

Merger Of Indie Groups Suggested

A merger of the Association of Independent Men and Leonides was recommended Saturday at the Indie Encampment.

Members of the workshop on the Joint Planning Commission, which suggested the measure, felt that the two organizations should be merged to cooperate more fully with the community living plan.

Carl Smith, encampment co-chairman, said only three or four other universities of Penn State's size have two independent groups.

Women were assured that they would not be under-represented in the merged organization. Committees would be formed to deal with separate men's and women's problems.

The activities workshop recommended that when members and non-members of hat societies participate in a University function such as Orientation Week counseling, all participants wear a similar distinguishing badge. The workshop report said that often members of hat societies have more prestige among their counselees than non-members.

The idea of an independent honorary group or hat society was rejected because of the large number of those groups already on campus.

The public relations committee recommended that student organizations be supplied with a list of borough officials to be contacted for problems in town-student relations. Borough officials would be provided with a similar list of student leaders.

The formations of AIM band, an AIM-Leonides sponsored chorus and an AIM and Leonides quartet was recommended by the musical activities workshop.

RIVERBOAT ON THE MOVE—Richie Lucas, Penn State quarterback (33) moves into the open on 18-yard run in the first quarter of Saturday's game with Missouri. Missouri's Don Smith (45) moves in for the tackle. The Lions won, 19-8. See page 6 for details.

Lucas Shines As Lions Win Opener

Riverboat Richie Lucas, the gambler from back East, swept through Missouri like a tornado Saturday and caused widespread damage in a little college town called Columbia.

Penn State's triple threat quarterback thrilled some 28,000 onlookers as he led his Lion teammates to a 19-8 win over Missouri's Tigers in the season's opener at Memorial Stadium.

Collegian Presses Roll; Daily Printing Resumed

The Daily Collegian resumes daily publication beginning today. The Collegian is published Tuesday through Saturday during the regular academic year. Copies of the Daily Collegian will be distributed to men's and women's residence and dining halls, the Hetzel Union desk, Waring Lounge, the Collegian office, fraternities, and town restaurants.

Lucas more than lived up to his pre-season press releases by completing 10 of 11 passes and running for an additional 48 yards in seven carries for a grand total of 202 yards.

"Lucas is tremendous," said Missouri coach Devine in the gloomy Tiger dressing room after the game. "He's one of the best quarterbacks I've seen anywhere."

Penn State coach Rip Engle went further. "That Lucas," Charles the ripper said, "had his best day in a Penn State uniform. He can throw, run and punt... what else is there."

While Lucas was outstanding the rest of his teammates played a wonderful game too. Jim Kerr, captain Pat Botula, and Dick Hoak, the starting backfield kept grinding out the yardage while the line led by tackle Charley Janerette spent a good part of the afternoon in Mizzou's backfield.

Weather to Remain Warm This Week

Bright sunshine, light winds, and warm temperatures marked the beginning of Indian Summer yesterday.

Indications are for a continuation of this unseasonably warm weather until Thursday. Temperatures will soar to mid-summer levels under partly cloudy skies this afternoon.

A few light showers may sprinkle the area during the afternoon. The high temperature should be 84 degrees.

Tonight will be mostly cloudy and mild with a low of 60 degrees.

Fraternity Housing

Board Seeks Land Sites

The Board of Trustees is considering several campus sites for fraternity expansion, according to Benjamin Jones, member of the board.

Jones said the board tabled the original proposal made by President Eric A. Walker because of a possible conflict of interests with the University's long range expansion plans.

Walker sought land near the sheep barns which was purchased from the estate of Judge Mitchell, former member of the trustees. The land is located on the east campus across Park Ave. from the newly opened North Halls.

"The Long Range Development Committee couldn't make up their mind which land they were going to use for expansion," Jones said.

He said the trustees wanted to be sure any land allocated to fraternities would not conflict with proposed expansion. "I wanted to provide enough land so all the houses could move," Jones said. He said it wasn't fair to provide land for some houses and not to others.

