

Editorial Opinion

Extended Library Hours

Students will need a lot of studying room in the next 2 1/2 weeks and one place it should be supplied is the Pattee Library.

The increase in studiers calls for an extension of the library closing hours.

Ralph McComb, University librarian, complied to some extent with an All-University Cabinet request to extend hours last semester. Cabinet asked for a midnight closing time, but McComb granted only an 11 p.m. extension.

About 250 students can be accommodated in the four first floor rooms which remained open during the extra hour. This is a small amount of space compared to what is needed. But it did help.

McComb said the extended hours create a big personnel problem. He said only a few employees were willing to work the extra time since many had final examinations to study for themselves. Others just did not want to work later than 10 p.m.

McComb said yesterday that this problem still exists and no decision has been made concerning later hours for this semester.

The library should serve the needs of the student body. Overcrowded conditions during the final examination period is evidence that there is a need for later hours.

Although the personnel problem cannot be ignored, a special effort should be made to accommodate the later hour studiers. A skeleton staff was in charge during last semester's finals; this should be done again.

Influential Discussions

The 90 some students to be chosen within the next several days to attend Student Encampment in September will have a lot to say about the future of student government and the University expansion.

Two of the main topics for Encampment will be "Effects of the University Expansion on the Student Body" and "Responsibilities of the New Student Government Association." Also related to the expansion topic will be discussions on off-campus living.

A big responsibility rests with the six workshop chairmen. They must create good discussion topics to make Encampment the success it has been in recent years.

A Student-Operated Newspaper

The Daily Collegian

Successor to The Free Lance, est 1887

Published Tuesday through Saturday morning during the University year. The Daily Collegian is a student-operated newspaper. Entered as second-class matter July 5, 1914 at the State College, Pa Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879.

Mail Subscription Price: $3.00 per semester - $5.00 per year.

DENNIS MALICK Editor

GEORGE McTURK Business Manager

Managing Editor, William Jaffe; Assistant Editor, Catherine Flock; Public Relations Director, Lelli Neubarth; Copy Editor, Roberta Levine; Sports Editor, Sandy Padwe; Assistant Sports Editor, John Black; Photography Editor, Martin Scherr; Member, Board of Editors, Robert Thompson.

Local Ad Mgr., Sherry Kennel; Asst. Local Ad Mgr., Darlene Anderson; Credit Mgr., Mary Ann Zittle; National Ad Mgr., Lella Uhler; Classified Ad Mgr., Sara Brown; Co-Circulation Mgr., Loretta Mink, Murray Simon; Promotion Mgr., Ruth Briggs; Special Mgr., Alice Mahachek; Personnel Mgr., Dorothy Smeal; Office Secretary, Bonnie Bailey; Research and Records, Margaret Dimperlo.

STAFF THIS ISSUE: Night Editor, Jim Moran; Copy Editor, Barb Yunk; Wire Editor, Susie Linkroum; Assistants: Rona Nathanson, Edie Beck, Jim Serrill, Corlie Lewis, Joel Mycia, Karen Shallcross, Paula Dranov, Diane Still.

Letters

Reader Backs WUS Drive

TO THE EDITOR: This is the second annual Prof. Snarf contest which will end on Friday. The proceeds have been allocated to the World University Service.

What is this organization and what would they do with the money to be collected from the contest and the fund-raising drive?

WUS is an international organization which began as a European Relief Agency for students in 1919; it now has branches in 43 countries. Its main objective is to help students all over the world to help themselves.

This is primarily a mutual assistance program. The basic belief underlying such a program is that the leaders of the world of tomorrow are on the campuses today. By guaranteeing them a better and sounder education we would be doing our part to ensure a better future—not only for ourselves but for generations after us.

It's very easy for those of us who are lucky to be studying in a university like Penn State, where the slogan "You Can Get It At Metzgers" is very popular, to forget that our colleagues in other lands do not have the same opportunities.

In the first place, they are a minority with a heavy responsibility of leadership. They cannot adequately meet this challenge of leadership if they have to struggle with disease and hunger as well as a lack of textbooks.

In Indonesia where the students are very anxious to study and take their places in their society, the lack of textbooks is a great handicap. In southeast Asia, there are hundreds of students suffering from tuberculosis. Their governments cannot afford to build enough TB sanitariums to take care of the students. Can you imagine yourself trying to study and at the same time suffering from TB?

A third need is housing. We do grumble about the housing conditions here and we tend to be very choosy but we have to remember that we are far better off than thousands of students in other lands who live under very poor conditions.

Another important need is for scholarship aid. In the Union of South Africa, there is only one university that admits Africans to their medical school. These students need help and the students in that university have taken it upon themselves to get up a fund to help the Africans—the majority of the students in this university are white. They can't do as much as they would like to do—they need outside help.

The World University Service has taken upon itself to help the students in these areas and many more. It sends mimeograph machines to student groups, provides textbooks, builds TB sanitariums and hostels for the students as well as provides funds to support the scholarship aid in the University of Waterland (S. Africa).

