

14 Autos Damaged By Vandals

At least 14 cars were damaged early Sunday morning by unknown vandals in the general area along Locust Lane between Prospect, Foster and the 100 block of East Fairmount Avenues.

According to Sgt. Mathew A. Seckinger of the borough police, total damages were estimated at $1000. Four cars parked in the Phi Kappa Psi driveway had their side windows smashed.

John R. Juba, chief of police, said at the Borough Council meeting last night that the disorderly conduct on Saturday night was somewhat "disastrous to civilization." He said that something should be done to remedy the "embarrassing situations" which occur every year during Spring Weekend.

three cars were damaged at Phi Epsilon Pi, and one from both Zeta Beta Tau and Acacia. The others belonged to local townspeople and visitors, Seckinger said.

He said the vandals broke windows with rocks or their fists, ripped off mirrors, and tore seat covers, besides other malicious mischief. Damage was directed toward late model cars, all but one being either a 1958 or 1959 model. The other was a 1952 car.

Two University students, Warren Armstrong, junior in journalism from Pittsburgh, and Vincent E. Neuhauser, junior in industrial engineering from Gap, were attacked by three of the vandals when they tried to stop them at Phi Kappa Psi.

The vandals knocked Armstrong down and kicked him in the face and groin. Neuhauser was also beaten by the assailants. None of their injuries were reported serious.

Seckinger said the vandals as yet have not been identified, but he has suspects and will continue working on the case.

He added that the borough police maintained heavy patrols throughout Saturday night and Sunday morning. He said activities were well conducted until the car breakage occurred.

OVER THE FENCE—A girl from Penn Hall school jumps her horse over the second fence in the closed course event of the horse show Sunday. Penn Hall won the meet with Penn State placing second.

—Collegian Photo by Marty Scherr

Judy Will Reign As May Day Queen

By CAROL BLAKESLEE

Eleanor Judy, senior in home economics from Cochranville, will reign as May Queen Saturday.

The May Queen crowning is included in May Day festivities sponsored by the Women's Student Government Association. The program, part of Mother's Day weekend, will be held at 3:30 p.m. on the lawn of Old Main.

Summer Weather To Continue Today

The weather map, both on the surface and at upper levels, has taken on a summer appearance suggesting that warm weather will continue for the balance of the week.

Sunny and warm weather is expected today with afternoon temperatures reaching 83 degrees.

Tonight should be fair and pleasantly cool with a low of 56 degrees.

Even warmer weather is expected tomorrow as temperatures climb to near 85 degrees. However, a few thunderstorms are likely during the late afternoon or evening.

Maxine Miller, freshman in education from Sayre, will be maid of honor.

Miss Judy's court will include: Barbara Maley and Mary Martin, freshman attendants; Virginia Dunkerton and Elizabeth Sechler, sophomore attendants; Suzanne Keener and Rita Saltzer, junior attendants; Frances Griffin and Janet Ours, senior attendants; Ellen Donovan, former WSGA president; Judith McFarland, former Women's Recreation Association president; and Elizabeth Floegel, University Christian Association representative.

Coeds elected the queen, maid of honor and freshman, sophomore, junior and senior attendants at the same time WSGA office elections were held.

The queen will walk through an honor arch composed of 20 senior women and an evergreen chain composed of 34 senior women. Members of the honor arch and evergreen chain were chosen by WSGA on the basis of scholarship, leadership and service to the University.

Participants in the honor arch will be:

Helen Baldwin, Mary Ann Beveridge, Arlene D'Onofrio, MaryAnn Gemmill, Nancy Greninger, Sandra Grotzky, Lois Henderson, Henrietta Hertzog, Audrey Jersun, Ruth Johnson, Constance Jones, Sybil Kersch, Jean Kissick, Barbara Marcus, Florence Moran, Phyllis Muskat, Bryna Nelson, Patricia O'Neill, Linda Wairath and Lynn Ward.

Participants in the evergreen chain will be:

Janet Barney, Barbara Bell, Joyce Bergdoll, Mary Briggs, Heather Davidheiser, Catherine Engel, Mary Ann First, Charlotte Flack, Sylvia Guyer Fridy, Janet Grayson, Nancy Hubbell, Susanne Ittel, Nancy Kepler, Catherine Klepper, Patricia Leh, Patricia Lenhardt, Theodora Losasso, Barbara Martino, Mariana Moldovan, Alice Morrow.

Kay Noonan, Ruth Ott, Marilyn Painter, Lois Piercy, Annette Saurino, Joan Schmidt, Linda Se

Continued on page five

Check-Cash Plan Of Frosh Board Called 'Ridiculous'

A plan to establish a Student Check Cashing Agency proposed by the Freshman Advisory Board was termed "ridiculous" yesterday by George L. Donovan, coordinator of Student Affairs.

The plan was to be presented for approval at the SGA Assembly at 7:30 p.m. Thursday by Marcus Katzen, freshman in business administration from Sykesville.

Katzen planned to ask the Assembly to provide a $4000 loan to his committee to set up the agency.

Donovan's main criticism of the proposed plan was that, in his opinion several major details had been left out.

He cited the lack of a system for handling any bad checks which might be received. He said the agency might turn into a "sucker deal."

