Workshop Suggests 15-Minute Break Between Classes

By CATHY FLECK, Assistant Editor
(Last in a Series)

A fifteen-minute break between classes was recommended by the 1959 Student Encampment in view of the increase in the physical size of the campus.

This recommendation came out of the workshop on University Expansion which covered two general areas: the more efficient and better use of the physical plant and University staff; and the expansion of recreational, social and extracurricular activities.

Another method of insuring sufficient time to change classes was a warning system which would indicate the beginning and end of classes.

Members asked that such a system be investigated as well as the possibility of synchronizing clocks throughout the University. These suggestions were made as possible solutions to problems that may arise in the next few years of both student and campus expansion.

Transportation, another problem that will come up in the next few years, was also dealt with by workshop members.

Some solutions to this problem were: facilities for bicycle transportation on campus; self financing parking on campus; chartered express bus service between State College and large cities; and the private establishment of a bus service between the outlying residential areas and the main campus.

In the field of recreational expansion, members recommended that the University construct a swimming pool to be converted during the summer for open air use, to be equipped for coeducational use and to have spectator facilities. They asked that horseback riding facilities be provided on a rental basis and that swimming, diving, weight lifting, and fencing teams be reestablished on the intercollegiate level.

OBOC Will Examine Charters

The Organizational Board of Control has announced its plans to ferret out campus "ghost" organizations.

The board will review all organizations chartered by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs to discover if all are still in existence.

Student Government Association President Leonard Julius explained the board's purpose last night.

"The board is also a type of court of original jurisdiction," he said.

It can hear cases concerning violations by various organizations. It may not, Julius said, enforce its decisions itself, but it may make recommendations to the Senate Committee for action.

All the board's decisions are subject to review by the Senate Sub-committee on Organizational Control.

The board is composed of eight members, who are chosen by interview with the SGA President. Each member must be a president of an organization chartered by the Senate Committee and must have a 2.4 All-University average.

Mortar Board Drops From Hat Council

Mortar Board, senior women's honorary leadership society, has announced it would withdraw from the Hat Society Council, due to the organization's lack of purpose.

In a letter to council president Stanley Foster, Mortar Board listed four reasons as the basis of its decision to quit the council.

• Since the cheerleaders have taken control of pep rallies, Mortar Board feels that the major function of the council has been eliminated.

• Mortar Board questions the need for $5 dues required of council members. In the past, the letter pointed out, the accumulation of council funds was used to help societies having financial difficulties. Mortar Board feels this is no longer necessary.

• Mortar Board feels that each society has more worthwhile projects than the council, and feels that greater efficiency of time could be produced if the individual projects could proceed independent of the council.

• For the past several years, the status and value of the council has been questioned and defended on the grounds that it provides for a uniform tapping date. Mortar Board feels that a meeting of the society heads could do the job just as easily, eliminating the need for the council. It also feels that the council's status has not improved during the past several years, bringing a need for definite action.

Foster told The Daily Collegian that the issue would be discussed at Sunday's council meeting.

Mortar Board, a national women's honorary society, taps for membership those women who signify the society's high ideals in scholarship, leadership and service.

Mortar Board sponsors an orientation program for international students, among other projects.

BU Football Tickets

Dock Strikers Sent Back to Work by Ike

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower paved the way yesterday for an 80-day cooling-off halt of the dock strike by invoking the Taft-Hartley law. He said the Atlantic and Gulf Coast shutdown by the independent International Longshoremen's Association threatens national health and safety.

The President deferred similar action in the 84-day-old nation-wide steel strike. But he hinted he soon may use the Taft-Hartley back-to-work court injunction provisions in that shutdown, too.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, noted the new collapse of labor-management negotiations in the steel strike and told a news conference at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters:

"The President has asked me to say that this situation is not collective bargaining, which is the instrument open to a free people in major economic disputes.

"This seems to be getting down more and more to a trial of strength between two groups with the American public the greatest loser."

In Washington, Labor Department officials predicted a back-to-work injunction will be obtained in federal court by Friday.

An ILA spokesman, informed of the President's action, said in New York: "We always obey the government."

Eisenhower's use of the Taft-Hartley law in the dock strike came with the shutdown only six days old.

In the dock tie-up, which has halted shipping from Maine to Texas, Eisenhower said in an executive order that the strike "will imperil the national health and safety" if permitted to continue.

The President added the strike also impedes the flow of necessary perishable products, including food, to heavily populated Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports.

As the first step under the Taft-Hartley national emergency provisions, Eisenhower named a three-man fact-finding board and instructed the members to report to him by Saturday. The board makes no recommendations.

Both sides in the strike were told to appear today in Washington before the board. The hearing is expected to take only one day.

