

6 Speakers Chosen For Competition

Six finalists have been chosen for the John Henry Frizzell Extempore Speaking Contest.

The finalists are Emily Bradley, Sheila Cohen, Mary Ann Ganter, Joan Kemp, Jacqueline Leavitt and Marilyn West.

The final competition will take place 7 p.m. Monday in 110 Electrical Engineering.

The contest is sponsored by the Department of Speech in honor of Frizzell, formerly University chaplain and head of the Department of Speech. He retired in 1946 with the rank of emeritus.

The finalists will speak on a different topic than the ones used in the elimination meetings which were held last Monday.

Miss Bradley has chosen "No Strings Attached"; Miss Cohen, "Progressiveness, Here We Come"; Miss Ganter, "Don't Kid Yourself"; Miss Kemp, "Christian Herter—Man of the Hour"; Miss Leavitt, "Clothes for Climbing"; and Miss West, "Apathetic Americans."

Each finalist will speak from 8 to 10 minutes on her topic.

First prize in the contest is $50 and the John Henry Frizzell award of merit. Second prize is $25 and the award of merit.

Frizzell will be honorary chairman at the finals and will present the awards.

Men's Dorms Program To Include Field Events

The Nittany and West Hall Field Day programs will be held from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. today.

The Nittany program, to be held on Nittany Field, will include competition ranging from track events to a frisby throw. The West Halls program, which will be held on Intramural Field, will include various events.

Music Group To Go National

The Louise Homer Club will become the 82nd chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary fraternity, which is a member of the Professional Pan-Hellenic Association.

The chapter name will be Alpha Theta.

Members of the Psi chapter at Bucknell will initiate the new members in ceremonies today in Carnegie Hall.

Those to be initiated are: Mary Rohrbach, president; Judy Stasch, vice president; Joan Elser, recording secretary; Dorothy Williams, corresponding secretary; Marie Aquilina, Sandra Sliker, Antoinette Monastero, Mary Ann Zook, Sonja Brown, Gale Leister, Mona Sweet, Harriet Slamp, Virginia Mensch, Annette Saurino, June Morrini, Ruth Thompson, Carole Young, Georgene Cooper, Carole Shollenberger, Eleanor Hansen, Marjorie Brewster, Anna Belle Snyder, Elizabeth Taylor, Carole Toklish, and Dr. Frances Andrews and Mrs. Bertha Maraffie, faculty members.

Two Councils Plan September Mixer

The Home Economics Student Council will hold a combined mixer with the Business Administration Student Council on September 16 of Orientation week.

The mixer was approved at the council meeting Tuesday. Linda Miller and Linda Brinsley were named co-chairmen of the home economics program during Orientation Week.

Helen Skade, president of Mortar Board, resigned her position as member of the council. Judith Heckert, president of the council, appointed Pat Niedbala, junior from Hamburg, N.Y., to replace her. Judith Geary, freshman from Williamsport was appointed student faculty board alternate.

Mansfield Urges End To U.S. Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) proposed yesterday halting all foreign economic aid other than loans within three years.

He also urged reductions in military aid and said secrecy labels should be stripped from the amounts given each country.

Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader, said "time is running out on foreign aid" and the

Atomic Plane Was Quarles' Last Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last decision Donald A. Quarles made before he died a week ago was to make an appeal to President Eisenhower to push development of an atomic-powered airplane.

This word was given yesterday by Lt. Gen. Roscoe C. Wilson, Air Force deputy chief of staff for development.

Wilson said the final technical obstacle to construction of an experimental nuclear-powered plane has been overcome. This, he said, involved shielding of crew and equipment from radiation.

He declined to say how the shielding problem was solved. But he said that if go-ahead funds are obtained "it shouldn't take many years for the nuclear-powered airplane to be in the air."

Wilson digressed from a prepared speech before the Aviation Writers Assn. to make mention of Quarles, deputy secretary of defense who died in his sleep last Friday of a heart ailment.

Wilson said that "Secretary Quarles' last decision was that the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission would appeal to the President for the power to expedite nuclear aircraft development."

program must be drastically curtailed if it is to continue.