Donovan also criticized the lack of any definite system for alternating shifts and checking the cash box in and out.

"This should not be student activity," he said. He said the routine of candidate board, sophomore board and so on was "corny."

Then agency would work better, he said, if it were run with help from the Student Employment Agency.

Donovan did say, however, that there "seems to be a need" for a check cashing agency for students.

However, the proposed plan is "very weak" even though it has "possibilities."

Katzen and his committee will meet with Donovan at 2 p.m. today to discuss the plan further.

Under the present SCCA plan, students would be able to cash any check from $5 to $35 for a fee of 10 cents to 35 cents, depending on the amount of the check.

Checks up to $125 would be honored, Katzen said, if they were drawn on the government, a corporation, the University or town merchants.

The only identification needed, he said, would be the student's matriculation card.

The SCCA would be open Monday through Saturday afternoons and probably all day on big weekends and during Orientation Week, Katzen said.

It would be run, he said, on a plan similar to the Book Exchange, with candidates, training board, sophomore board, junior board, senior board and a board of control.

Prof Snarf Nominations Open Today

Nominations will begin today for Professor Snarf, the "most lovable prof" on campus.

Nominating blanks will be available from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday. Students may obtain the blanks in Sparks, Burrows, Forestry, Recreation Hall, Sackett, Home Economics, White Hall, Osmond and Boucke.

From the professors nominated, nine finalists will be chosen—one from each college. Students only can nominate professors on the faculty of the college in which they are enrolled.

Voting for the finalists will begin next Tuesday. One vote will cost a penny, 11 votes a dime, and 150 votes a dollar.

Town merchants will give prizes to the professors winning first, second and third places.

According to Joyce Basch, junior in Liberal Arts from Scranton, students should base their choice for nomination on the professor's personality, teaching and lecturing ability, and his friendly attitude toward the students.

Proceeds from the contest will go to the World University Service, which aids students in foreign countries.

Floyd Greer, sophomore in business administration from Coraopolis, and Miss Basch are co-chairmen of the contest.

Senior Advisory Board Will Accept Applications

Juniors interested in serving on the Senior Class Advisory Board next year should submit a letter of application to the HUB desk by noon Saturday.

The letter must include a list of activities, curriculum and All-University average.

Pizza Trucks Lose Over $300 in Thefts

Home Delivery Pizza has been the victim of food thefts amounting to over $300 within the last few weeks due to people breaking into the delivery truck at its stopping places on campus and in town.

Frank Defluri, manager of Home Delivery Pizza, said he has lost $337 within the last 10 days, and within the past two weeks has lost more from thefts than he was made in profit selling pizza.

One night last week, he said, two trucks were hit in five minutes. Another night, the truck was broken into on its 8:15 p.m. delivery in the West Halls area, the 9 p.m. delivery at Nittany and the late delivery in front of McElwain.

Defluri said he doesn't care so much about the money he is losing as he does about the students either getting their orders late or not at all. Last Tuesday night, he said, nine pizzas and $18.50 worth of short orders were stolen within 45 minutes.

After a theft, Defluri must first find out what is stolen, then prepare and redeliver orders. All this takes time, he said, and is bad for business.

He said borough police in cooperation with State police have been watching his truck lately. His trucks have been broken into by breaking windows and locks on the door.

Defluri has even tried taking football players along in the truck for protection, but says this has not helped. "They must know when there are two in the truck," he said.

The worst area seems to be in the parking lot behind Jordan and Thompson, Defluri reported, but thefts have occurred everywhere. Defluri says he believes there is a ring that first steals the pizza and then delivers it to its original destination, keeping the money paid for themselves.

Gridders Add VMI To Fill Home Slate

Virginia Military Institute has been added to the Penn State football schedule next fall according to an announcement by Director of Athletics Ernest B. McCoy.

VMI fills a previous vacancy on the grid schedule on the date of Saturday, Sept. 26. The game will be played on Beaver Field and will be the opening home contest for the 1959 Nittany Lions.

The two teams have never met on the gridiron before and the current commitment is for one year, but it has been reported that negotiations may be made for a 2-game series running through 1960. Penn State has an open date on Sept. 24, 1960.

The addition of VMI to the Nittany Lion home schedule will mark the first time Penn State has scheduled more than four home games in a season since 1952.

VMI in an all male military college in Lexington, Virginia and is a regular member of the Southern Conference, which includes West Virginia and Furman, who were both opponents of the Lion gridgers last fall. The Keydets' football rating has been steadily rising and they have been on top of the Southern Conference for the last two years.

Three other new opponents will appear on the Lion's schedule next fall—Missouri, Colgate and Illinois.

The Nittanians will travel to Missouri to take on the Tigers in the season's opener Sept. 19. Colgate will provide the Beaver Field opposition in the Lions' second home game Oct. 3. Three weeks later the Blue and White pigskinners meet the Illini in Champaign, Illinois.

Other games slated for Beaver Field next fall are Boston University, Oct. 17, Syracuse, Nov. 7 and Holy Cross, Nov. 14. Army, on Oct. 10, West Virginia, Oct. 31 and Pitt, Nov. 21 round out the Lions' traveling schedule.