

24,000 OF THEM—Marby's that is. Delta Tau Delta fraternity collected the Marlboro cigarette packages in order to win a stereophonic hi-fi set. Robert Schimmel is the swimmer among the packs.

Leonides Nominates Outstanding Women

By PAT DYER

Nominations for the outstanding independent woman of the year were made last night by Leonides Council.

Barbara Barniker, junior in education for Harwick; Margaret Orchard, junior in psychology from Maplewood, N.J.; and Barbara Marcus, senior in education from Bethlehem were the final nominees for the award which will be announced at the AIM-Leonides banquet, to be held May 13 at the Eutaw House.

Voting for the outstanding independent was completed last night. Candidates were nominated by the Leonides Council on the basis of service to the University and to Leonides.

Barbara Barniker, chairman of the joint planning commission for Leonides, announced the calendar for next year. Independent Encampment is set for September 26 and 27. Indie Week will be from October 25 to 31 and will climax with the Autumn Ball on October 31.

On February 13 Leonides will sponsor a bluebook jam session, admission to which will be one bluebook. Special informal parties are planned for all big weekend Saturday nights, and movies in the various dorm units are being considered, Miss Barniker said.

The Council voted to contribute $25 to the World University Service drive to be held May 10 to 17.

Margaret Orchard, chairman of the Mother's Day breakfast, presented final plans for the event to be held Sunday in McElwain Lounge. All independent women and their guests are invited to the free buffet.

Final plans for the AIM-Leonides banquet were presented by Barbara Barniker, chairman of the Leonides committee. All tickets must be picked up at the Hetzel Union desk by 5 p.m. Thursday.

Dr. Henry Finch, professor of philosophy will be the speaker at the banquet. Awards will be presented to the outstanding independent woman, to old and new Leonides and AIM officers, and to the Leonides Scholarship winner.

Carol Frank, president of Leonides, announced appointments for 1959-60.

Lil Davenport, sophomore in education from Collingdale will be WRA chairman; Rita Saltzer, outgoing Leonides president, will be Indie Encampment chairman; and Mary Ann Gantor, junior in business administration from Bethel Park, will be Leonides chairman for the Dink Debut held during Orientation Week.

Judy Will Reign--

(Continued from page one)
gar, Barbara Simon, Nancy Sloan, Janice Smith, Penelope Snyder, Janet Stakel, Carole Young and Carole Zielke.

The queen will be crowned by Miss Donovan. The Neu Baryrischen Schuhplattlers will do the traditional maypole dance.

COLOR PRINTS FOR $3053.68

Yes, if you ordered 6232 color prints, they'd cost you $3053.68, (that's really quite a bargain, too). BUT, now you can get one color ENLARGEMENT, FREE, with every two rolls of color film developed. There are lavish, lifelike color enlargements — a dead-ringer for your lovely slides and negatives.

TAKE COLOR PICTURES! THEY'RE FUN

The Centre County Film Lab

106 W. Beaver Ave. State College

Experimental Theatre Will Present Three Plays in 'Grand Guignol' Style

By ZANDY SLOSSON

The experimental theatre will present three one-act plays in the "grand guignol" style May 12 and 13 in the Little Theatre, in the basement of Old Main.

Guignol is an attempt to recreate the particular type of theatrical entertainment of Paris that deals with themes of violence, supernatural, crime and horror. It is famous for its theatrical effects, principally make-up.

The brutalities and maimings of crime and killing are acted on the stage with all the gruesome realities made possible by the special make-up effects.

Guignol theatre is especially famous for a woman's face pushed in the fire, severed wrists and poked out eyes.

The experimental theatre group will attempt to reproduce the make-up effects in the French style as the actual methods are kept a secret.

The three plays that will be presented are: "Weekend Cottage" and "Coals of Fire," by Frederick Witney, a writer for the British Guignol theatre, and "Sweeney Todd" or "The Demon Barber of Fleet Street," as it is sub-titled. The latter play was originally written by George Dubdin Pitt and the experimental theatre presentation was adapted by Marvin Katz, junior in theatre arts from Drexel Hill.

"Weekend Cottage" is the story of a lonely love nest terrorized by two thugs. George Vince and Floyd Santoro will play the thugs and the couple will be played by Helen Blumenfeld and Christopher Hostetter.

"Coals of Fire" is the picture of torture of a young woman by her employer, an ugly blind woman who knows the woman has been sleeping with her husband.

The woman will be played by Helen Cummings and the employer by Norma Vernesoni.

"Sweeney Todd" is an old legend of a barber that lived on Fleet Street who did away with customers by 'unusual methods'. Tobias Ragg, Sweeney's unfortunate apprentice, is played by Lynn Weiner; Tobias' mother, by Carol Rosenthal; Captain Mark Ingistril, one of Sweeney's victims, by Therston Cosner; Mrs. Lovett, Sweeney's accomplice, by Grace Ferrari; Jean Parmine, a lapidary, by William Boyer, and the policeman, by Christopher Hostetter.

Experimental theater is a Theatre Department subsidiary that is set up to further experiments in theatre.

A board of directors is established each year to process and accept applications for financial backing for a production. This year's board is composed of: Kelly Yeaton and Warren Smith, professors of theatre arts, Janice Champagne, graduate student in theatre arts and Berry Wilder, an undergraduate.

76 Riders Compete Without the 'Rains'

For the first time in eight years, spectators at the Penn State Riding Show were able to watch the contests without sitting under umbrellas.

Over 76 contestants competed in western, English and team classes all day Saturday and Sunday at the riding stables in sunny weather.

Top honors in the team division were won by Penn Hall School for Girls, Chambersburg. The Penn State Riding Team placed second, and Grier School for Girls, Tyrone, placed third.

Elizabeth Hoopes, senior in elementary education from Montrose, won first prize in the western division. Marilyn Painter, senior in animal husbandry from Pittsburgh who placed second in the western division, also won top honors in the clover leaf race.

Emily Katz, sophomore in general agriculture from White Plains, N.Y., won the jumper championship in the English horse division.

Peggy Hall, a Penn Hall student, placed first in the hunter division. Reserved hunter champion was Merrillat Frost, freshman in animal husbandry from Allendale, N.Y.

The bareback riding contest was won by Finley Greer from Grier Girls School. The winner of this contest had to ride bareback while sitting on a silver dollar. As each contestant lost his dollar, he was disqualified and the dollar was added to the prize money. Miss Greer won $14.

The show was dedicated to Capt. Gregory Gagarin who has been in charge of riding activities here for 13 years. Capt. Gagarin plans to retire at the end of this year.

Credit Staff Meeting

7 p.m.

TUESDAY

215 Willard

Bring Ball Point Pen

Make it a happy Mother's Day

place your orders early

State College Floral Shoppe

127 W. BEAVER AVE. AD 7-2342

SCHLOW'S

PRESENT

Gift Selection For

MOTHER

from $1.00 to $25.00

- Keyser Gloves
- Sheffield Watches
- Judy Bond Blouses
- Luxite Lingerie
- Fine Straw Purses
- Hanes and Nomend Hosiery (proportioned length)
- Beautiful Embroidered Hankies and Scarves
- Bermuda Sweaters

SCHLOW'S Quality Shop, Inc.

Across From Old Main