Mother's Day Features May Pole Dances

Crowning a May Queen and dancing 'round the maypole is one of the major celebrations of Mother's Day weekend.

Coeds elect a senior woman queen and a freshman maid of honor. They also elect two representatives from each class to serve in the queen's court. A representative from WSGA, Women's Recreation Association and the University Christian Association are also in the court.

The court walks through an evergreen chain and an honor arch, each composed of senior women chosen for leadership, scholarship and service to the University.

Last year's honor arch was composed of 20 senior women and the evergreen chain of 34 senior women.

Eleanor Judy, then a senior in home economics from Cochranville, was crowned queen and Maxine Miller, then a freshman in education from Sayre, was maid of honor. The queen was crowned by Jessie Janjigian, WSGA president and a member of the court.

Last year the dance around the maypole was done by the Neu Bayrischer Schuplattlers, a folk dance society.

professor of music, will lead the singing of school songs and the new freshman class song, which Gullo wrote.

The song for the Class of '63 is set to the tune of "When the Saints Go Marching" and was first introduced Tuesday night at the Faculty Variety Show.

During the second hour freshmen can watch several of their talented classmates perform in an all-freshman talent show. Virginia Dogan, chairman of the Class Night program, said the show will include four female soloists, a comedian, a jazz band, a monologue, two dancing acts and two groups of singers who will present the original songs.

A final rehearsal for all participants in the show will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Heitzel Union ballroom.

Miss Dogan said that many freshmen tried out for the show, but that several had to be eliminated or the show would have been too long.

Committee members who chose the talent acts at the Wednesday audition were Charles Berents, Virginia Dogan, Kerry Kissinger, Malcolm Cohen, Linda Farrell and Jack Lesyk.

After the talent show Lynn Christy and his 6-piece orchestra will play for dancing from 10 to 12 p.m.

Upperclassman dates of freshmen may also attend Class Night. Freshmen have been asked to wear their dinks and name cards to Class Night.

Student Jobs Available At Service

More than 2,500 students will have part-time jobs this year, thanks to the work of the Student Employment Service in Old Main, which handles requests from home owners and businessmen in the area. The requests for workers is matched to the request for work a student may file.

Mrs. Virginia Gordon, head of the service, based the job figures on an estimated enrollment of 15,000.

The most heavily requested job is baby-sitting. Last year 867 such requests were handled. Second in demand are students for general housework and unclassified jobs were third.

During the fall semester most of the job requests are for lawn and garden work. In September, last year, 846 requests were handled while in October there were 418.

The service also provides many part time jobs in University offices. Last year they handled 267 requests for clerical positions and technical workers.

Initiated in 1947, the service also handles a dry cleaning agency in the residence halls, Sunday and daily newspaper agencies and a floral agency on big weekends.
