Coed Faces Charges Of 'Smuggling'

A freshman in Ewing Hall will face the Women's Student Government Association Judicial Board, charged with smuggling a male visitor into her fourth floor room shortly before 1 a.m. Sunday and again later on in the afternoon.

The man, a student at Drexel Institute of Technology, was seen by women residents both times.

The woman, who occupies a single room, told some of her hallmates that the man got on the elevator with her and pressed the fourth floor button. She said she didn't know what to do with him so she hid him in her room until shortly after 1 a.m. when she led him outside.

The visitor was discovered in her room again that afternoon when another coed on the same floor walked in to borrow some rubbing alcohol. When the occupant opened her closet door to get the alcohol, her hallmate saw the man inside and ran down the hall exclaiming, "There's a man in here."

Two disbelieving hallmates went down to investigate, using the pretense that they wanted to borrow some records. When they entered the room, the man was sitting on the bed.

Two other residents then reported the coed to their head hostess, Mrs. Mercedes Askew, who promptly turned the girl over to the dean of women's office.

Assistant Dean of Women Christine R. Yohe talked with the woman Sunday night. Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston said she would rather not reveal what took place at that conversation until after the case is handled by the Women's Student Government Association. Miss Weston said the case would probably be passed on to the Senate subcommittee on student affairs.

Ten Members Chosen For Off-Campus Tribunal

Ten men were chosen by interview last week to sit on off-campus tribunal next year.

The new members are William Evans, Alan Roberts, Robert Umstead, Chester Lucido, Patrick Gaughan, William Daley, Donald Lipson, Thomas Barnes, Kenneth Gregg and Robert Harrison. Lanny Dey will serve as chairman.

Dey, who interviewed the students, said that there were about 30 applicants. The new members will replace four graduating seniors.

BIG CROWD, NO FIRE—The Alpha Firemen were called out for a smoky battle Sunday afternoon. The trouble was in an electric motor in the basement of MacAllister Dorm.

Fraternities to Hold Open House Sept. 20

Incoming freshmen will be exposed to fraternities early in the fall semester even though deferred rushing, instituted this fall for the first time, will continue.

On Sept. 20, the day before classes begin, all fraternities will hold open houses for freshmen.

Possible Showers Predicted for Area

Warm and humid weather should continue for at least three days as a tropical air mass takes control of the weather.

Today and tomorrow should be warm and humid with a chance of afternoon and evening showers or thunderstorms.

Tonight should be partly cloudy and mild.

Temperatures are expected to reach 81 degrees today and 84 degrees tomorrow. A low of 60 degrees is expected tonight.

Donald Orr, Interfraternity Council rushing chairman, said at last night's IFC meeting that there will also be a meeting for freshmen to explain the deferred rushing system and fraternity life in general during Orientation Week.

Orr said IFC members will participate in a panel during the meeting and a movie about fraternity life will also be shown. Rushing booklets are expected to be distributed at the meeting.

In other action at the meeting, the 1959-1960 IFC budget was approved without discussion.

According to the budget, submitted by Gilbert Sergeant, IFC secretary-treasurer, $9835 will be received by the IFC in the next year. The same amount will be spent.

Student fees—$1100—and pledge registration fees—$1800—will be the biggest sources of income other than the IFC-Panhellenic Ball which is expected to break even with expenses of $4300.

Other sources of income are Greek Week fees, $795; annual dues, $530; Workshop fees, $530; Vendor's registration fees, $100; Panhel contribution to Greek Week, $360; interest on savings account, $90; and miscellaneous income (including fines) $230.

Total expenses for the fraternity affairs office—$1405—and $1100 for Greek Week are the largest expenses other than the IFC-Panhel Ball.

Other expenses are rushing, $800; travel and conference, $440; awards and keys, $100; workshops, $600; president's telephone and expenses, $90; public relations, $200; Kent Foster Scholarship Fund, $630, and miscellaneous expenses, $170.

Local Ad Staff to Meet

All members of the Local Advertising Staff of The Daily Collegian will meet at 7 tonight in 9 Carnegie.

Promotions will be made and plans for the fall Collegian discussed.

Reds, U.S. Reject Peace Proposals

GENEVA (AP)—Russia and the West each formally rejected the other's proposals for a German peace settlement yesterday, but the Soviet Union announced readiness to discuss several points of the Western package plan linking German issues and security.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told the Big Four conference that the Soviet government is prepared to talk specifically about disarmament, a non-aggression declaration and creation of a mixed committee of East and West Germans.