Cwens to Return Money

Coeds who gave their gym suits to the Cwens Gym Suit Sale may collect their money from 3 to 4 p.m. today and tomorrow in 202 Hetzel Union Building. Tomorrow is the last day on which coeds may collect money.

Tickets Available For Artist Series

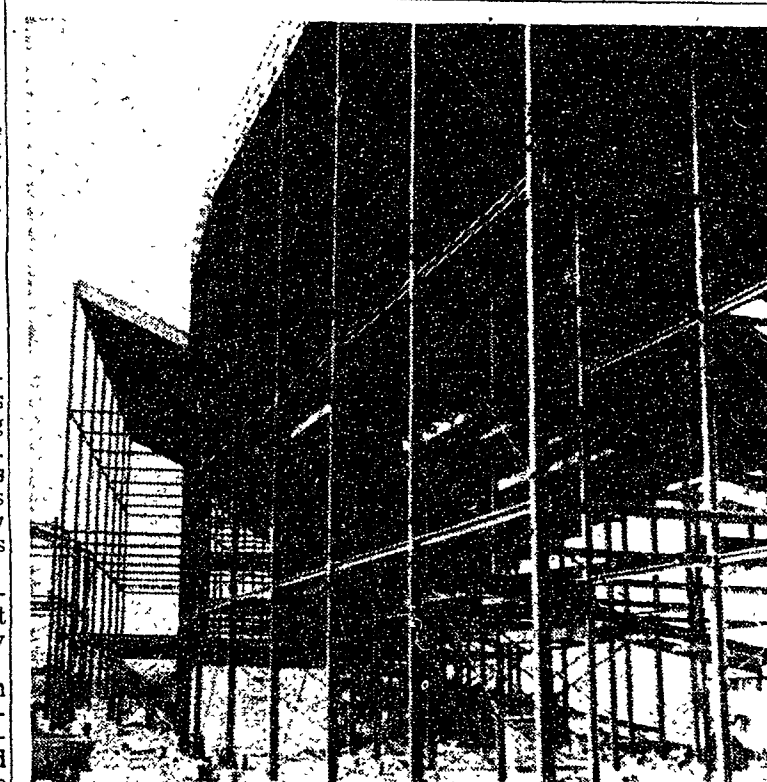

Less than 2000 student tickets remain for the third Artist Series program with the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater to be held at 8 p.m. on Sunday in Recreation Hall.

Non-student tickets will be on sale at 9 a.m. today at the Hetzel Union desk.

The Goldovsky company will present "Rigoletto" in an English translation.

Blue Key Applications

Tapping cards for Blue Key, junior men's hat society, are now available in the dean of men's office. Applicants must fill in cards before 5 p.m. Friday.

EAGER BEAVERS are ahead of schedule on the new Beaver Field Stadium. When both sides of the upper deck are in place the old stadium will be moved in to serve as the lower deck. Ramps will facilitate entry to the upper deck.

Heat Wave Ends; Rain to Continue

Thunderstorms broke the back of the worst October heat wave on record yesterday after the temperature soared to 85 degrees. Yesterday was the third straight day with temperatures above 82 degrees and was the fifth warmest day ever recorded in October in the State College area. Occasional rain and showers will continue today as cooler temperatures prevail. The high temperature today will be 75 degrees.

Tonight should be partly cloudy and cooler with a low of 56 degrees. Tomorrow should be sunny and pleasant.

Plane to Fly To Army Game

An Executive DC3 airplane has been chartered to fly to West Point this weekend for the Army game. The plane will leave Black Moshannon Airport at 10 a.m. Saturday morning and will return after the game.

Twenty-one passengers may go and the round trip fare is $49. Reservations must be made by 7 p.m. tomorrow.

The pilot is Robert Irvin, junior in business administration from State College.

Students interested in making flight reservations should call "Flight Information" at ADams 8-0341.

Bike Derby Planned By Collegian Staff

Shine up your bicycles, girls, The Daily Collegian is going to sponsor a Coed Bike Derby.

Probably one of the first of its kind ever held at the University, the derby will take place Saturday afternoon, May 21.

A definite site for the derby has not been established although the intramural football field and the new ROTC drill field, opposite the Wagner Military Science Building, are being considered.

The derby date is exactly one week before the start of the spring semester final examinations. It will be designed to allow coeds—and many male spectators—a last chance to let off steam before finals.

The derby will be open to all coeds for both individual and group competition. Independent groups and sororities will be encouraged to enter the event.

Although a few "serious" races will be held, the major part of the program will consist of comic races and other stunt events.

The competition will be set up so that small organizations—and small coeds, as well—will have a chance to win derby trophies. Bicycles, tricycles and maybe even unicycles will be used.

Ruth Briggs, Collegian promotion manager, and Lolli Neubarth, public relations director, will serve as co-directors of Derby Day. Members of the Collegian staff will serve as committeemen.
