

Theater Will Open; Schedules 8 Plays

By DEXTER HUTCHINS

The University's Mateer Playhouse at Standing Stone will begin another season on June 22 under the direction of Max Fischer.

Fischer, director of the American Theater Wing in New York, has chosen five professional actors as well as a group of apprentices and students to perform during the summer.

The list of professional Thespians includes Esther Benson and Charlotte Jones, Leon Stevens of the successful off-Broadway play "The Geranium Hat," Ronald Bishop who played here during the 1957 season, and Don Petersen from the University.

The plays to be presented this summer are "Desire Under the Elms" by Eugene O'Neill, June 22; "Three Men on a Horse," by John Cecil Holm, June 29; "The Spider's Web" by Agatha Christie, July 6; "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," by Rudolph Beiser, July 13; "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" by Tennessee Williams, July 20; "The Diary of Anne Frank" by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, August 3; "The Cherry Orchard" by Anton Chekhov, August 17; and "Nude With Violin" by Noel Coward, which opens August 24.

The summer season advance booking order may be obtained at the Theatre Arts office in Schwab. Season tickets range in price from $13 to $17, according to seat location.

Single show ticket reservations may be made after June 15 at the Hotel State College, the Playhouse box office, the Book and Record Shop in Altoona, or the Danks and Co. store in Lewis-town.

A special ticket offer for students includes any five shows for $7.50 and these tickets can be used only on Mondays or Tuesdays.

3 Fraternities Face Penalties

Three fraternities, Beta Sigma Rho, Alpha Tau Omega and Delta Sigma Phi, have been charged with disorderly conduct in information served by Borough Police. The charges were made after incidents at 3 a.m. Sunday morning May 31 at Locust Lane and Fairmount Ave.

The information was filed by Cpl. R. M. Farmer following the reports of firecrackers and loud and obscene language.

One fraternity has already appeared before Justice of Peace Guy G. Mills and a fine of $16.50 was levied. Beta Sigma Rho and Alpha Tau Omega have yet to come before the justice of the peace.

Mills said the ATO information was probably the most serious and was the only one of the three involving off-color language.

The fraternity had been warned about excessive noise, according to Mills, and the information was served only after the disturbance continued.

2-Year Degree Program Provides Double Role

President Eric A. Walker told more than 500 students enrolled in the University's two-year associate degree program Sunday that they are enrolled in a program that has a two-fold purpose.

He said the program recognizes that not all people are alike in their talents and interests and that industries have need for persons with varied training.

Walker spoke at the opening session of a three-week program that brings the associate degree students to the campus for special laboratory work and other training.

"To satisfy both these needs—that is, to develop the industrial talents and interests of the American people and to provide industry with the different skills it needs to achieve the kind of 'teamwork in technology' it must have—we need an educational system in which the curriculum can be fitted to the person, rather than the person to the curriculum," Walker said.

"The associate degree program is a really important step in this direction," Walker told the students who are enrolled for training in drafting and design technology, electrical technology, surveying technology, and production technology at campuses in Allentown, Altoona, Behrend at Erie, DuBois, Hazleton, McKeesport, New Castle, New Kensington, Ogontz, Pottsville, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Wyomissing and York.
