

Panhel Governs 1200 Women Hat Societies Honor Leaders

Some 1200 sorority women, who make up one-third of Penn State's coeds, are governed by Panhellenic Council, which serves as a regulating association for the 24 sororities on campus.

ASA Takes $4.90 From Each Student

If the cost of living seems to you to be rising mercilessly and if you hear yourself complaining that money doesn't buy as much as it once did, you'll be interested in knowing how far $4.90 goes on campus.

For $190 per semester—taken from your tuition charges—you may attend concerts, lectures and other special events. You may receive the Daily Collegian and the LaVie, be represented or be a representative on your college student council, the independent or fraternity governing body and the SGA; and listen to student radio station WDFM.

The Student Government Association receives 50 cents a semester from each student. Twenty-five cents of your money goes to the student council of your college and another 25-cent allotment is used by the Interfraternity Council, the Panhellenic Council, the Association of Independent Men and Leonides.

Seniors who receive a copy of LaVie pay for it on the installment plan by contributing $1.75 a semester toward its purchase price from their first semester on.

WDFM gets 20 cents a semester and the Daily Collegian receives $1.10. The debate teams and the glee club divide 35 cents from each student. Debates and glee club concerts are open without charge to the student body.

The Blue Band which also gives free concerts receives 25 cents from fees. The agricultural judging team receives the same amount.

Women students pay $1.50 for the Women's Recreation Association and for the Women's Student Government Association, and all students pay a $2 fee for the Artists Series. This is in addition to the $4.90 for other activities.

Students Seek Bursar's Seal

Perhaps the most important and sought after seal at the University next to the official emblem is the stamp of the bursar on tuition and room and board receipts.

This stamp and the people who wield it are housed in the basement of Willard Building.

The Office of the Bursar, headed by David C. Hogan and staffed by 10 assistants, accepts student fees and is also responsible for holding room and breakage deposits. In addition, a new system was instituted last year whereby students are able to leave money in the office for overnight safekeeping.

Fees must be paid at the bursar's office either by mail or personally before the day a student must register. Students cannot register without a special receipt stamped by the bursar.

Chemistry, towel and lock and R.O.T.C. deposits will be taken at a date to be announced in a later issue.

The R.O.T.C. deposit is $20. It covers the service uniform and any damage the uniform may suffer. The chemistry deposits of $5 and $10 cover the cost of basic equipment required of each student during laboratory participation as well as damage which might occur to other laboratory equipment.

In spring when trees become decorated with leaves, students become decorated with cardboard signs, ribbons of various colors and cloth hats.

This is part of the spring initiation of new members into honorary, professional and hat societies.

Hat society members are chosen for outstanding work in such activities as student government, publications, dramatics, forensics, and athletics. All-University averages are considered in their selection.

The hat men and women's main job is counseling freshmen during Orientation Week and the first few weeks of classes. They teach the freshmen school traditions, songs, rules and supply information about activities and courses.

They also enforce customs and sponsor football pep rallies. Many of their activities are coordinated by Hat Society Council which includes members of all hat societies.

There are four hat societies for women, Scrolls and Mortar Board for seniors, Chimes for juniors and Cwens for sophomores.

The men's hat societies are

Skull and Bones and Parminous for seniors, Androcles, Blue Key and Druids for juniors and Delphi for sophomores. Lions Paw, the senior men's society, chooses campus leaders who can plan action for the betterment of the University.

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary society, and Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary society, are available for tutoring in any subject.

Omega Delta Kappa, the leadership honorary society, elects members on the basis of activity leadership and also does service projects with Gamma Sigma Sigma, women's service sorority, and Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity. These three organizations do charity work and service work for the community as well as the University.

The University also has two scholastic honoraries, Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi, as well as military honoraries, Pershing Rifles, Scabbard and Blade, the Arnold Air Society, and the women's Angel Flight.

Professional societies and other honoraries include recognition in the fields of journalism, advertising, commerce, engineering, agriculture, speech, music, education, architecture, English, chemistry, ceramics, home economics, history, botany, social sciences, pre-law, pre-med, psychology, hotel administration, mineral industries and dramatics.

