

Lawrence May Veto Betting Referendum

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence said yesterday he would veto legislation calling for a referendum on legalized parimutual horse race betting if the referendum would conflict with the November election.

Truman Tells Congress to Up Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman told Congress yesterday not to cut foreign aid, but instead set up a bigger program on a longer basis—and then vigilantly police it.

At his salty best, the former president and onetime senator advised congressmen, some of whom are bent on cuts, that the time to reduce mutual security is when "you feel the situation is so bad you first cut congressional salaries."

As for reports of maladministration here and there, Truman reminded the House Foreign Affairs Committee he had been referred to "as the No. 1 s.o.b. in the United States government because I kept looking into things."

"If you'll excuse my bragging," he said, the Senate War Spending Investigating Committee he headed was credited with saving 15 billion dollars.

In a largely nonpartisan talk, Truman generally defended a program at least as large as President Eisenhower's $3,930,000,000 proposal. He said "most thinking people in both parties" agreed basically on foreign aid, although not "the American Firsters and the Chicago Tribune."

He even acknowledged the foreign aid support of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress of 1947-48, with which he scrapped on domestic issues.

Expulsion of Pasternak Called 'Trivial Affair'

COPENHAGEN (AP)—The expulsion of Nobel Prize winner Boris Pasternak from the Soviet Writers' Union, was "a trivial affair which everybody in the West may forget within a few years," says Soviet author Mikhail Sholochov.

Pasternak's disputed novel "Dr. Zhivago" was "artistically a weak book," the visiting author told a news conference.

Schools Told To Integrate

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A federal appeals court pushed the reluctant State of Virginia farther along the school integration road yesterday.

In a reversal of a District Court decision allowing Prince Edward County a seven-year grace period, the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the rural southside county to prepare to admit qualified Negroes to white schools in September.

The Prince Edward case, which has been in the federal courts since 1951, was one of the five that figured in the U.S. Supreme Court's historic desegregation decision of May 17, 1954.

Jordan Prime Minister Resigns, Pleads Ill Health

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Samir Rifai, the pro-western strongman behind King Hussein's often shaky throne, resigned as prime minister yesterday pleading ill health.

The action may foreshadow restoration of closer relations with the United Arab Republic.

The King apparently felt his own hold on the country was strong enough to accept the resignation, which came as a surprise. He had refused several times before to let Rifai step down.

Hussein asked Hazza Majali, minister of court, to form a new government. He already has begun consultations. Majali said he expects to complete formation of a new government today.

In a royal letter, Hussein instructed Majali to maintain the present anti-Communist policy and seek friendly relations with sister Arab states.

The new Premier is known for his pro-Western policies. He was prime minister once before, for less than a week. Forming his government at that time he advocated joining the Baghdad Pact.

His brief tenure, in December 1955, ended when street mobs raged through Amman demanding Jordan side with U.A.R. President Gamel Abdel Nasser and stay out of the Baghdad Pact.

Jordanian membership in the pact is now considered out of the question since Iraq no longer belongs.

"If the bill provides for a referendum at the general election this fall I will veto it," Lawrence told his weekly news conference.

He referred to a measure sent to the floor of the House yesterday by the Law and Order Committee. It would allow the referendum to be put on the ballot at the November general election.

"I'll not sign a bill like that," Lawrence asserted.

"It would interfere with the election," he added.

"I will not have it (the referendum bill) interfere with the general election," Lawrence said.

Meanwhile, Rep. Charles J. Mills (D-Westmoreland), chairman of the Law and Order Committee, said the bill would be changed to conform to the governor's position.

"We'll have it amended," said Mills. "We'll amend it on the floor Wednesday to put it (the referendum) off until the Primary Election in 1960."

The measure could come to a final vote next Monday with amendments.

Mills predicted there would be more than the necessary 106 House votes to put the bill through.

Munford Chosen To Head US Steel

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. directors yesterday elected a 58-year-old New Englander, Walter F. Munford, as president of the nation's largest steel producer.

Munford, advancing from executive vice president for engineering and research, also becomes Big Steel's chief administrative officer.

Roger Blough, 55, board chairman, remains as the corporation's chief executive officer.

A native of Worcester, Mass., Munford succeeds Clifford F. Hood, U.S. Steel president since 1953. Hood's retirement after reaching 65 years of age was announced Monday.

According to the latest figure, approximately 1.5 million people enter the work force of the United States annually. Eighty per cent of these working men and women read a newspaper every day.