Russia will not discuss German reunification, he said.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told the conference that the Soviet proposition for a peace treaty to be signed with both East and West Germany would "recognize in effect the permanent partition of Germany" and "holds the seeds of future discord and conflict."

Herter adopted a somewhat tougher line than in previous speeches, but he avoided angry charges.

The secretary of state said the "constructive proposals by the United States were brought to naught by the continued refusal of the Soviet Union to fulfill its solemn obligation to join with the Western allies in bringing about the reunification of Germany and the establishment of an all-German government freely chosen by the German people."

Herter said as far as the United States, Britain and France are concerned, a final settlement with Germany "must await the establishment of a government which can act for and bind Germany as a whole."

Reunification is only possible, Gromyko said, through direct action by East and West German regimes. He declared it would be useful if the Geneva conference could agree on setting up an all-German agency, but said the decision must be up to the Germans themselves.

He said the West must break up its package in order to permit discussion of the parts in which Russia is interested.

Summer Collegian Staff

Students interested in serving on the news staff of The Summer Collegian will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in The Daily Collegian city room. The Summer Collegian will be published weekly, each Thursday morning.

Byers Will Face Court On June 1

James Byers, 20, will face District Court action June 1 in connection with the shooting of James Graham, freshman in the Division of Counseling, form Pittsburgh, District Attorney Richard P. Sharp said yesterday.

Byers, freshman in the Division of Counseling from Puddintown, near State College, was charged with assault with intent to maim and aggravated assault and battery at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills Wednesday.

If the District Court decides the charges constitute a true bill, a date will be set for Byers to face County Criminal Court sometime after June 15, Sharp said. Byers pleaded not guilty to the charges at Wednesday's hearing.

Aggravated assault and battery is a misdemeanor while assault with intent to maim is a felony. The latter constitutes a fine up to $500 and a 3-year minimum jail sentence.

The shooting occurred early Sunday morning at the home of Randal Roseberry, junior in the Division of Counseling, at 229 E. Irvin Ave.

Byers fired eight shots into a group attending a party at the home and put a bullet into Graham's thigh. He returned to the party with a .22 caliber pistol after having been ejected earlier in the evening.

A successful operation removed the bullet from Graham's thigh.

AIM Will Establish North Halls Council

Plans are underway to set up a council for the North Halls living units which will open next fall, Harald Sandstrom, president of the Association of Independent Men said last week.

Sandstrom said an interim committee will be set up to operate before the council is established to help with the implementation of the council which will be similar to those in the West Halls and Nittany area.

There will be 1100 students living in the four new residence halls. The halls will be divided into four units which will each elect a slate of officers. The presidents of these units will sit on the planned North Halls Council.

The four officers of the council will sit on the AIM Board of Governors. In addition to these four, two delegates at large will be chosen from student residents to sit on the board.

The interim committee should have three main functions, according to Sandstrom. The first of these will be to set up a social and recreational program to operate before the council is implemented.

The committee also will organize council elections and set up the first meeting. Elections will be held according to rules determined by the AIM Elections Committee.

A constitution will be drawn up in conjunction with the AIM Constitution Committee, Sandstrom said.

Jackson Spielvogel was appointed chairman of the interim committee. Other members are Alan Elms, Richard Snyder, Edward White and Stephen Kirsch.

University Party May Reorganize

A plan for a reorganized University party built around six standing committees will be discussed and voted on at an open party meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday in 121 Sparks.

Elections for party chairman, vice-chairman and secretary will also be held at the meeting, according to Frank Pearson, present party chairman.

Campus party steering committee last Sunday appointed a group to study possible changes in the party constitution. However, Charles Steele, party chairman, said the changes concern mostly technicalities in terms, such as changing "All-University" to "Student Government Association" in the titles of officers.

The changes in University party will involve a complete reorganization to provide "closer knit party communications," said Pearson. The intra-party officers, he said, would be eliminated.

The standing committees would probably include a Secretariat and Nominations, Evaluations, Reorganizations, Campaign and Coordinations Committees, Pearson said.

He explained that the chairman of each committee and the party chairman, vice chairman, secretary and treasurer would form an Executive Committee which would coordinate the activities of all the committees.

For these changes to become a part of University party's constitution, Pearson said they must be passed by the present Executive Committee and by a two-thirds majority of the party. The Senate Subcommittee on Student Affairs must also approve the changes for them to become effective.
