WSGA to Permit Dining Hall Smoking

By JANET DURSTINE

Coed smoking will be permitted in all dining halls for a 2-week trial period beginning from the time Food Service can supply ashtrays.

Women voted on the smoking question at dinner Monday. The vote was announced at a Women's Student Government Association Senate meeting last night.

Frosh Women, Dormitory Men Plan Socials

Freshman women and men living in residence halls will participate in one of 58 socials to be held in living units tonight and tomorrow and Monday, through Wednesday of next week.

Students living in the residence halls will plan the socials. Marjorie Pharr and Ellen Eyer, residence hall program leaders from the dean of women's office, and Wayne Page, residence hall coordinator for recreation from the dean of men's office, are in charge of the program.

The socials will include dancing and games and refreshments will be served. Residence hall counselors of each unit are in charge of the separate parties which are part of the recreational program planned by the dean of women's office.

Women may contact Miss Pharr or Miss Eyer if they want to plan any event to be held in the residence halls.

After the trial period a new vote will be taken.

Smoking will be on a trial basis because the vote was very close in two dining halls, Simmons and McElwain. In Redifer and Atherton, a large majority favored smoking. In the Waring Hall, where coeds eat with men and the men are permitted to smoke, only a few voted against the change.

Since freshmen are not permitted to smoke outside of their living quarters during customs, Jessie Janjigian, WSGA president, said the dining halls would be considered part of their living quarters.

WSGA will check with Food Service on the possibility of allowing meal tickets to be used interchangeably in either of two dining halls on either side of Redifer.

Women are now permitted to eat only in the Redifer dining hall specified by their meal ticket number. Margaret McPherson, junior senator, felt this should be done because sometimes the line is much longer in one dining hall than the other.

Party Plans Revamping Discussion

The proposed plan for reorganizing University Party will be discussed and voted on at an Executive Committee meeting at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

The committee also decided to hold regular weekly meetings at 4:30 p.m. on Sundays. Members will be notified where the meeting will take place.

The plan for party reorganization is built around five standing committees and an overall chairman, who would coordinate committee activities.

The standing committees would probably include a Secretariat and Nominations, Evaluations, Reorganizations, Campaign and Coordinations Committees.

The present Executive Committee would be dissolved.

Frank Pearson, party chairman, explained that this arrangement would make for greater efficiency and would distribute the work more evenly.

There would also be a committee to screen prospective candidates, Pearson said, and to go over candidate's applications.

WDFM Staff to Meet

A meeting for candidates and staff members of WDFM, the student operated radio station, will be held at 8 tonight in 114 Carnegie.

WDFM is holding auditions for reporters and writers for the news staff.

Dairy Will Receive Larger Sales Room

By JAMES WHALEN

A larger sales room to handle University dairy products is being constructed as an addition to Borland Laboratory.

The new sales room will be a one-story addition which will be built to the south of Borland Laboratory, near the entrance to the present sales room.

Ground breaking was held last week for the building, expected to be finished next April 1.

The present sales room, opened when Borland Laboratory was completed in 1932, has for many years been inadequate to serve students and others using the facilities, and to market the products of the creamery, explained Dr. Donald V. Josephson, professor and head of the Department of Dairy Science. The new sales room will be equipped with self-service cases, a long dairy bar and tables that will seat about 40 people.

Dr. Josephson said that only University products will be sold except for sandwiches and other smaller items.

Dairy products sold in the sales room are products resulting from the instructional and research program of the department of dairy science.

Construction of the new sales room will make the space now occupied available for a research laboratory.

For many years, the University maintained milk delivery routes in the area to dispose of dairy products, but the routes were discontinued in June, and the sale of University dairy products is now centered in the campus sales room.

Scholastic Action Hits 1/3 Undergrads

Nearly one-third of all undergraduates enrolled at the University and on the Commonwealth Campuses during the last spring semester were subject to scholastic action.

According to the Office of the Registrar, 4060 actions, including 722 drops, 1269 probationations and 2069 warnings were made. As a result of these actions 5.65 per cent of the student body was asked to leave the University and its campuses.

Of the 4067 freshmen enrolled, almost 50 per cent were given scholastic warnings, probationations or drops from the University.

Percentages for other classes were sophomores 37.02, juniors 23.67 and seniors 11.08.

Fraternities to Hold Frosh Open House

The only fraternity open house of the semester for freshmen will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

All fraternities will be open to give interested men a chance to visit and become familiar with their houses and the campus fraternity system.

Sunday's open house will be the only time freshmen men will be permitted in fraternity houses for social affairs.

Officer Election Change Asked By HEc Council

Members of the Home Economics Student Council voted to recommend to the Inter-Council Council Board that an amendment be made to their council constitution concerning the election of its officers.

According to the constitution, officers are elected at the end of March. Since the president of the Home Economics council often is involved with student teaching, the newly elected president is frequently left without an ex-officer's much needed help.

If the constitution is amended so that elections are held at the semester break, this problem would be ended.

In other business, Anthony Canike was appointed chairman of freshman elections which will be held in October.

Judy Heckert, council president, also appointed Nancy Campbell and Martha Larson the home economics representatives on the Spring Week committee.

Tropical Weather To Remain Today

Hot and humid tropical air continues to hold sway over most of the entire eastern half of the nation.

Temperatures reached 86 degrees in the State College area yesterday, and similar temperatures may be expected both today and tomorrow.

Afternoon and evening showers are possible today and tomorrow, but the odds are slightly less than even that we will see any rain before late Saturday.

The University admitted its first women students in 1871. They numbered six. Today, there are more than 5000 women enrolled.

Dioda, Rand Show Open

Exhibit to Feature Varied Mediums

Throughout the semester 16 art exhibits held on the main floor of the Hetzel Union Building will display a variety of art to suit almost everyone's taste.

Sculpture, drawings, paintings, prints, architecture, crafts, and photographs by professionals, art students, and even small children will be shown.

The first exhibit, sculptures and drawings by Adolph Dioda and graphic arts by Paul Rand, started Friday and will continue until Oct. 3.

From Oct. 7 to 23 photographs of the Angkor Wat monuments in Cambodia, photographed by Lake Wan Tho, will be shown. Members of the art faculty will exhibit their work from Oct. 23 to Nov. 16.

From Nov. 21 to Dec. 10 prints of 11 professional American artists will be shown.

Works from the Betty Parsons Gallery in New York by Donati, Guerrero, Pousett-Dart and H. Stern will be shown from Dec. 15 to Jan. 12. Drawing by children from 29 countries will be exhibited from Jan. 6 to Jan. 23.

From Feb. 5 to Feb. 24 the paintings, drawings, and prints of Bruce Shobaken will be shown along with a photographic study of the contemporary theatre in America.

Prize winning architectural photographs and paintings by Bill Hansen will be shown from Feb. 29 to March 17. Then, as a tribute to Edwin Zoller, professor of art for 30 years, his paintings and drawings will be displayed in a one man show from April 5 to March 20.

New talent of 1960, chosen by museum directors and critics, will have its premiere showing from April 8 to April 22 along with the graphic arts of Ben Shahn.

The last exhibit, April 29 to May 9, will present the talent of the students from the departments of art and art education. All exhibits are chosen by the Exhibition Committee headed by Dr. George Pappas, assistant professor of art and art education.

La Vie Staff

All Those Interested in the 1960 La Vie and the present staff are urged to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, September 24, in 10 Sparks.
