

Lion Golfers Win First; Meet Georgetown Today

By LARRY ROTH

Scott Stultz lost his first golf match in two seasons, but the varsity linksters won their first match this season turning back West Virginia, 5 1/2-3 1/2, yesterday at Morgantown.

The Nittany Lion Golfers, although splitting the six individual match play contests with the Mountaineers, accumulated 2 1/2 out of a possible three points awarded to the lowest best-ball duo in each foursome to chalk up victory number one.

Top point-getters for the visiting Penn State squad were John Morton and Haydn Thomas, who teamed to defeat their opponents in best-ball play and also won their individual matches. Morton edged Sam Urso 2-and-1, and Thomas crushed Bob King 7-and-6.

Stultz's loss, snapping a 12-match victory streak, was compensated for by Lion captain Bill Davidson, who came from behind to edge the Mounties' first man, Adolph Popp.

Two down after 15 holes, it looked as if last year's Eastern champion would run his season's losing skein to three, but he rose to the occasion to cop the last three holes—the eighteenth by sinking a pressure-packed thirty foot downhill putt to capture the match, one up.

Stultz's match was a different story, as last year's leading contributor to Penn State's unblemished record fell behind on the early holes and never caught the Mountaineers' Anthony Morsko, losing 4-and-3.

The Lions' Dick Burgoon and Roy Altman were both defeated in match play but holed putts when necessary to salvage a point awarded for best-ball. Burgoon lost to Sid Bennett, 2-and-1, and Altman was edged by Jim Benson, one up.

The victory marked Penn State's fifth triumph in five outings over the West Virginia golfers in a series dating back to 1941.

The Boylemen will be out to gain their second straight win and boost their record to the .500 mark when Georgetown University's linksters invade the University Golf Course this afternoon.

In wake of their continuing mastery over West Virginia, the Lions are expected to encounter tougher opposition against the Hoyas, who have mastered the Nittany golfers on 12 of 22 previous occasions. Tee-off time is scheduled for one o'clock.

Injuries Plague Lions For Hobart LaX Tilt

By BILL BARBER

With its hopes renewed after the Penn victory, the Penn State lacrosse team will be looking for its second victory this week when it meets Hobart at 2 p.m. today on Beaver Field.

Last year the Lions rolled up an 8-2 victory over Hobart with the aid of a second half 6-goal scoring splurge. However,

Hobart holds a two game edge over the Lion stickmen in all-around play as they have won 11 games while the Nittanies have only taken nine.

Hobart polled a 4-5 record last season to finish 17th in the Laurie Cox Division, the same league in which the Lions placed seventh.

However, Hobart is a very lacrosse-conscious college and plays a rugged schedule for its small size.

"We're expecting Hobart to give us a rough game today," stated Coach Earnie Baer. "It's an unusual game when there are more than two goals separating these teams by the final period," added Baer.

The Lion stickmen will once again be fighting an uphill battle to regain the status they had attained before the disastrous Navy game.

"The team has been improving steadily the past few days and we're beginning to look like we did before the Navy game," said Coach Baer.

"They're getting their scrap and hustle back and working better together as a complete unit," concluded Baer.

But the Baermen will be minus three of their best men today who all had starting positions at one time or another this season.

Bob Swanson, the stickmen's top midfielder, will more than likely sit on the bench for the entire game unless Baer feels he is needed for a desperation play. At best he will only be used sparingly.

Chip Henderson, who made the starting lineup for the Penn game, due to Swanson's injury, will also be out of service today thanks to an injury acquired in the Penn game. Henderson filled in ably for Swanson on Wednesday by scoring two goals.

Andy Moconyi, an off and on defensive starter, will also be missing in the Lion lineup as he is still disabled by a charley-horse. Moconyi has been on the injury list since the Navy game last Saturday, but Baer expects him to be able to make the trip to Cornell Wednesday.

Dave Wilkinson will start in the nets today for the Lions. Baer feels that he has improved somewhat since the Navy game but is still weak in some spots.

The defensive squad will most likely be the same as Wednesday's with co-captain Dick Dill, Mike Beattie, and Dave Erwin filling the slots.

But sophomore Tom Ogdon may well push one of the regular starters for a front line defensive berth today as Baer said he played exceptionally well in the Penn game.

As far as the midfield goes, the starting unit will be a tossup between Ray Tuleya, Dick Bullock, Dick Hammond, Gove Elder, and Dick Janda.

Co-captain John Behne will be the key man on attack.

Because of his excellent performance in the Penn game, Jim Kane will also get a starting position on attack. Jim Winpenny will fill in the remaining attack slot.

Champion Terrapins To Play Lion Netmen

Penn State's tennis team will try to break a two-match Maryland winning streak over the Nittany Lions this afternoon when it meets the Terrapins in College Park.

Coach Sherman Fogg, whose team goes into today's matches with a 1-1 season record, expressed optimism for today's outing. "I think we may be able to beat them," he said yesterday before leaving the campus.

Maryland, although not possessing any outstanding stars, has a well-balanced squad. The Terrapins are current Atlantic Coast Conference champions, and have been for the last two years.

Lion captain Chuck Bibleheimer is expected to take his single match, although he lost his match to a Terrapin singles opponent last year.

Also competing in singles competition today will be sophomore Dick Ludwig, junior Jerry Carp and sophomore Garry Moore, a native of Washington, D.C. All have 1-1 records so far this season.

Also competing will be either Don Harnett, a senior, or Jack Krall, a junior. Both have 1-0 records. John Blanck, a sophomore, with an 0-1 record will see action too.

Doubles will feature Bibleheimer and Carp, Blanck, and sophomore Don McCartney, and Moore and Ludwig. McCartney and Blanck have won both their doubles matches this season.

The Lions go onto the courts confident, after trouncing Juniata 9-0 Thursday. Previously they lost to Cornell 8-1.

The next match will be played against Army at West Point on Wednesday.

Lifting Club Qualifies Three For Tourney

Penn State will be one of 19 colleges and universities competing in the 1959 National Collegiate Weightlifting Championships today in the Pitt Field House.

Three Penn State weightmen have qualified for the tourney. They are Kent Cootes in the 123 1/2-pound class, Paul Deitzel in the 132 pound division and Bob Grubb, lifting at 198-pounds. Tom Zaleski, at 148 pounds, has qualified as a first alternate.

The lifting competition in the 123 1/2, 132, 148 and 181-pound classes begins at 1:30 p.m. on the Field House basketball floor. Those lifting in the 165, 198 and unlimited divisions compete at 7:30 p.m.

Grubb, a grad student, is the only Penn State entrant who has had any experience in competitive lifting with other schools. He placed second in the 198-pound class in the Inter-Pennsylvania weightlifting contest which was held last year at Penn. Freshmen Cootes and Deitzel are lifting for the first time in intercollegiate competition.

High hopes for a new varsity weightlifting team are expounded by the Penn State Barbell Club. According to Grubb, varsity status possibilities rest on the size of the fall turnout for the Barbell Club. Before a competitive team can be organized there must be at least two men in each weight class, he said.
