

Walker to Discuss AM With Lewellen, Feldstein

By DENNY MALICK

Wilbur Lewellen, WDFM station manager, and All-University President Jay Feldstein will meet with President Eric A. Walker today to try to determine WDFM's status concerning plans for AM facilities.

"I just want to find out where we stand," Lewellen said yesterday. "We have tried to do so by going through the channels, but we haven't been able to find out anything."

The University has modified the 1958 Senior Class Gift request for AM facilities for WDFM. It is going ahead with plans to make contract arrangements with State College station WMAJ to provide broadcasting experience for students.

Lawrence E. Dennis, vice president for academic affairs, has said that the University does not need an AM station to strengthen its educational program.

He added that the University probably wouldn't establish a campus station even if the students paid for it themselves.

Lewellen has contended that WDFM could provide essentially the same facilities as WMAJ has offered. WMAJ has proposed turning over a room in the Glennland Building to the University and also provide the use of tape recorders and typewriters for students.

After announcement of the Board of Trustees action on modifying the class gift, Lewellen said Dennis told him there would be a meeting to explain to WDFM officials the meaning of the trustee action.

However, Lewellen said no such meeting has come about.

Lewellen also said that Dennis referred in an earlier newspaper report to material from WDFM that the trustees studied before making their decision. He said that he knew of no information coming from the student station to the trustees.

Campus Party Asks Debate on Platforms

Campus party has challenged University Party's top five candidates to debate the party planks with Campus' top five candidates, according to Campus party campaign manager Jerry Whitney.

University Party chairman Frank Pearson accepted the challenge University party did not make the challenge because the committee on student government reorganization had already been considering a debate between the two parties, he said. There are no definite plans for the debate.

Daniel Thalmer, chairman of the student government reorganization committee said he felt All-University Cabinet would "strongly favor" the debate but that since Campus party has made the challenge it was up to them to execute plans for it.

All-University president Jay Feldstein said it was definitely not Cabinet's prerogative to set up such a debate but that he hoped a debate on the platforms would be held.

The University party platform pledges to support student government reorganization and "initiate a study to revise the present grading system."

It also promises to provide a way for students to complain about town housing.

The Campus party platform includes the placing of meters in campus parking lots for use by students with revenues going to the expansion of parking facilities and the formation of a Student Fire Hazard Committee to inspect town housing for students.

The platform also recommends free selection of residence hall housing for women on seniority basis and will form a Student Planning Commission to work with the vice president for expansion and give students a voice in future expansion of student facilities.

The debate would be between both parties' candidates for the Student Government Association president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer and their candidates for the junior and senior class presidencies.

Students to Meet With Pauling During 2-Day Visit to Campus

During the 2-day visit of Linus Pauling, world renowned scientist and Nobel prize winner, students and faculty will be given the opportunity to attend several social and discussion meetings which are being arranged for those particularly interested in meeting Dr. and Mrs. Pauling and discussing problems with them.

Pauling and his wife will arrive on campus in the late afternoon, April 21. At 3:15 p.m. on the following day, he will deliver a lecture on "Abnormal Hemoglobin Molecules and Disease" in Osmond Laboratory. The talk is sponsored by the Colloquium Committee of the chemistry department.

Most of Pauling's scientific work has dealt in one way or another with the nature of the chemical bond; included in this is the study of the role of abnormal molecules in causing disease, especially abnormal hemoglobins in relation to anemia. He has published a number of articles on this subject.

At 8 p.m., April 22, Pauling will give a lecture in Schwab Auditorium on "Research for Peace." For many years he has sought the abolition of nuclear testing for atomic weapons and has advocated utilizing nuclear power for peaceful means.

The American Association for the United Nations, State College Friends Meeting, Social Science Research Center and the University Christian Association are sponsoring the lecture. There will be an informal reception in the Eisenhower Chapel lounge after the talk.

In addition to the two public lectures, several social and discussion meetings will be held to allow anyone wishing to talk to the scientist to do so.

Anyone interested in attending these meetings should contact members of the Friends Meeting or the AAUN for information.

Men May Apply For Hat Societies

Hat Society Council announced yesterday that applications for membership in men's societies will be available in the dean of men's office from Monday to Friday.

Applications must be filled out in the office and deposited in a locked ballot box. There will be a box for each of the societies. A person may submit an application to only one hat society and if he submits two cards, he will automatically be disqualified.

The hat societies must tap new members by April 26 and all new members will wear signs from April 27 to May 1. New members must be initiated by May 6.

Marriage Talks To Start Today

The changing role of men and women within the family will be discussed tonight at the annual Marriage Series in the Memorial Lounge of the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel at 8:30 p.m.

The discussion entitled "What is a Man's Place in the Home," will be led by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Batchelder. The Batchelders have both been active in service projects and have participated in marriage preparation conferences conducted by several Pittsburgh churches. Batchelder is Executive Director of the Young Men's Christian Association at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh.

They will also lead a conference for engaged couples at the University Christian Association cabin tomorrow and Sunday.

The series is sponsored by the University Christian Association, Leonides, Panhellenic Council and the Interfraternity Council.

Christianity Abroad To Be Panel Topic

Five international students will discuss Christianity as it is expressed in their native lands at a meeting of the Bible Fellowship at 7 tonight in 214 Boucke.

The students, who will also give their views of American Christians, are Adiel Balam, freshman in business administration from Mexico; Jacob Dentu, senior in electrical engineering from Ghana; Genevieve Ho, graduate in nutrition from Taiwan; Jorge Juliano, graduate in agriculture education from the Philippines; and Yajiro Morita, graduate in mechanical engineering from Japan.

Repairs Close Highway

Bridge repairs have forced the closing of the highway between Lemont and Boalsburg.

Work on the bridge near Oak Hall began Monday, consisting of the removal of the wood decking and asphalt covering, replacing them with concrete.

Weather permitting, the project will be finished by the middle of next week. Traffic is open to the bridge from both sides for local traffic.
