

Referendum to Continue On SGA Plan Today

Voting Said 'Fairly Steady'

BULLETIN

Voting in the SGA elections will be held only in the HUB recreation room today and tomorrow. The Elections Committee decided last night to discontinue decentralized voting as was held in yesterday's balloting.

Students will have two more days to vote the new Student Government Association up or down and to elect SGA officers, junior and senior class presidents and sophomore, junior and senior assembly members.

Voting will continue from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow in the Hetzel Union, Sparks, Boucke, Home Economics, Forestry and Sackett buildings.

Arthur Miltenberger, University party candidate for SGA president, and Leonard Julius, Campus party candidate for that office, at an election rally last night urged students to vote.

Julius said the SGA next year would have to be a model for student governments in future years. He said students could help gain good government by voting in these elections and supporting student government.

Miltenberger urged students to vote "yes" on reorganization.

Jesse Arnelle, 1954-55 All-University president, said one of the causes of apathy was the reluctance of students to become familiar with student government. The responsibility for this reluctance, he said, possibly lies with the incumbent student leaders.

Arnelle said student leaders like to feel they are representing the whole student body, but only 20 per cent of the student body would probably vote.

Pauling to Lecture Against Atomic War

By JIM STROTHMAN

Dr. Linus Pauling, world champion of peace through nuclear disarmament, will speak on his specialty at 8 tonight in Schwab Auditorium.

Author of the book "No More War" and winner of numerous awards including the 1954 Nobel Prize for Chemistry,

Sun, Warm Weather Seen for Next 3 Days

A large area of fair weather is continuing to hold sway over most of the nation, thus guaranteeing sunny skies and pleasant temperatures for the next two or three days.

Today will be partly cloudy and mild with a high temperature of 64 degrees.

Pauling has been a leader in the fight for world-wide disarmament and a nuclear testing ban for the last 10 years.

In his book, he reminds us of the hideous story of Hiroshima and Nagasaki and the steady development of atomic weapons since then.

Now, he says, we have the H-bomb which is 1000 times more powerful. Each of these bombs has an explosive energy five times greater than all the bombs used in World War II. The initial attack in such a war would kill 83 million Americans and seriously injure 25 million, according to Pauling, and our retaliation would in turn kill them.

Early in 1958 he placed a petition urging that an "International Agreement to Stop the Testing of Nuclear Bombs Should Be Made" (Continued on page eight)

University Regarded Highly, Study Shows

By KATIE DAVIS

Image studies have shown that there is an amazing reservoir of good will in the state toward the University, James H. Coogan, director of public information, said Monday to the faculty luncheon club.

Coogan spoke on "Revolutions in Communication."

He said these image studies have indicated, too, that the University appears to be the college best thought of in the whole state.

Campus programs presented over television have drawn more than the expected number of replies from audiences. Even though only six complimentary letters were received in approval of one show, Coogan said this is phenomenal when compared to letters received by such programs as "Gunsmoke" which are nationwide and receive about 45 favorable letters a week.

Coogan attributed the small number of letters TV programs receive in general to the fact that most people write only to gripe, never to compliment a show.

Coogan also spoke about major changes that have affected the methods of mass media communication. He said that newspapers still do the major job in reporting news since they have the most space.

Some recent improvements in newspapers include the use of color; the Associated Press news releases by tape, which increases the volume of type that can be printed daily, and the Fairchild Scan-o-graver, which makes possible the use of more pictures by smaller papers.

The major change in television in the past few years has been the use of video tape, Coogan said. This tape can be edited and erased like ordinary recording tape and provides a much greater reservoir of programs which can be televised, he said.

members of his staff will report on "The Image Study of the University" after dinner Monday night. Dr. John Ivey, executive vice president of New York University, will evaluate the seminar discussions at the closing session Tuesday night.

The participants will organize into groups of 12 for day-long discussions Monday and Tuesday under the general headings of "The Role of the Department Head" and "The Role of the University."

