

Editorial Opinion

Sound Reasons Needed

The question of AM facilities for WDFM has now run afoul of the "grand generality."

Lawrence E. Dennis, vice president for academic affairs, said Monday that the University does not need an AM station "to strengthen its educational program."

AM facilities for WDFM—last year's Senior Class Gift—has been kicked around long enough; it's time for a straight answer. The handling of the Senior Gift issue has raised many questions, and this latest gobbley-gook from Old Main sheds little light on the problem.

To Dennis' statement on strengthening the educational program, we ask: How much did these senior class gifts strengthen the educational program:

- The benches around campus?
• The chimes and clock for the tower of Old Main?
• The University ambulance?
• The organ in Schwab Auditorium?
• The Mall Gate?
• The furnishings in the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel?

It can't be said that any of these class gifts strengthened the University's educational program. It is equally hard to say that they are not useful and valuable to the University.

And yet, the gift has not been so donated, AM facilities seem to be more remote than ever and the question of AM facilities is being bandied about by the administration with no apparent justification.

For some reason the University seems not to want AM facilities for WDFM. It has trotted out a number of apparently weak reasons for this opposition. The students deserve some more convincing information.

To Vote Intelligently

An intelligent vote is the result of knowledge and of intelligent reasoning.

Students preparing to vote on the proposed constitution for the Student Government Association must supply the reasoning for themselves.

But the All-University Cabinet Reorganization Committee is willing to help supply bases for knowledge.

The committee tonight will begin a series of open meetings aimed at explaining the constitution and its ramifications.

Students interested in voting intelligently on the question may find the meetings excellent opportunities to obtain some of the knowledge on which to base their reasoning.

Fifty-four Years of Student Editorial Freedom

The Daily Collegian

Successor to The Free Lance, est. 1887

Published Tuesday through Saturday morning during the University year. The Daily Collegian is a student-operated newspaper. Entered as second-class matter July 8, 1934 at the State College, Pa. Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879.

ROBERT FRANKLIN Editor ROBERT PICCONE Business Manager

City Editor, David Fineman; Managing Editor, Richard Draynes; Sports Editor, Lou Prater; Associate Sports Editor, Matt Mathews; Personnel and Public Relations Director, Patricia Evans; Copy Editor, Lynn Ward; Assistant Copy Editor, Dick Fisher; Photography Editor, Robert Thompson.

STAFF THIS ISSUE: Night Editor, Jeff Pollack; Copy Editor, Bobbi Levine; Wire Editor, Carol Blakoslee; Assistants, Pat Gavan, Sue Hill, Janet Beahan, Zandy Stinson, Bill Barber, Dick Goldberg, Susan Weinman, Barbara Laney, Janet Rosenberg and Karen Hyncekal.

Reader Seeks Blood Donors

TO THE EDITOR: Did you know that the American Red Cross considers you a local resident? From the time you matriculate at Penn State University until one year after graduation, you and your immediate family are entitled to receive blood free if you need it.

One hour is all it takes for you to give the pint of blood which can save someone's life—possibly your own. There is no pain involved in blood donation and the need is great. Will you help on April 22 and 23?

Remember, unmarried students under age 21 must have "minors release" signed by their parents. —Walt Schenger, '60

Gazette

TODAY

- ACE, 7 p.m., Grange Playroom
Ag Ec Club, 7 p.m., 216 HUB
AIM Judicial Board of Review, 7 p.m., 213 HUB
ASAE, 7 p.m., 206 Ag Engineering
Campus Party Publicity Committee, members and candidates, 4 p.m., 304 Boucke
Career Day Committee, 8 p.m., 112 Old Main
Chess Club, 7 p.m., 7 Sparks
Christian Fellowship, 12:30 p.m., 218 HUB
Dairy Lab Association, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., HUB assembly hall
Dancing Class, 6:30 p.m., HUB ballroom
Demolay, 7:30 p.m., 214 HUB
Hat Society Council, 7 p.m., 212 HUB
IFC Board of Control, 8:15 p.m., 212 HUB
Lakondles, 7 p.m., White Hall WRA Room
Mineral Industries Student Council, 8:15 p.m., 217 HUB
Penn State Riding Club, Gilbert Mather, speaker, 7 p.m., 217 Willard
Psychology Club, 7:30 p.m., 320 Willard
ROTC Committee, 6:30 p.m., 213 HUB
University Party, 8 p.m., 214 HUB
Women's Choir, 6 p.m., HUB assembly hall
WRA Bridge Club, intermediate and advanced, 7 p.m., White Hall
WSGA Senate, 8:30 p.m., 217 HUB
Zoology Club, 8 p.m., 113 Freear Lab

UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL

David Bair, Donald Bell, Marian Benefeld, Dale Blourdette, Patricia Couch, Anthony DeAngelo, Frank Donatelli, Louise Ellsworth, Phyllis Ensminger, Douglas Fisher, Harry Fontana, Dana Garber, Ann Grubbs, Mary Heinze, Carolyn Houston, Yean Hwang, Stephen Jones, Bertrand Kovash, Vladimira Kurylak, Ann Lessie, Susan Lindsay, Marilyn Lentz, Richard Lufky, Robert Morris, Richard Moyer, Robert O'Connell, Fred Pomerantz, Sandra Rimm, Jeannette Rutan, Ellene Shields, Lawrence Smith, Sue Smithson, Susan Stolzer, Wayne Ulsh, Liseletta Weih, Paula Wiggins.

Job Interviews

APRIL 20

- Link Aviation, Inc: BS: EE, ME.
U.S. Naval Air Development & Material Center: BS & GRADS: AERO E, EE, ME, PHYS.
Universal-Cyclops Steel Corp.: BS: METAL
Philadelphia Naval Shipyard: BS & GRADS: CE, IE, ME, EE, ARCH E, CHE.
Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corporation: BS: CH E, EE, IE, ME, METAL, CER TECH, ACCTG, BUS ADM.
APRIL 21
Elliott Company: BS: EE, ME, CH E.
American National Red Cross: BS (WOMEN): REC ED, PHYS ED, PSYCH, SOC. BS (MEN): SOC, PSYCH.
District Public Works Office: BS: ARCH E, ARCH, CE, EE, ME, SAN E.
Wheeling Steel Company: BS: CH E, METAL, CER TECH, IE.

Scientist--

(Continued from page one)

ishment of a world peace research organization within the fabric of the UN.

This organization would devote itself to exploring ways of solving the problems which have resulted in wars in the past and ways of preventing the outbreak of future wars.

Besides the Nobel Prize, Pauling has received many other awards for his contributions to science and world peace including the Presidential Medal for Merit presented by Harry S. Truman. He has been given honorary doctorates by fifteen universities including Princeton, Yale, Cambridge, Oxford, London, Paris, Liege and Montpellier.

Pauling was educated in Oregon and California. In 1922 he joined the faculty of the California Institute of Technology and has remained a professor of chemistry there.

Awards Night--

(Continued from page one)

theme is divided into three parts: the Greek and Roman Era, the Middle Ages and the Twentieth Century.

The schedule for the week is: Friday, April 24, Float Parade; Saturday, April 25, Carnival; Tuesday, April 28, Finals of the Olympics (combined He-Man and Queen of Hearts); Wednesday, April 29, Awards Night and Friday, May 1, Senior Ball.

Little Man on Campus by Dick Bibler

"My alarm didn't go off either, Miss Plume, but I manage to make it to class on time."

Looking Ahead

'Yankee' Secession May Rise Again!

By Bob Franklin

Save your Confederate money—and send it to New York City!

Some of the political leaders of the nation's largest metropolis claim to be seriously considering seceding from New York State.

And, although the citizens might continue to use

U.S. currency as legal tender, perhaps a flood of bills from the Old South would possibly add a bit of color and bring back memories of the days when Mayor Fernando Wood battled the federals during the Civil War.

According to the Associated Press, the New York City Council voted 23 to 1 yesterday to appoint a committee to study the "possibility and legality" of secession by the city.

It seems that the Democrats of New York City believe that they are receiving unfair treatment, FRANKLIN tax-wise and otherwise, from the Republican-controlled state government.

Whether the secession movement is meant to be a joke or a threat, it is receiving some attention throughout the country. At any rate, it is an interesting way for a political subdivision to focus attention on its problems. Perhaps the idea could be applied locally: Perhaps University Park should secede from State College.

The idea has numerous advantages. Visitors are often getting the two mixed up, trying to find out which one houses the main campus of the Pennsylvania State University (both, of course!).

However, such a plan might present problems. Particularly when one considers that, after all, University Park technically consists of one little room in the Hetzel Union Building which stacks mail and sells stamps.

Or, considering the difficulties in pulling needed funds out of the legislature, perhaps Penn State should secede from Pennsylvania. Then maybe the University could get the money it needs by charging out-of-state fees for all students from Pennsylvania, too.

Or, maybe a secession-bound Penn State could hook up with other secession-bound groups, possibly becoming, for instance, the Pennsylvania State University of New York City.

The height of a secession craze might even see the adoption of the idea of one disgruntled student wag: Have Pennsylvania secede from Centre County!

