.

11 Match Streak in Golf

Penn State's golfers will take an 11-match winning streak into their 1959 campaign. The Nittany swingers—who won 10 straight in an unbeaten '58 season—haven't lost since May 24, 1957.

Werner's 25th Year

Charles (Chick) Werner will begin his 25th year as Penn State track and field coach this Spring.

Kolhaas Pins Moconyi in 1:58; Koribni, Shaffer, Keck Win

By DICK GOLDBERG

Intramural wrestling was loaded with action last night as Bud Kolhaas pinned Andy Moconyi in the evening's feature match in the unlimited division. Both are Lion grid stars.

Kolhaas was leading 4-3, and riding his man, when he got a reverse nelson, turned Moconyi over and pinned him with a body press.

Also in the unlimited class, Frank Koribni, Kappa Delta Rho, pinned Rox Carl of Sigma Nu in 4:40. Carl was winning 3-2 and was on top when Koribni pinned him with a body press.

In the 135-pound class, Les Shaffer, Beta Theta Pi, decisioned Dick Plotts, Sigma Tau Gamma, 8-2. Shaffer picked up most of his points on takedowns and reversals.

In a rough and tumble match in the 135 division, Al Bennett, Delta Upsilon, pinned Jim Reeves, Theta Xi, in 53 seconds. Bennett scored two takedowns and Reeves an escape in the short time this match lasted.

In the 158-pound class, Fred Keck of Delta Tau Delta, scored a quick pin over Glenn Weishaar, Theta Chi, in 1:06. Keck scored a quick takedown and pressed his advantage until he scored his pin.

In the 167 division, Frank Skiddle, DU, decisioned Tom Burns of Phi Delta Theta, 6-0. Skiddle scored his points on two reversals and a takedown. At one point in the match, Burns had Skiddle down and was riding him for the pin. However, Skiddle scored a reversal and was able to press his advantage.

In the 135-pound class, Dick Berkley of Kappa Sigma pinned Dellie Kreiser, DTD, in 4:16. Berkley scored an early takedown and rode his man for the rest of the match.

In the 176-pound class, Bill McDougall, Chi Phi, pinned George Campbell, DTD, in 5:25 seconds. Both men had their chance to pin, but McDougall finally cashed in.

In the 158 division, George Metzger, Delta Theta Sigma, deonly individual entry—in the 50-yard dash—finished third in his qualifying heat behind Paul Winder and Pete Gardner and did not qualify for the finals. Brown will enter the 50-yard dash at Chicago next week.

Villanova's colorful Don Delaney, who had earlier announced that he would not compete at Cleveland and was threatened with suspension proceedings by Cleveland officials, won his 39th straight mile run in a photo finish over Hungarian Isteun Rozsavolgyi. The time was 4:06.6. Moran will be facing Delaney and Rozsavolgyi in a stellar mile field at Chicago that will also include Ted Wheeler and Phil Coleman of the Chicago Track and Field Club and probably collegian Pete Close of St. Johns.

PIAA Mat Finals at Rec Hall Today

By BILL BARBER

Penn State wrestling fans will have a chance to see the top high school wrestlers of the state this afternoon and evening when the PIAA state wrestling finals get under way at Rec Hall.

The semi-finals will start at 2 p.m. with the finals beginning at 7:30 p.m. The admission price is 50 cents for students.

Three of the State College High School grapplers will be wrestling in the tournament today. Tom Balent will be going for the 103-pound title while Dick Tressler and Gene Tressler will be wrestling in the 127 and 133 pound weight classes, respectively.

Dick Tressler was 120-pound state champ last year and thus far has welded a chain of 42 straight victories.

Balent advanced to the semi-finals last year before losing to Manheim Central's Henry Martzall on a referee decision. Balent thus far has logged a 19-0-1 record this season.

Gene Tressler will take his first shot at a state title when he takes on Larry Burgess of Chartiers-Huston in the semis. Gene has recorded a 19-1 mark this season.

The only other defending champ back this year beside Tressler is Lock Haven's Mike Johnson who holds the 103-pound crown. Johnson will face Truman Burgess of Chartiers-Huston in the semi-finals.

Boxing Coach Will Officiate Service Bouts

Former Penn State boxing coach Eddie Sulkowski, now a Nittany athletic trainer, will officiate at the 1959 Army Boxing Eliminations and the Interservice Boxing Championships at Fort Benning, Ga., over the Easter holidays.

Sulkowski, who tutored the Lion pugilists for 5 years until the sport was dropped from the University's varsity athletic program in 1955, will serve as a judge and referee for the tournaments.

The Boxing Eliminations will be held March 25-27 with the Interservice Championships slated for April 1-3.

This will mark the third time in the last four years that the Penn State grad has officiated in the Army championships.