WUS does not have any specific budget except that collected by students on their campuses through campaigns such as the one going on now at Penn State. It is our duty and obligation that WUS carries on the program of student self-help.

Support the drive by voting for Professor Snarf or contributing individually to the drive. In the U.S., WUS is sponsored by the following organizations: National Newman Club Federation, U.S. National Student Association, United Student Christian Council, B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations.

Vote in the Professor "Snarf" Contest and help educate the leaders of tomorrow. WUS committeeman - Jacob Dentu, '60. HOSPITAL Charles Antlosky, William Barnett, Albert Bailey, Harry Beans, Brenda Berkowitz, Sandra Biber, Suzanne Bittinger, Charles Boster, Harry Cooper, Carl Drasher, Charles Engle, Lee R. Erickson, Helen Ferri, Caroline Gillespie, Lois Greenberg, Barbara Hackman, Anthony Hager, Mary Isaacs, Subagio Ismaun, Ariene Kaplan, Lewis Kesselman, Michal Messersmith, Gerald Milosevich, Louise Muhlbeck, James Mullin, Eleanor Rarig, John Redmond, Alice Rorabaugh, Barbara Van Sant, Albert Veri, John Vinney, Judith Welsh.

Little Man on Campus by Dick Bibler

"—Because I'm skipping classes today an' I don't want any of these profs to recognize me."

from here to infinity Oh No! It's a Not'a Spagett! by bob thompson

Why do they always serve spaghetti at fraternity-sorority mixer dinners? And why is it that banquets always manage to have chicken—either fried or roasted—as the principal bill of fare?

We're in favor of a change. It's not only sloppy eating but it's downright tiring to play rumpelstiltskin with a spoon, fork and spaghetti noodles.

No matter how careful one is in twirling the doughy, messy morsels around one's fork, he always manages to have a loose end or so dangling down on his chin as he fills his mouth.

THOMPSON

We're beginning to think that maybe the laundry guild is behind putting spaghetti on most menus. We have found few people who are able to get through a bout with the noodles without getting some sauce on their shirt or tie.

We know of a preventative for sauce splashing. It's a fold-up four-in-hand tie that, when unfolded, is a stylish spaghetti bib. You can get the items in either plaids, repp stripes, or chali patterns.

There is another product on the market that takes some of the work out of spaghetti suppers. It's the pivoting fork. All you have to do is hold the fork in your hand and twirl the tongs. It makes eating spaghetti as easy as reeling in fish.

The only cure to the sauce splashing menace now is to cut the spaghetti before trying to spear it with your fork. Even this has its drawbacks. The Italian delicacy takes on the appearance of the Chinese staple and it's still as hard to eat.

And besides that, eating cut-up spaghetti certainly is far from being in the vogue. It's like eating corn-on-the-cob after cutting it off the cob.

Then there's fried chicken that always manages to turn up at the low-overhead banquets. For this encounter one is always dressed to kill, and stuffed into the banquet table like a sardine.

We must admit, however, that fried chicken presents more of a challenge as far as getting messed up goes. Now, not only is it possible to mess up one's own cuffs and shirt, but with good aim and a little bit of luck one can splatter the person to his right and left.

Gazette

TODAY Agriculture Extension Program Committee, 7 p.m., 218 HUB Bridge Club, 6:30 p.m., HUB cardroom Christian Fellowship, 12:30 p.m., 218 HUB C.P.I.C., 7 p.m., 212 HUB Froth Executive Staff, 7:30 p.m., 218 HUB Gamma Sigma Sigma, 6:15 p.m., HUB assembly room Home Economics Extension, 1 p.m., 214 HUB I.C.C.B., 7 p.m., 215 HUB Mineral Industries Student Council, 8 p.m., 214 HUB News and Views, 6:45 p.m., 14 Home Economics Pennsylvania Dairy Industry Committee, 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., 218 HUB Phi Kappa Phi, 5:15 p.m., HUB assembly room Plate Glass Research Movies, 4:15 p.m., Mineral Sciences auditorium Varsity "B" Banquet, 6:30 p.m., HUB dining room G

WDFM

THURSDAY NIGHT 6:55 Sign-On & News 7:00 Potpourri 7:30 Album Review 7:55 Pennsylvania News 8:00 Starlight Review 8:55 Sports News 9:00 Just New in Music 9:15 Washington Reports 9:30 Rho Tau Sigma Presents 9:55 Campus News 10:00 Background 10:05 Chamber Concert 11:30 Sign-Off FRIDAY NIGHT 6:55 Sign-On & News 7:00 Guest DJ 7:30 Folk Music 7:55 Pennsylvania News 8:00 This is the Subject 8:55 Sports News 9:00 Music of the Nations 9:30 Call from London 9:45 Meet the Varsity 9:55 Campus News 10:00 Background 10:05 Light Classical Jukebox 11:30 Sign-Off