

To Retire—

 home at Rosslyn Farms, Carnegie, Pa., where she lived most of her life and where her sister and brother-in-law reside. She also plans to spend some time at her summer cottage at Deer Lake, near Fort Necessity in Fayette County.
 Miss Weston has taken active interest in the Altrusa Club international organization of administrative women in State College. She was a charter member in 1951 and is currently serving as president.
 She has also been active in the Business and Professional Women's Club and the American Association of University Women as well as in church activities. The National Association of Women's Deans last month honored Miss Weston and presented her with a citation "as a tribute to her long years of distinguished leadership to young women."
 Dean Weston recalls that when she came to the University in 1942 as assistant to the dean of women, there were 1400 women students. During her 17 years with the Dean of Women's office, the enrollment of women has increased sharply to 3800 students.
 Housing activities for women students likewise increased in their scope. During the war there were only four residence halls for women on campus and it was necessary to provide housing in the borough for many students. Town houses were opened and a total of 37 were in use, accommodating from five to 30 students.
 Miss Weston began her career in 1912 as an elementary teacher in Carnegie, later teaching in junior high school and senior high school. In 1929 she received her bachelor of arts degree from the University and her master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Duquesne University.

 dent must supply the dean of his college with a complete transcript (including grades from summer courses and courses which he should take at other schools before reapplying) and a letter of petition stating his reasons for wanting to get back into the school. The letter must also include what the student has done since being dropped from the University.
 Some of the larger colleges in the University have standing committees which will then study applications for reinstatement and report to the dean. Each college has set up its own standards for reinstatement. The dean of each college recommends students whom he feels merit reinstatement to the Academic Standards Committee.
 The new deadline will depend on how long it takes a dean to process these cases.

 catches the fascinating mystery of Rima in her forest home, and there are times when Perkins does well as the nature-struck adventurer. But neither succeeds often enough to carry the story.
 On the whole the job is not well done. The movie includes all the romanticism of the novel without including the rich background of nature fantasy which makes the romance enjoyable and rewarding. The result, unfortunately, is almost comic opera.
 Perhaps, as many people have said, they shouldn't even have tried.

Dalai Reaches India UN Role Seen in Berlin Issue

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Dalai Lama reached safety in India by a perilous 15-day trek over some of the world's most treacherous mountain territory, his followers said yesterday.

Chinese planes were searching overhead to spot the Dalai's party and it apparently traveled mostly at night to escape detection.

The group traveled by foot and by mule caravan over rivers and through snow-covered passes where one wrong step can mean death. They traveled 300 miles, or about 20 miles a day.

"It was one of the most remarkable escapes in world history," a Tibetan leader near the frontier area declared.

Prime Minister Nehru told a wildly applauding Parliament that the 23-year-old god-king is in good health and will be given "respectful treatment."

Tibetan exiles declared the Dalai Lama still is the ruler of Tibet, making clear he will remain a rallying point of the revolt against Red Chinese rule in Tibet.

Informed sources said, however, India will recognize the Dalai Lama only as a spiritual leader of the Buddhists and he will be forbidden to form any government in exile in India. This is to avoid offending Red China.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada proposed yesterday that the Atlantic Pact Allies consider inviting the United Nations to manage the access routes between West Berlin and free Germany.

Canadian Defense Minister George Pearkes put forward the suggestion in discussing new moves to end the East-West dispute with the Soviet Union over the future of Berlin.

He suggested the United Nations might consider a three-point formula as the basis for an agreement with the USSR.

Verification by the UN that the West and the Soviets are living up to the terms of any new agreement.

A Soviet pledge binding the Soviet Union as well as "its associates" to allow full freedom of access to West Berlin and acceptance of what Pearkes called "a United Nations presence on the lines of communication."

A firm understanding that U.N. responsibility for West Berlin would reinforce or back up the present American-British-French right to be there as conquerors of Nazi Germany.

In his talk before the council, Pearkes did not spell out whether he meant troops or observers to constitute the "United Nations presence" he advocated on the 110-mile route between West Berlin and West Germany.

makes another great discovery...

It's what's up front that counts

You can reproduce the experiment. It's easy as π . (Yes, you can do it in the bathtub.) Assuming that you have first visited your friendly tobacconist, simply light your first Winston and smoke it. Reasoning backwards, the discovery proceeds as follows: first, you will notice a delightful flavor, in the class of fresh coffee or of bread baking. Obviously, such flavor cannot come from the filter. Therefore, it's what's up front that counts: Winston's Filter-Blend. The tobaccos are selected for flavor and mildness, then specially processed for filter smoking. This extra step is the real difference between Winston and all other filter cigarettes. Besides, it's why Winston is America's best-selling filter cigarette.

"Eureka! Winston tastes good... like a cigarette should!"
