

Finch to Speak At Indie Dinner

By BOBBI LEVINE

Henry A. Finch, professor of philosophy, will be the guest speaker at a banquet sponsored by the Association of Independent Men and Leonides Council on May 13.

The banquet is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the Eutaw House restaurant, Potters Mills. The banquet will be open to all independent men and women, and transportation to and from the restaurant will be provided by members of AIM and Leonides Councils.

Applications Available For IFC Posts

Applications for chairmanships of Interfraternity Council committees will be available at the Hetzel Union desk beginning today. Deadline for return of the applications to the HUB desk is noon Saturday.

James Hammerle, former IFC vice president, said at Monday night's IFC meeting that any fraternity man is eligible to apply for the committee chairmanships, but that preference will be given to persons already serving on the committees.

Applications for positions on committees will not be available until next fall, Hammerle said.

A pledge creed, proposed by the junior IFC, was tabled by the senior body Monday night. The main objections registered were that it was "hypocritical" and that none of the houses follow it now or would follow it if it were to be adopted.

Another objection raised to the creed was that there was no means of enforcing it. A vote will be taken at the next meeting.

Final reports were given by the outgoing IFC officers — Edward Hintz, president; Hammerle; and Richard Christian, secretary-treasurer—and new officers were installed. The new officers are Gary Gentzler, president; Ronald Resh, vice president, and Richard Sargent, secretary-treasurer.

In other action Monday night the IFC presented a salad bowl set to Mrs. Christian K. Arnold, retiring secretary of the Interfraternity Council Purchasing Association, and adopted minor revisions in the junior IFC constitution.

A highlight of the after-dinner program will be the presentation of the annual Leonides Council award to the "Outstanding Independent Woman of the School Year." Members of the council will nominate and elect this woman at their meeting on Monday evening. She will be chosen on the basis of her leadership, character and service to the independent women of the University.

Tickets for the banquet will be available at the Hetzel Union desk at three dollars each. They will be sold from April 29 to May 6. In order to allow enough time to make final banquet arrangements and because of the problems involved in securing transportation for guests, no tickets will be sold after the closing date.

Leonides and AIM Councils will subsidize entire or partial costs of the dinner for special guests and council representatives. A list of persons eligible for subsidies will be available at the HUB desk. Lists for those who will need transportation will also be available.

Invitations will be sent to prominent local and state officials sometime this week, and arrangements will be made to provide transportation for those who are able to attend.

Navy Recruiters To Be on Campus

A team from the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station in Pittsburgh will be at the Hetzel Union Building from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. today to provide information to those interested in serving in the Navy as commissioned officers.

Programs available to male graduates are the Officers Candidate Program and the Aviation Officer Candidate Program. Junior and senior women may apply for a Women's Officer Training Program.

Students may apply in these programs nine months prior to their expected graduation date.

'The Midway' to Hit Campus Saturday

By JEFF POLLACK

Shows, amusement rides and food concessions will fill the intramural fields Saturday night when the greatest show on campus—Spring Week Carnival—takes over.

According to David Epstein, producer and chairman of the carnival committee, there will be 32 booths featured this year, including five from independent groups.

"Stories Through the Ages" is the theme of this year's carnival and there will be shows from the Greek and Roman period, the middle ages and the 20th century.

Besides the 32 booths, the carnival will offer six rides, including two ferris wheels and food from every corner of the borough.

Epstein said the committee had increased the number of rides in order to handle the midway crowd who don't want to see any more shows.

And to accommodate the younger members of the community—local children, students and faculty—the rides will open at 4 p.m.

The shows will begin at 7 p.m. and end at midnight. All the shows in the carnival have been approved.

The four food concessions will offer the finest food east of Shortlidge Road. Macks Snacks, Home Delivery Pizzeria, Nittany Deli and Dairy Dan will be on hand to handle the crowds' hunger.

And any one enjoying an early ride—whether it's on one of the ferris wheels, in the flying saucer or on one of the other three rides—can watch the fraternity, sorority and independent roustabouts struggling with their booths.

Epstein said plans for the carnival are still not complete and additional groups may still enter. He also said he is still trying to see if he can add some more food concessions.
