

Prexy Says Centers Are 'Important'

President Eric A. Walker last night told more than 35 administrative and advisory board heads he looks upon the system of Commonwealth campuses as "important academic outposts of the University's total educational program."

He said the Commonwealth might profitably utilize the system to "erect a collegiate system for meeting its future educational needs."

Walker made the statement at a dinner meeting attended by the 14 administrative heads of the campuses and from one to three members of the advisory boards of the campuses.

The advisory boards are composed of local merchants, professional men and industrial leaders of the community in which the campus is located.

The meeting was the second of weekly-scheduled sessions to be attended by the campus heads under Kenneth L. Holderman, newly-appointed coordinator of Commonwealth campuses.

Walker explained that under the new policy "the authority and responsibility of the director will be broadened and deepened so that he might serve essentially in the same capacity as the dean of a college."

"This means, among other things," the President said, "that he will have closer ties and more direct lines of communication with the administrative officers at University Park, and that he will be given increased authority for the academic performance of the faculty under his administration."

He said that Continuing Education Services (formerly Education Extension) will still be available throughout the state as well as at the campuses.

Walker said this was significant since few junior colleges in other states have been able to provide this service because they lacked the faculty facilities and the orientation for them.

On the financial aspects of the anticipated expansion of facilities, he said each community will be expected, to whatever extent possible, to subscribe to the costs.

(Continued on page eight)

A FUTURE PILOT? Clarence Lohr, 224 Locust Lane, enjoys an ice cream cone as he pretends he is a pilot in the ejection seat of a jet. The display is part of the Armed Forces Day exhibit in the Hetzel Union cardroom.

—Collegian Photo by John Beauge

Exhibition Features Missiles, Torpedoes

Models and pictures of missiles, torpedoes and aircraft equipment are being displayed in the Hetzel Union cardroom in the Armed Forces Week exhibit.

The exhibit will be open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. today and 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow.

A mobile radar operations center will be shown in the

Graham Reported In Good Condition

James Graham, junior in division of counseling from Pittsburgh, was reported in good condition at Centre County Hospital yesterday after being shot in his left thigh during a shooting spree early Sunday morning.

Graham was wounded by James Byers, 20, freshman in division of counseling from State College, with a .22 caliber target pistol when Byers returned to a backyard party seeking revenge after being verbally ejected earlier in the evening.

Formal charges will be pressed against Byers at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Hospital authorities said no date has been set for Graham's release.

HUB parking lot by the 112th Aircraft Control and Warning Flight of the Pennsylvania Air National Guard.

A jet survival suit or a "G" suit is part of the Air Force exhibit in the HUB. The suit is used to protect a jet pilot from extreme gravity pressures when his plane is diving or climbing.

A model of the Sidewinder missile which was used in the Korean War is also being displayed. It is a supersonic air-to-air guided missile which seeks out the heat of enemy aircraft. The missile was developed by the Navy and gets its name from the snake-like path that it travels.

A Mark 27 acoustic torpedo which is electrically propelled is being exhibited by the Ordnance Research Laboratory. This torpedo is a recent development and is contrasted with the Mark 24 mine which was used in World War II. The Mark 24 mine was the first American torpedo to steer on a noise target.

Haller, Raymond and Brown, Inc. of State College have a Check-Off Annunciator in the exhibit. It is a safety device which informs the pilot which controls have been correctly set before going through various maneuvers such as taking off or landing.

Films on the Armed Forces will also be shown from 2 to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow in the HUB Assembly Room.

The Armed Forces Day parade will take place at 7 p.m. tomorrow. The parade will travel through campus and on College Ave.

Sunny Weather Predicted Today

Sunny and comfortable weather should prevail for the next three days.

Today should be sunny and warm with a slight chance of afternoon showers. The high temperature will be 76 degrees.

Clear skies and cool temperatures are likely tonight as the mercury drops to 52 degrees.

Partly cloudy and warm weather should continue tomorrow with the threat of afternoon showers continuing. The high will be about 80 degrees.

Seating Dispute Deadlocks Summit

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers conference deadlocked yesterday over a Soviet proposal to seat Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia as full participants.

The ministers wrangled inconclusively for more than an hour, then adjourned with the dispute unsettled. The Soviets announced they intend to bring up the issue again today.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko advanced the new proposition for enlarging the conference in the wake of his quick defeat Monday at the opening session on a demand for admittance of Communist East Germany as a full negotiator.