James H. Coogan, director of Public Information, said the purpose of the encampment is to develop a closer feeling among the University's department heads, deans and administrators. This is the first year the University has

Herter Confirmed By Senate, 93-0

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate brushed aside a no-hurry rule yesterday and whisked through by a 93-0 vote its confirmation of Christian A. Herter as secretary of state.

This cleared the way for the suave, scholarly, 64-year-old Herter to take over with full authority from cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles.

The reason for the rush is that Herter leaves Monday for Paris to take part in a free world foreign ministers' conference in preparation for East-West talks on the touch-and-go German situation.

President Eisenhower formally nominated Herter, who has been Dulles' No. 2 man, for the top State Department spot only Monday.

Under Senate rules such a nomination can't be confirmed in less than six days. The Senate waived this rule in view of Herter's imminent responsibilities.

Confirmation came only a few hours after Herter won an expected unanimous vote of approval from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The only serious quizzing he got came from Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), who posed a series of "if" questions centering on: Would this country resort to nuclear warfare if the Soviets started shooting down American planes on the corridor to Berlin?

"Not necessarily," was Herter's prompt response.

Morse then asked: "Is it your position we would then be free and should proceed to all-out war with Russia, encompassing the dropping of nuclear and hydrogen bombs?"

"No, sir, I don't believe in the being justified," Herter answered initial stages such a course would. But he added quickly: "If it became clear Russia was resorting to all-out war, I think we would have to consider a change in our position."

Auto Accident Causes Change in Traffic Signs

"No Stopping" signs have replaced the "No Parking" signs along Shortlidge Road because of the mishap Sunday night in which a campus patrolman was seriously injured while directing traffic, according to Elwood F. Olver, director of security.

Campus patrolman Thomas Kirshner was seriously injured when he was struck by a car driven by Robert Vierck Jr. who was heading north on Shortlidge Rd. Kirshner is in good condition at the Ritenour Health Center.

Violinist To Give Recital In Schwab

Distribution of student tickets for the performance by Michael Tree, 16th in current Artists' Series, will begin at 1 p.m. today at the Hetzel Union desk.

The 25-year-old violinist will perform with the University Symphony at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in Schwab Auditorium. He will also hold an open rehearsal and a workshop.

Tree, an American, will rehearse with the symphony at 8:15 p.m. Monday in Schwab. No tickets will be required for the rehearsal or the workshop.

The workshop will be held at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday in 117 Carnegie. Both events are open to all students, however, space for the workshop is limited.

The violinist was born in Newark, N.J., and made his first appearance in New York City at Carnegie Hall five years ago. He started playing the violin as a child under the tutelage of his father.

His later studies were done at Curtis Institute of Music under the director of the Institute, Efrem Zimbalist.

Bicycle Inspection To Be Held Today

Bicycles will be inspected today from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. at the rear of the Alpha Fire Co. building on South Frazier Street.

Inspections will continue for the next four Saturdays until the more than 1600 bicycles in the State College area have been checked.

Minor repairs should be taken care of before bicycles are brought for inspection. Check points are handlebars, brakes and saddle.

A fee of 25 cents will be charged for the inspection and an additional 25 cents for a license.

Anyone without a license for his bike will be fined.

1st Faculty Seminar to Begin Sunday

By BILL JAFFE

The University will hold its first faculty encampment Sunday through Tuesday at the Fort Bedford Inn, Bedford.

One hundred and fifteen department heads, deans and administrators will participate in the 2-day seminar which begins Sunday night. Day-long discussions will be held Monday and Tuesday and prominent educators will speak in the evening.

Dr. C. Addison Hickman, dean of the College of General Studies at North Carolina State College, will open the discussions Sunday night. He will speak on the "Functions of an Educational Administrator."

President Eric A. Walker and staged such a seminar for its top officials.

The participants will study ways of stimulating research and scholarship on the campus and ways of improving relations between the various departments and colleges and the administration.

The encampment is similar to the annual Student Encampment held prior to the opening of the fall semester at the Mont Alto School of Forestry. Student leaders, faculty members and townspeople join in three days of discussions and seminars concerning student government problems.

They also discuss the University's department heads, borough relations and ways of improving University relations with the student body.
