

SCCA Changes Proposed

Student Government Association Cabinet made three recommendations last night to alter the student check cashing agency proposal of the Freshman Advisory Board.

Cabinet proposed that the staff of the agency consist of only six members, instead of six or more, as proposed by the advisory board.

It proposed that fees for cashing checks be lowered if the agency's income proved more than sufficient. It was also suggested that the Association of Student Activities manager hold the post as agency advisor. The original plan made no distinction as to who would hold the post, other than saying "a University employee"

These recommendations will be brought before the SGA Assembly Thursday night.

In other business Cabinet appointed Vincent Marino, vice president of the College of Business Administration Student Council, to head the elections committee.

Cabinet also named seven to the public relations committee, with two freshmen to be appointed in the fall. Those named are James Milligan, Lawrence Epstein, Sylvia Douglas, Charles Steele, Herbert Nurick, Judith Weiss, and Ruth Rilling.

These appointments will be presented to the Assembly Thursday night for its approval.

The first wood pulp paper was exhibited in the United States in 1854 by John Bearsley. Today, it requires approximately 75,000,000 trees to produce the newsprint (wood pulp paper) used for newspaper advertisements alone.

SAM Awards Watch For High Membership

William Hewlett, junior in business administration from Philadelphia, has been awarded a Hamilton watch by the Society for the Advancement of Management for his contribution to the increased membership of the University chapter.

The chapter received the award for having the second largest membership of the 152 university chapters in the United States, Puerto Rico, Mexico and Canada. Last year the chapter ranked twenty-seventh—with 84 members. The present enrollment is 161.