Jones said no one had spoken against land for the fraternities near the radar station, also on the east campus. "The board was figuring on a student enrollment of 30,000 which is a long way off," he said, "and even with that number there would still be room near the station for the fraternities."

"I think if the proposal is brought up again," Jones added, "it would pass if the site were near the radar station."

The original announcement of the proposal being tabled was made by Walker at the Interfraternity Council Encampment last week.

Walker told the delegates to the day-long meeting, "the fraternities must take the lead in expansion." He said the fraternity system must expand as the University expands or face a diminishing role in the future.

The President said the present houses would have to be full before the University could be expected to provide land for additional expansion.

AFL-CIO Criticizes Khrushchev

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The AFL-CIO convention adopted unanimously yesterday a resolution accusing visiting Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev of being "more truculent and demanding in his aggression than Stalin."

Saying Khrushchev is trying to annex Berlin and then put all Germany behind the Iron Curtain, the resolution continued: "The present Kremlin course toward the problem of German reunification and Berlin is far tougher than the harshest Soviet proposals put forward under Stalin."

It said the threat of Soviet aggression and worldwide Communist subversion stubbornly persist—"despite all the talk about Moscow's 'new look' and Khrushchev's 'peaceful coexistence' drive."

George Meany, federation president, told the convention that despite Khrushchev's smiling pleasantries on his current visit, "We cannot forget that only Saturday in Los Angeles he said, 'The rockets are ready; the launching pads are ready.'"

"That wasn't a smiling, jovial Khrushchev, and what does he mean?" Meany asked.

"This means one hydrogen bomb hitting the city of New York, for instance, and a million people dead within a half hour and two million more condemned to the slow death that comes with these weapons."

$7000 Contributed To Class Gift Fund

Undergraduates contributed about $7000 for their class gift funds at registration.

According to Donald Clagett, junior class president, there were 7549 cash gifts and pledges, with about 65 per cent of the full-time undergraduate student body contributing.

Clagett said that it was "a fine response, but it could have been 35 per cent better."

The number of cash gifts collected by class were Class of 1960, 1221; Class of 1961, 1315; Class of 1962, 1620; Class of 1963, 2863; Class of 1964, 55; and miscellaneous, 15.

One hundred twenty-one pledges were received from members of the Class of 1960; 114 pledges from the Class of 1961; 112 from the Class of 1962; and 100 from the Class of 1963. There were 13 pledges in the miscellaneous category.

The pledges will be collected by the advisory boards of each class.

The class gift will go to the University through the Alumni Fund Association. Each class will decide what its gift will be by a vote in the spring of its senior year.

This is the first year that collections have been solicited from the students at registration in Recreation Hall. Students may still contribute through the Alumni Fund Association.

The University will give this year's senior class $2 for every $1 collected and next year's class $1 for every $1 collected. The Class of 1962, the present sophomore class, and all future classes, will provide funds for its gift with no help from the University.

This system started with last June's class which received $3 for every $1.

Parking Confusion Expected to Clear

Administration officials expect the confusion over the new parking regulations to clear within a short time.

Albert E. Diem, vice president for business administration, said yesterday that he expects the new regulations "to take the chaos out of parking once students settle down."

The 24-hour, seven-day-a-week regulations went into effect Sept. 1 in the administration's latest attempt to alleviate the parking situation.

"In helping to solve the problem," Diem said, "a few will have to sacrifice some privileges. But in the long run, we feel it will benefit everyone."

The regulations, as first announced, banned all student driving on campus. However, realizing that this would stop students from picking up their dates, Diem opened five lots for unrestricted parking after 5:30 p.m. weekdays, after 12:30 p.m. Saturday and all day Sunday.

These areas are: Hetzel Union lot; lot south of Recreation Hall, lots east of the baseball field, and the lot north of South Halls.

Ninety-nine per cent of our problems were solved by opening these lots," Diem said. There are still many things to be ironed out, he added, and the administration is continuing its study of the present setup.

In one new change in the regulations, Diem said, graduate assistants will not have to pay the parking fee. Those who have already paid will receive a refund. Faculty or staff members do not pay for their parking permits.
