

'Nine' Plays Mounties At Morgantown Today

By SANDY PADWE

When Penn State's baseball team (11-2) plays West Virginia (15-8) today at Morgantown, the Lions will find themselves facing one of the most unusual collegiate athletes in the nation.

For Marvin D. Bolyard—better known to Penn State fans as Bucky—will be the starting pitcher for the Mountaineers.

Bolyard, for those of you who don't remember, is the fellow who finished with one of the highest field goal percentages in collegiate basketball this year and also averaged 10 points per game for the highly ranked Mountaineers.

But Bolyard's baseball record is almost as amazing as his basketball record—if not more. The 5' 10" wonder is leading the Mounties in hitting with a .389 average, plays five different positions and just a short time ago took up pitching.

So what's so unusual about Bolyard—he's blind in one eye. But as his record shows, he hasn't let this handicap hold him back throughout his college career.

Today the little righthander will carry a 1-1 record into the game against the Lions. Bolyard, who used to primarily be a catcher among other things, only took up pitching just a short time ago, and has come along very fast.

But he won't have such an easy opponent this afternoon when he goes against Joe Bedenk's high-flying Lions.

Bedenk's boys will carry an 11-2 record into today's game and will be going all out to beat the Mounties because a possible bid to the NCAA district II playoffs awaits the Nittanians if they do all right in their last four games.

After today's game, the Blue and White return home for a twinbill against Pittsburgh Wednesday and close out the season against Temple Friday at Philadelphia.

With a bid to the districts possibly awaiting the Lions, Bedenk isn't going to take any chances on losing it, and will pitch his southpaw ace—Ed Kikla—this afternoon.

ONE OF THE TOP HITTERS in Penn State's lineup for the West Virginia game at Morgantown this afternoon will be Lion short-stop Bob Hoover who is pictured above. Hoover is hitting the ball at a .327 clip this season and has 15 runs batted in and two homers.

Kikla goes into today's contest with a 5-0 record and 0.76 ERA in 41 innings. His wins have come over Bucknell twice, Ohio State, Syracuse and Penn.

The rest of the Lion lineup is the same one that Bedenk has used for the last two weeks. It finds Bill Benton (.333) at first base, Larry Fegley (.340) at second, Bob Hoover (.327) at short and Dick Landis (.159) on third.

The Lions' leading hitter, Tom Durbin, (.631) will be in leftfield. Charley Caldwell (.258) will start in center and Zeke DeLong (.392) will be in his usual rightfield slot.

Although Durbin is the leading hitter on the team, he hasn't been up enough to qualify for the collegiate batting championship.

The converted pitcher has only been up 19 times this year and has 12 hits. Benton, the first baseman, is also a converted pitcher and he has 5 for 15 this season.

West Virginia has quite a group of hitters to match the Nittanians this afternoon including Bolyard (.389), centerfielder Frank Paczewski (.363) and another basketballer, Ronnie Retton (.386).

In addition to being the leading hitter, Bolyard leads the Mounties in runs batted in (21), doubles (6), and homers (2).

Pierce Beats Yanks On Six-Hit Shutout

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Billy Pierce blanked New York on six singles last night as Chicago's second place White Sox whipped the Yankees 6-0 and stretched their winning streak to seven games, longest of the season in the American league.

It was the third shutout of the season suffered by the Yankees, and the first time they've been blanked by a left-hander in a regular season game since Cleveland's Herb Score did it Aug. 2, 1956.

Pierce, who has allowed only one run in his last 16 innings, walked but 2 and struck out 7 for his fifth victory against 2 defeats. It was his second success over the seventh-place world champions, who haven't scored against the stubby southpaw in 13 innings.

Yankee starter Whitey Ford was given a quick nudge toward his second defeat in five decisions. The Sox scored once in the first inning and then got rid of Ford after scoring 3 runs in the sixth one of 3 Yankee errors, a walk, Earl Torgeson's single and a 2-run double by Bubba Phillips.

The White Sox scored their other two in the eighth against righthander Jim Coates.

Would you call this fair play?

Umpire gives "Visitors" a special advantage by tagging out a "Home" team runner at the plate. "Home" team has to play by the regular rules. Would you call this fair play?

Hardly—yet you and most Americans face that same kind of unfairness all the time with some of your taxes.

About 23 cents out of every dollar you pay for electricity goes for taxes. But because of present tax laws, several million families and businesses escape paying most of the taxes in their electric bills that you pay in yours. They are people whose electricity comes from federal government systems.

And you have to help make up the taxes they escape.

Most Americans think everyone should pay his fair share of taxes. Don't you agree?

WEST PENN POWER

Stickmen End Year at Rutgers

For eight long years the Penn State lacrosse team has been trying to beat Rutgers, and today the Lions will once again make an attempt to break the eight year hold the Scarlet have over them.

Only once in the past decade has a Nittany lacrosse team come close to stopping Rutgers. In 1952 the Lions fought to a 14-14 tie. But in an overtime period, Rutgers slammed one through the Lion defenses in the closing minutes to nab the victory, 16-15.

Somehow, Rutgers has always come up with a tough squad, and this year appears to be no exception as three lacrosse All-Americans have berths on the Scarlet's starting team.

Co-captain John Howland, a second string All-American choice last year, heads the list of returning lettermen. Howland and Dick Nicklas form the nucleus of the powerful Rutgers attack.

Both have accumulated 25 goals to date between them. Junior Ed Wiesmeier fills in the remaining slot in the highly touted Scarlet attack.

According to Leslie Unger, Director of Sports Information at Rutgers, the Scarlet probably year while Austin was awarded an honorable mention position.

rector of Sports Information at Rutgers, the Scarlet probably year while Austin was awarded an honorable mention position.

The trio has speed, scoring power, and stamina, Unger said. Austin, of football fame, has developed his stickwork to a point where Rutgers' coach, Al Twitchell, thinks he'll be, along with Naso one of the best midfielders in the Sy Miller Division, encompassing the nation's top 12 lacrosse teams.

The second midfield, is centered by Lloyd Seaman, a two-year veteran. On the wings are Vin Togno, and Jay Hunton.

Twitchell has a dependable threesome in Dick Pencek, Nick Neiley, and Dick Abidin, on defense. Unger lists Pencek as the top defensive player in the Rutgers lineup.

The goal-tending chores will fall to sophomore Ted Koch. A 6-5 veteran of Sewanhaka High School play, Koch is considered by Twitchell to be a top notch goalie with a lot of potential.

The strength of the team, however, lies in the scoring power of Howland (43 goals, a new record, last year), Nicklas, Naso and Austin.

For the Baermen, leading scorer John Behne will head the list of attackmen. Second high scorer on the attack unit, Jim Winpenny, along with Jim Kane, will fill out the Lion attack.

In the midfield, versatile Bob Swanson will lead the attack. Swanson was high scorer in Wednesday's game with three goals and two assists. Chip Henderson and Dick Bullock will take over the remaining spots.

The defense, which showed great improvement against Swarthmore, will be headed by co-captain Dick Dill. Mike Beattie and Dave Erwin will hold down the remaining slots and Dave Wilkinson will start in the goal for the Lions.
