

9 Faculty Members Will Give Lectures

To acquaint new students with the type of intellectual experiences that lie ahead, a series of lectures by nine faculty members have been scheduled for today, tomorrow, and Friday as a part of the Orientation Week program.

Attendance at the lectures is optional for the new students and tickets reserving seats must be obtained at the main desk of the Hetzel Union Building.

Early Payment To Bursar Recommended

Students, both new and old, should allow sufficient time to complete details, pay their fees and get to Recreation Hall at the hour they are scheduled to register, suggests Richard H. Baker, University bursar.

Baker advised students who must make some type of payment at the Bursar's Office to do so early to help relieve the confusion of beginning a few school year.

Hours of operation for the Bursar's Office are from 7 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday and Saturday from 7:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. until further notice.

Baker said the Bursar's Office does not cash checks but does accept them as payment for tuition and fees in an amount not exceeding $10 of the actual amount owed.

Chemistry, ROTC and towel and lock deposit tickets will be available at special windows at the office beginning 7:45 a.m. September 19. In previous years the tickets were not available until the first day of classes.

Baker also said that those students who have been approved for a National Defense Student Loan must first complete the necessary administrative details in the Student Loan Office located in the basement of Willard Building. After these details are completed, the students should pay their fees at the Bursar's Office.

Mixer Set For HomeEc And BusAd

The Colleges of Home Economics and Business Administration will hold a joint mixer for freshmen and transfer students at 7:45 tonight in White Hall.

Programs of this nature as well as lectures, counseling and tutoring services make up some of the activities sponsored by the student councils of the colleges.

The Home Economics Student Council is composed of representatives from each class who are elected by classmates in the spring, and of members of the faculty who serve as advisors. The group studies problems in home economics and takes part in Home Economics Spring Weekend and similar events.

In the college itself, graduate and undergraduate courses are offered in 12 fields of home and family life and related subjects. Persons graduating from one of these curriculums with a BS degree are qualified for jobs in teaching, dietetics, family counseling, hotel management, cooking and equipment demonstrating, public health, nursery school training, welfare work, publications and communications work and retailing or commercial consumption work.

Home Economics majors are required to spend six weeks of one summer in practicum work in addition to their regular eight semesters.

The faculty members participating in the program are:

Richard C. Maloney, acting dean, College of the Liberal Arts, speaking on "Penn State History and Traditions"; Dr. Kent Forster, professor of European history, speaking on "Europe Looks at America"; Dr. Arthur O. Lewis Jr., associate professor of English literature, "Science Fiction: Fun, Fable, or Forecast?";

Dr. Stanley Weintraub, instructor in English literature, "George Bernard Shaw Wouldn't Like 'My Fair Lady'"; Dr. Alfred K. Blackadar, associate professor of meteorology, "Earth Satellites: The Shape of Things to Come"; Milton S. Osborne, 'A Chalk Talk on Pennsylvania Architecture'.

Dr. Harold E. Dickson, professor of history of art and architecture, "Painting As a Language"; Forrest J. Remick, research associate, Nuclear Reactor Project, "Fission in a Swimming Pool"; and Dr. Henry A. Finch, professor of philosophy, "Love and the Philosophers."

LaVie Sr. Board To Meet Tonight

The Senior Board of LaVie, the student yearbook, will meet at 8 tonight in the LaVie office in the basement of Carnegie Building to begin plans for the 1960 edition.

LaVie is available to seniors in the latter part of the spring semester. Copies are also distributed to each residence hall where undergraduates may see them. Each edition of LaVie carries pictures of graduating seniors and of members of sororities, fraternities, hat societies and scholastic honoraries, clubs and activities, student publications and sports and athletics groups.

Kenneth Florence, LaVie editor, has announced that LaVie will issue a call for candidates during the first week of classes. Students interested in working for the yearbook may find out the exact time and place of the meeting in a later issue of The Daily Collegian.

Harootunian Conducts Philosophy Research

Dr. Harry Harootunian, instructor of history, has been conducting research in the several major eastern libraries this summer under a $500 grant-in-aid from the American Philosophical society.

He is working on a monograph on a group of early 19th century Japanese thinkers who were concerned with the effects of Western penetration on the Far East.
