

New Strike Negotiations To Get Underway Today

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel negotiators will meet in an unusual Saturday morning session in their efforts to end the 80-day old nationwide steel strike.

The decision to hammer away again today starting at 10 a.m. closely followed a pessimistic statement by United

DuPont to Keep Its GM Stock

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal judge in a momentous decision ruled yesterday that the Du Pont company may retain its 23 per cent stock interest in General Motors, but it cannot vote the shares or acquire more.

Voting rights must be surrendered to individual Du Pont stockholders.

Judge Walter J. La Buy of U.S. District Court made the ruling in compliance with a U.S. Supreme Court decision which found there was a tendency toward monopoly in the relationship between the two giant firms.

Du Pont and its family holding companies own 63 million shares of GM stock—worth nearly 3½ billion dollars. Du Pont is GM's largest supplier of paints and finishes.

Under La Buy's decision, there will be no sweeping sale of GM stock as the government proposed and which Du Pont contended would seriously affect the nation's economy. He called the proposal "unnecessarily harsh and punitive."

Steelworkers President David J. McDonald that "I am not hopeful" for an early settlement in the costly dispute.

In a joint statement read by R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, the negotiators said, "We are exerting every possible effort to resolve our problems through collective bargaining."

The statement, following two sessions, said that both parties felt it would be best not to engage in public discussions at this time.

"We are fully aware of the great public interest in this situation," the statement said, "particularly the desire that it be solved at the earliest possible moment."

The union has been pressing for an estimated 15-cent hourly package wage hike. The U.S. Labor Department reported steelworkers were earning an average $3.11 an hour in June.

One industry source said as late as Friday afternoon that any economic improvements given the half-million striking steelworkers must be contingent on changes in mill working conditions to permit more efficient operations.

"The industry wants a settlement on a noninflationary basis. And it wants it short of Taft-Hartley action," another said.

MacMillan Hits Some Laborites As Near 'Red'

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told voters last night to beware of giving power to a party with some members who are "almost Communist." It was a new tack in his election campaign against the opposition Labor party.

In a hard-hitting speech at near-by Watford, Macmillan pressed the claims of his Conservative government to represent Britain at East-West summit talks.

"The Labor party is deeply divided on every great question of defense and foreign policy," he said. He spoke as the campaign reached the hit-'em-with-everything stage and both parties accused each other of trickery.

Morgan Phillips, Labor party secretary, issued a statement Friday containing a long list of alleged Conservative sins. He told a news conference that Labor candidates from now until next Thursday's polling are "going on the offensive in the biggest way possible."

Longshoremen Strike May Last 3 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP)—A deadlock between employers and longshoremen gave signs yesterday that the two-day dock strike gripping ports from Maine to Texas will last at least three weeks.

The New York Shipping Assn. announced it would not negotiate with the International Longshoremen's Assn. until Oct. 15—the date to which the union originally agreed to extend the old contract—unless the men return to work before hand.

William V. Bradley, ILA president, insisted that the men would not return until they have a new contract. And a new contract must wait upon further negotiations.

Bradley originally agreed with the New York shippers to extend to Oct. 15, the old contract that expired Sept. 30 on being assured that any wage or other gains in a new pact would be retroactive to Oct. 1. Southern longshoremen said their employers gave no such assurance and they began walking out early Thursday. The northern longshoremen then struck in support of the southern dockers. The strike of some 85,000 longshoremen has tied up cargo operations on about 200 freighters at a cost estimated by shippers at 20 million dollars a day.

Now that we've all settled down to studying and blinked away a tear at the passing of our Ocean City tan, we have many free hours to contemplate and strategize about the all-important first bluebook of a course. With a few minor exceptions, they fall into two categories, the ectomorphs and the endomorphs. These titles have no descriptive value, of course, I just wanted to prove I got something out of Psy 2. The ectomorph bluebook, usually given by a thin nervous prof, dwells on such details as "Name President Grant's Secretary of State's third private secretary." But, ah the endomorph bluebook is something to behold. A typical question, "What are the events leading up to the main battles of and eventual outcome of World War I," Concepts, man, nothing but concepts. But I grow incoherent, and besides I have better things to babble about.

For You Greeks
we have boxes of matches in your fraternity or sorority colors featuring your Greek letters on the match lid cover. For, well, for anyone, Ethel has leather wallet sets by Rolfs. These sets come in all the pastels for you girls or neutral and black shades for the better half. Another product in the leather line are mahogany leather purses with matching belts. The purses come in all sizes and shapes, just the thing to add an extra touch to your fall wardrobe.

Greetings and Salutations
I've found through experience that the easiest way to get out of writing letters is to send a contemporary card to the folks back home. Ethel has a large selection of these cards together with birthday, get-well, and general congratulatory notes. If there are still those that doubt you could ever get into a college, how about the more personalized card with greetings from ol' PSU?

Der Original Ischler Hat
has always been a great favorite with the male sporty set at Saturday football games. Coming in beige, brown, and red, they have a twisted cord band, and they are sturdy enough to hold up in both rain and sun. For you girls, Ethel and I are happy to announce that the ever popular angora cap is now on sale. These caps can be pulled over your ears on a blustery day or made more dressy with a fold and a favorite gold pin. If you don't have a favorite pin, I'm sure Ethel could supply you with one.

See you soon?
