

Riese Will Hurl Opener Against Bullets Today

A mixture of veterans and newcomers will be in Penn State's starting lineup this afternoon when the Lion baseball team opens the 1959 season against Gettysburg. Game time is 3:30 on Beaver Field.

Lion Coach Joe Bedenk named Ron Riese a 5'8" righthander as his opening day hurler. Riese is one of the four lettermen on the Lion roster and last year compiled a 6-1 record and 1.53 E.R.A.

Larry Fegley and Bob Hoover—two other lettermen—will open at second base and shortstop respectively. Both were solid hitters last year with Fegley hitting .324 and Hoover .320.

Bedenk named Mike Hader as his starting third baseman and he said that Larry Beighey would open at first.

But Bedenk said that if a left-hander pitches for Gettysburg, Caldwell probably wouldn't start. In that case either Dick Coyle, Norm Luff or Zeke DeLong could get the nod. He also said that Harry Beans would start at catcher.

Today's game will be broadcast over WDFM beginning at 3:20 p.m. with Charley Swift doing the play by play.

Gettysburg comes into today's game with a 2-0 record. They have beaten Syracuse (9-0) and Lebanon Valley (10-1). Last year the

Ron Riese ... starting pitcher

Lions stopped the Bullets, 7-3.

Riese was the winning pitcher in that game as he struck out seven and walked only two.

This year the Bullets will be looking to eight lettermen for most of the team's power. Included among the lettermen are two fine pitchers—Dick Hawkins and Bucky Walters.

Walters, incidentally, is the son of former major league star Bucky Walters who performed for the Cincinnati Reds.

Either he or Hawkins will be the starting pitcher for Gettysburg. Both relieved against the Lions last year at Beaver Field.

Gettysburg's infield boasts three lettermen and a highly rated first base prospect. Gerry Long is back at shortstop and his double play partner—Jeff Kahler returns at second.

Senior Larry Leidel, who is back for his third year, will be at third base for Coach Bob Hutton's crew and Ken Fruchter, a sophomore, is the highly rated first base prospect.

The outfield, however, has only one returnee—Harry Binger. Ritter Smith and Fred Mueller, two utility men from last year's team, will probably open at the other outfield posts.

Gettysburg lost its two top catchers to graduation but the hole could be filled by either Marty Elliot, Connie Youse or footballer Rich Davidyock.

After today's game, the Lions are idle for a day, but then they go on a 2-game road trip to Rutgers (Friday) and Lafayette (Saturday).

Following these two tilts, the Nittanians return home for a Tuesday afternoon game with Bucknell.

Inexperience Is Key To Linksman's Loss

"Lack of practice and inexperience proved the downfall for us in the Maryland match" said golf coach Joe Boyle.

Boyle stated the Lions showed a definite need for more short practice around the green. He said the pins "seemed to scare us and we couldn't find the green."

Boyle also pointed to the considerable lack of experience shown by his last three players—John Morton, Ed Kormos, and Haydn Thomas.

According to Boyle, Kormos played very well considering his inexperience and the quality of his opponent. He said that Morton had the same trouble.

Kormos met John Owens of the Terps and lost 4 and 3. However, Owens shot the best score of any of the Terrapins. He pulled a 71 for 18 holes.

Boyle also stated that Dick Burgoon, transfer from Franklin and Marshall, played excellently. His opposition was the third man on the talent loaded Maryland team.

Haydn Thomas, Boyle said, started out well on the front nine but ran into quite a bit of trouble on the back nine. This Boyle credits to inexperience.

Playoffs have started for the lineup for Saturday's match with Penn, Boyle said.

TEE SHOTS—Bob Rutherford, now on the varsity golf team, is the son and grandson of the first two golf coaches Penn State has had. They are Bob Rutherford Sr. and Bob Rutherford Jr. He also has a talented sister who is one of the top women golfers in the state. Ed Kormos, beside being on the varsity, is president of his fraternity.

Spring Soccer Drills Will Begin Monday