Unless this is done, and economic aid is shifted from gifts to loans, he told the Senate, the next session of Congress "may well see a tide of public reaction so strong it will swamp the entire undertaking."

Most of Mansfield's proposal, except for elimination of secrecy classifications, would go into effect July 1, 1960, although it would be written into the bill carrying funds for the year starting next July 1.

President Eisenhower has asked $3.9 billion for all foreign aid next year.

The principal proposal would require the administration to submit next year a detailed plan for progressive yearly reduction of grants or gifts for defense support and economic assistance.

Mansfield specified such grants should reach "zero for each such nation over a maximum three-year period."

Military aid, for which the President is asking $1 billion for the year starting July 1, would be continued under Mansfield's proposal, but on a reduced basis.

Grants for defense supports, for which Eisenhower is asking $35 million dollars for fiscal 1960, would be eliminated entirely by June 30, 1963.

Stock Market Declines

NEW YORK (AP)—News that leading banks had boosted interest rates upset the stock market yesterday. It declined under a wave of late selling.

Steel Talks Now Emphasize Basic Issues

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel wage talks that could have a strong bearing on the nation's economy got down to bedrock issues yesterday.

"We're really in basic discussions now," said David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers president, after a two-hour bargaining session between four-man management and union teams.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, said the teams had "good exploratory discussions."

But as the talks recessed until Tuesday, neither would elaborate on what was discussed.

The union announced at the beginning of the talks May 5 that it would seek substantial wage increases and shorter working hours among other proposals.

Failure to reach an agreement by June 30 when the present three-year contract expires could lead to a strike by half a million steelworkers and cut off 90 percent of the nation's steel production.

President Eisenhower has counseled against any settlement that would spur inflation through steel price increases. The industry has proposed a one-year freeze on wages and other benefits to hold the line against inflation.

Torre to Address Press Conference

By NEAL FRIEDMAN

Marie Torre, radio-television columnist for the New York Herald Tribune who served a jail term rather than tell a court the source of a news story, will speak to a luncheon of the Pennsylvania Press Conference at noon today in the Nittany Lion Inn.

Miss Torre spent 10 days in a New York city jail after she refused to tell the judge in a libel case the source of some alleged defamatory remarks about a well-known movie actress.

"Faith, Hope and Public Opinion" will be the topic of Miss Torre's speech.

James S. Lyon, executive vice president and general manager of the Observer Publishing Co., Washington, Pa., and D. Lee Stoddard, co-publisher of the Elkand

Journal, received distinguished service awards at a dinner last night at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Carl E. Lindstrom, visiting professor of journalism at the University of Michigan, was scheduled to speak last night, but failed to arrive in time. Lindstrom will address the meeting this morning.

George N. Scheid, president of the Interstate Advertising Manager's Association and advertising director of the Tarentum Valley Daily News, will speak to the Keystone Press Awards dinner of the press conference on "The Ninth Column."

The press conference, which began yesterday, is an annual event sponsored jointly by the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors, the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publisher's Association, the Pennsylvania Women's Press Association and the School of Journalism.

ZBT's Annual Marriage Party TONIGHT

Don't go to the movies -- the show's at ZBT

Everybody Gets Married

8:30 p.m. -- 1 a.m.

Featuring

The Fabulous

Pat "The Cat" Monforte

and his Kittens

This Afternoon --

The Biggest Combine of the Year

ZBT and THETA CHI join for the last blast

Pat "The Cat"

Sounding at Theta Chi -- 501 Fairmount & S. Allen 2-5 p.m.

Plus --

The Cookin' One -- COOKIE DOUGLAS

Penn State's Answer to Dakota -- FRIEDA LEE

•Everybody Welcome for Both Sessions•

Attention 1960 Graduates

Juniors who do not plan to live on campus the first eight weeks of the fall 1959 semester must have LaVie photo taken next week at the Penn State Photo Shop.

9:15-4:00 daily except noon and Saturday

LaVie Senior Board