

Camera Bugs Plan Fun With Photos

By TOM EGGLE

You don't have to know anything about photography to join the Photography Club, but you'll have a chance to learn once you become a member. And you'll have a place to practice what you learn, says club president Larry Epstein.

'Columns' Set As Theme for Junior Prom

The Junior Class Advisory Board has decided to break with tradition, and use an "Abstract Column" theme for the junior prom to be held Friday, Nov. 6, in Recreation Hall.

Featured at the dance will be the Glenn Miller Orchestra, under the direction of Ray McKinley.

James Ettelson will act as chairman of the prom committee, with James Nelligan in charge of publicity and Mary Lou Hill and Jackie Leavitt in charge of refreshments.

The board has also made plans to place the funds for the Junior Class Gift in an interest bearing account.

In addition to contributions taken during registration, pledge donations will be called for some time this semester to bolster the fund. For every $1 raised by the Junior Class, an additional dollar will be supplemented from President Eric A. Walker's funds for the gift.

the club study and discuss their prints to improve their work.

Epstein said that he expects a greater club membership this year, partly because of the activities exposition. He said 20 people applied for membership in the club at the exposition. Last year's club had about 50 members.

World Series--

Larker, who had gone to second on the play at the plate, raced home when Al Smith started late on Hodges' short fly and let it fall in for a single. Don Demeter's single to the left of Luis Aparicio moved Hodges to third before one of Wynn's low pitches to Johnny Roseboro got away from catcher Lollar. In came Hodges with the third run. Roseboro eventually plunked a single into short right that scored Demeter with the fourth run, chasing Wynn.

FOOTBALL: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

Next Saturday at the football game while you are sitting in your choice student's seat behind the end zone, won't you give a thought to Alaric Sigafos?

Alaric Sigafos (1868-1934) started life humbly on a farm near Thud, Kansas. His mother and father, both named Ralph, were bean-gleaners, and Alaric became a bean-gleaner too. Later he moved to Oregon and found work with a logging firm as a stump-thumper. Then he went to North Dakota where he tended the furnace in a granary (wheat-heater). Then he drifted to Texas where he tidied up oil fields (pipe-wiper). Then to Arizona where he strung dried fruit (fig-rigger). Then to Kentucky where he fed horses at a breeding farm (oat-toter). Then to Long Island where he dressed poultry (duck-plucker). Then to Alaska where he drove a delivery van for a bakery (bread-sledder). Then to Minnesota where he cut up frozen lakes (ice-slicer). Then to Nevada where he computed odds in a gambling house (dice-pricer). Then to Milwaukee where he pasted camera lenses together (Zeiss-splicer).

Finally he went to Omaha where he got a job in a tannery beating pig hides until they were soft and supple (hog-flogger.) Here he found happiness at last.

Mr. Doubleday had invented baseball the day before.....

Why, you ask, did he find happiness at last? Light a firm and fragrant Marlboro, taste those better makin's, enjoy that filter that filters like no other filter filters, possess your souls in sweet content, cross your little fat legs, and read on.

Next door to Alaric's hog-floggery was an almond grove owned by a girl named Chimera Emrick. Chimera was pink and white and marvelously hinged, and Alaric was instantly in love. Each day he came to the almond grove to woo Chimera, but she, alas, stayed cool.

Then one day Alaric got a brilliant idea. It was the day before the annual Omaha Almond Festival. On this day, as everyone knows, all the almond growers in Omaha enter floats in the big parade. These floats always consist of large cardboard almonds hanging from large cardboard almond trees.

Alaric's inspiration was to stitch pieces of pigskin together and inflate them until they looked like big, plump almonds. "These sure beat skinny old cardboard almonds," said Alaric to himself. "Tomorrow they will surely take first prize for Chimera and she will be mine!"

Early the next morning Alaric carried his lovely inflated pigskin almonds over to Chimera, but she, alas, had run off during the night with Walter T. Severidge, her broker. Alaric flew into such a rage that he started kicking his pigskin almonds all over the place. And who should be walking by that very instant but Abner Doubleday!

Mr. Doubleday had invented baseball the day before, and he was now trying to invent football, but he was stymied because he couldn't figure out what kind of ball to use. Now, seeing Alaric kick the pigskin spheroids, his problem was suddenly solved. "Eureka!" he cried and ran to his drawing board and invented football, which was such a big success that he was inspired to go on and invent lacrosse, Monopoly, run sheep run, and nylon.

When you go to next Saturday's game, take along the perfect football companion—Marlboro Cigarettes or Philip Morris Cigarettes or new Alpine Cigarettes—all a delight—all sponsors of this column.
