LA Council Awards 2 Scholarships

The Liberal Arts Council awarded $200 scholarships for next year to Bernice Bongiorno, junior in Liberal Arts from Erie, and Sherry Kennel, junior in journalism from Lancaster.

The amount of the scholarships were increased $50 this year and were awarded on the basis of need, scholarship, activities and service to the college.

Edwin Scherlis and Joan Kemp, co-chairmen of council's Orientation Week program, reported developments for the mixer for new students.

Council also discussed methods of manning the council information booth to be set up in Sept. 15-17 in front of 121 Sparks.

It was decided that council members who plan to be on campus during the beginning of Orientation Week will work the first day and students selected at the discretion of the council will work the remaining two days.

Roberta Levine, chairman of information booth arrangements, said that the theatre arts and art departments will be asked to contribute their talents in setting up the booth.

The council voted to contribute $50 to the World University Service.

Miss Levine also reported that the proposal to change the mathematics requirements for liberal arts students will be discussed again by the faculty Thursday. She asked for council discussion on this change and suggested that David Epstein, council president, might take their ideas back to the faculty meeting. No discussion followed.

Epstein appointed Margaret McPherson and Brenda Penzer, council representatives, to the Committee on Academic Honesty.

Shaler to Study Abroad

Amos J. Shaler, head of the Department of Metallurgy, has been granted a year's leave of absence, beginning July 1.

Shaler plans to spend the year in Brussels, Belgium, doing research in powder metallurgy and conducting studies in the field of nuclear materials.

IFC Encampment Site To Be Engineering Camp

The Interfraternity Council will hold a one-day encampment Sept. 14 at the Civil Engineering Camp.

Arthur Miltenberger, encampment chairman, said the eight workshops will bring together fraternity presidents, IFC officers, University officials and townspeople to talk over some of the problems which will be facing them during the year.

This is the second IFC Encampment. It is patterned after the Student Encampment which will be held Sept. 9, 10 and 11 at the Mont Alto Forestry School. The two have no connection.

The eight workshops and chairmen are:

● Interfraternity Council Purchasing Association—Robert Ritchey, IFCPA president.

● General Organization—Gilbert Sergeant, IFC secretary-treasurer.

● Rushing—Donald Orr, IFC rushing chairman.

● Scholarship—Ronald Dietz, IFC scholarship chairman.

● Public Relations—John Yamulla, IFC public relations chairman.

● Rules and Policies—Robert Parsky, IFC Board of Control chairman.

● General IFC Problems—Ronald Resh, IFC vice president.

● Housing—r.o chairman named yet.

The encampment will be divided into two sessions. The morning session will run from about 9:30 a.m. to noon. During this time the various workshops will meet to discuss their problems and prepare reports.

After a box lunch, the reports will be read along with any recommendations. IFC president Gary Gentzler will give a short talk on planned activities of the IFC after the reports are read.

Wilbur Wise, who will take over as assistant to the dean of men for fraternity affairs June 1, will also speak.

There will also be a guest speaker.

Miltenberger said the encampment will give fraternity presidents a chance to meet and become acquainted with the IFC, to learn what it does and how it operates.

Summer Shows to Serve As Student Workshop

A standing cast of six professional actors and students enrolled in special theatre courses during the summer session will present a summer program varying from "Barretts of Wimpole Street" to "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," at the Mateer Playhouse at Standing Stone.

The playhouse is a laboratory for class work in production and acting and provides summer theatre entertainment for residents of the State College area.

Last year Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Mateer donated $10,000 to the Theatre Arts Department to provide for further study possibilities in theatre and to support a summer theatre.

The season will open June 23 with "Desire Under the Elms," which will run for one week. Other one-week shows in order of appearance are: "Three Men on a Horse," a comedy; "Kind Lady," a suspense story; and "Barretts of Wimpole Street."

"Cat on the Hot Tin Roof" and "Diary of Anne Frank" will be performed for two weeks each at the playhouse. The season will close with either "Cherry Orchard," or a new play not yet known, and "Nude with the Violin," a satire on modern love by Noel Coward.

The professional actors, student actors and others connected with the playhouse will live in Hoyt Hall this summer. Classes will be conducted in the morning, rehearsals in the afternoon and the entire company will be taken to Standing Stone by bus for the evening performances.

Large Enrollment Seen for Summer

By NANCY KLING

Enrollment in the summer sessions for 1959 is expected to reach last year's total of 3169 undergraduate and 4676 graduate students, although pre-registration for undergraduates is somewhat behind the total for 1958.

Dean of Summer Sessions P. C. Weaver said that a small drop in pre-registration of undergraduate students this year was attributed in part to the fact that pre-registration last year was held during the first part of May.

Dorm Prowler Pleads Guilty Before Court

George R. Darbrow, 19, pleaded guilty to charges that he was prowling around Atherton Hall Friday night before Centre County Judge R. Paul Campbell Monday evening.

Darbrow, of R.D. 1, Mechanicsburg, was already on parole at Mechanicsburg. He was fined $25 and sent home. Campbell said Darbrow's parole board would probably take care of any jail term if one is to be imposed.

Darbrow was apprehended while sitting in a car by the Campus patrol after several complaints had been made by Atherton residents. He was reported to be loitering around the dormitory most of the evening and had tried to enter a private entrance.

When Darbrow failed to produce an operator's license, Campus patrol turned him over to the borough. The borough in turn sent him to Rockview State Police.

Darbrow was booked by State Police for loitering and prowling at night and was held at Centre County jail until his hearing Monday.

Accounting Gets Four Divisions

Carl R. Barnes, controller, has announced the formation and addition of four new divisions to the division of accounting.

He said the changes, which will become effective May 1, were caused by the increasing complexity of present activities and to prepare for future expansion of the University.

Named to head the new divisions were:

William F. Christoffers, assistant controller, director of the division of accounting methods.

Walter S. Hiester, now chief accountant, director of the division of accounting operations.

David C. Hogan, Jr., bursar, director of the division of revenue accounting.

Warren R. Shenk, assistant controller, director of the division of accounting services.

drop in pre-registration of undergraduate students this year was attributed in part to the fact that pre-registration last year was held during the first part of May. This year it was held during the month of April.

"Our campus inquiries would indicate," Weaver said, "that interest will grow as the starting date of summer school draws nearer. This has nearly always been true of both undergraduate and graduate students. Many of them show no interest before late May or early June."

Inter-session will begin June 8 along with the first of two 6-week sessions.

The 6-week sessions were especially designed this year to encourage undergraduate enrollment. Weaver said the dual purpose is to encourage undergraduates to accelerate and to enrich their programs by taking courses which time does not permit during the regular school year.

Weaver said that undergraduate enrollment this year may be influenced to a large degree by economic conditions. Some parents want their children to attend the summer sessions but are uncertain whether they can afford it, he said.

Many undergraduates have said they will attend the summer sessions if they are not able to find a job. Some of these students feel, however, that summer earnings will be necessary to insure their enrollment next fall, said Weaver.

An alphabetical schedule will be used for registration for the summer sessions. The schedule appears on pages 68 and 69 of the Summer Sessions Complete Announcement.

Frosh Car Bans Hold During Finals

Freshmen will not be allowed to bring automobiles to campus during finals in order to take their belongings home, according to the dean of men's office.

Under University regulations, freshmen are prohibited from owning or operating a car in Centre County.

Disciplinary action will be taken against any students who still have parking or traffic violations for which fines have not been paid, Dean Frank J. Simes said.

Parking and traffic regulations will remain in force until the end of the semester, June 2.