Gromyko insisted that Poland and Czechoslovakia must be included as a tribute to their sufferings from German aggression.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and his British and French colleagues balked. They urged that the Big Four get on with the Berlin and German issues. They suggested that Poles and Czechs might be called in later during discussion of points of specific interest to them.

"The meeting ended with the matter still up in the air," U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Andrew Berding announced later.

Herter, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville each challenged the Soviet idea.

The second formal session at the Palace of Nations, with Gromyko as the day's chairman, lasted 93 minutes.

The argument could tie up the conference in a lengthy procedural wrangle. But Berding said "We hope the problem is closed."

On the other hand Gromyko's deputy, Valerian Zorin, told newsmen: "The Soviet Union will insist on a positive decision on this problem. We consider that the success of the whole conference will to a large extent depend on the decision."

There was no sign that Herter, Lloyd and Couve de Murville would relent.

In his first speech at the Big Four conference, the lanky American statesman urged the conference to get on with the discussions on Germany and Berlin.

IFC Names & Committee Chairmen

Chairmen of eight Interfraternity Council committees have been announced by Gary Gentzler, president.

Also announced was the appointment of John Nelson, sophomore in arts and letters from Westfield, N.J., as chaplain.

Still to be announced are chairmen of the Board of Control and IFC workshops committee.

Appointed chairman of the rushing committee was Dundas Orr, sophomore in business administration from Stanford, Conn.

John Koshak, junior in music education from Portage, was appointed chairman of the cultural committee.

Chairman of the public relations committee will be John Yamulla, sophomore in business administration from Hazleton.

Clarence Lane, sophomore in dairy science from Walton, N.Y., was appointed chairman of the safety committee.

Named chairman of transfer open houses was Richard McMahon, junior in industrial engineering from Ridgeway, N.J.

Gerald Abrams, sophomore in business administration from Harrisburg, was named chairman of the publications committee.

Ronald Dietz, sophomore in Dairy Science from Klingerstown, was appointed chairman of the scholarship committee.

Chester Lucido, sophomore in business administration from Bethel Park, was appointed chairman of the Christmas parties committee.

The appointments are subject to approval by the IFC Executive Committee.

Six Workshops Set For 8th Encampment

Six workshops have been set for the eighth annual Student Encampment to be held Sept. 9, 10 and 11 at the Mont Alto School of Forestry.

The workshops and their chairmen are: Off Campus Living Problems, Harold Sandstrom and Robert Parsky; Effects of University Expansion Upon the Student Body, Jay Hawley; Academic Affairs and Curricula Revisions, Carol Frank; Functions and Responsibilities of the New Student Government Association, Jessie Janjigian; Student Conduct, Theodore Pauloski; and Motivation of School Spirit, Lanney Day.

About 90 students and 30 faculty members and townspeople will attend the 3-day affair. Sixty students will attend the encampment by the position they hold while 30 others will be selected from interviews.

The Cabinet Personnel Interviewing Committee will conduct interviews tonight and tomorrow for students who applied for encampment membership. Results of the interviews will be announced next week.

Encampment Chairman William Jaffe said a seventh workshop topic may be added at a later date. In past encampments, workshops have numbered six or seven.

The Off-Campus Living Problems workshop will discuss deferred rushing, fraternity expansion, town living conditions, town relations, student tax problems and other fraternity-independent problems.

The Effects of University Expansion Upon the Student Body workshop will discuss current

(Continued on page eight)

Prowlers Suspected Near Girls' Dorms

By JIM STROTHMAN

A group of men caused some excitement between 4:30 and 5 a.m. Sunday at the women's residence halls, by cutting a few screens and possibly gaining entrance into McElwain.

Prowlers were reported to night hostesses in Simmons, McElwain and Cross halls and campus police were summoned to Cross Hall after noises were heard by girls in the dormitories. The following morning a screen was found cut in McElwain and another in Cross.

Mrs. Marion H. Barrett, head hostess for McElwain Hall, said the men were not actually seen in the dormitory but mischievous damage found the next morning made it appear as if they had gained entrance. Things were scattered around, she said, although no extensive damage was reported.

McElwain occupants reported name tags which were supposed to be attached to doors scattered around the first and third floors and items in the third floor kitchen scattered on the floor. A first floor phone had its wires cut along with other general mischief.

Campus Police Chief Lucien E. Bolduc said those involved are as yet unidentified but he is working on the case. No estimate was given for damages.

Authorities are more concerned with where and how they entered the dormitories if entrance was made. The McElwain screen was cut on a first floor bathroom window and the men could have easily entered the window without setting off any alarms.