75-85 Expected to Attend Indie Encampment Saturday

From 75 to 85 student leaders, Planning Committee, which will townspeople and members of faculty and administration will attend the Independent Encampment Saturday at the Civil Engineering Camp.

The encampment will be divided into seven workshops. The social workshop will set up the social program for independent organizations for the coming year. The chairman is Philip Hames.

The workshop on recreation will discuss the possibility of coed recreation and a system of awards for independent intramural winners. The chairman will be Frank Pearson.

Members of the public relations workshop will organize the "Indie Newsletter," an independent publication, and discuss relations between the campus and the borough. Margaret Orchard will be the chairman.

Dorothy Tynan will head the workshop on the Association of Independent Men-Leonides Joint-

The financial workshop will analyze the AIM and Leonides budgets and discuss the need of more funds from the University and possible ways of raising the money. The chairman will be William Schimpf.

Members of the special affairs workshop will discuss the possibility of setting up an independent honorary society, relations with the national Independent Student Association and homecoming weekend activities. The workshop will be headed by Stafford Friday.

The musical activities workshop will discuss the organization of an AIM band, an AIM-Leonides chorus and a quartet named.

Carl Smith, former AIM vice president, and Rita Saltzer, former Leonides president, are co-chairmen of the encampment.

UBA to Begin Taking Books

The Used Book Agency will begin accepting books in the Hetzel Union card room on Wednesday.

All books being used for courses this semester will be accepted. A list of books no longer in use will be posted outside the cardroom along with lists of books required for courses. Books will be accepted for sale for the next week.

Students may set their own prices on the books they wish to sell so long as those prices do not exceed 80 per cent of the original retail price. A list of original retail costs and the 20 per cent mark down price will also be posted outside the card room.

The agency places a charge of 10 cents on both the buyer and seller of each book to cover handling costs. All unsold books will be returned to their owners after the UBA closes operations, and any person who bought the wrong books from the agency will be given a refund.

Each of the 23 national sororities sends two delegates to council meetings, but each sorority has just one vote. Tri-Opus, a local colony which hopes to affiliate with a national sorority within a year, attends the council meetings, but does not have a vote.

Panhel establishes the rushing code, which sets up the rules regulating the process by which new members as selected by the sororities.

Two rush programs are set up, formal rush in the spring and informal rush in the fall for sophomores and transfers. Freshmen need a 2.3 semester average and upperclasswomen a 2.0 All-University average to register for rush.

Another major project of Panhel is to promote high scholarship among sorority women. Scholarship trophies are presented to the sorority with the highest average and to the sorority which shows the greatest improvement in scholarship. Panhel also awards a $300 scholarship each year.

The Interfraternity Council cooperates with Panhel in Greek Week and the IFC-Panhel Ball. Sororities and fraternities also work together on Spring Week projects.

The council is affiliated with the National Panhellenic Council and in accordance with national policy uses the rotation system for the election of the council president.

This position rotates among the sororities according to the date they were founded on campus. The cycle is beginning again this year, with a member of Chi Omega, the oldest sorority on campus, as president.

The Junior Panhellenic Council is composed of two pledges from each sorority and is conducted on a basis similar to the senior group. Its purpose is to better acquaint pledges with the activities of Panhellenic Council.

Council officers are: Carol Dommick, president; Wendy Pass, first vice president; Carol Bradic, second vice president; Cynthia Talbert, corresponding secretary; Barbara Curran, recording secretary; Gretchen VanKirk, treasurer, and Sue Chapman, rushing chairman.

Jordan Speaks on Salts

Dr. Joseph Jordan, associate professor of chemistry, addressed the Gordon Research Conference on Molten Salts at Meridan, N.H., during the summer. The subject of his talk was "Enthalpy Titrations and the Thermochemistry of Precipitation Processes in Fused Salts."

Metallurgy Scholarship

A $500 scholarship to assist a junior in metallurgy has been established by Dow Chemical Co. The recipient of the award may qualify for renewal of the $500 scholarship for his senior year provided he maintains a satisfactory academic record.
