

Chisox Beat LA, 1-0 To Cut Series Lead

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bob Shaw, Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan teamed up for the first three-pitcher shutout in World Series history yesterday to keep the Chicago White Sox alive with a 1-0 victory over Los Angeles in the fifth game.

A sensational running catch by Jim Rivera near the fence in right center in the seventh saved Shaw, Donovan's brilliant clutch pitching with the bases loaded in the eighth stopped the last Dodger threat.

The White Sox' second victory cut the Dodgers' series lead to 3-2 and sent the series back to Chomiskey Park in Chicago where the sixth game will be played tomorrow afternoon. Chicago also will be the site of the seventh game, if necessary, on Friday afternoon. Today will be set aside for travel.

Another roaring throng that set a series attendance mark of 92,706 squirmed through Dodger uprisings in the seventh and eighth. Each time they failed to break through the Sox for that one precious run.

Chicago scored the only run in the fourth after Nellie Fox and Jim Landis ripped singles to right field. Fox raced to third on Landis' hit and romped home while Sherm Lollar was hitting into a double play.

The brain cells of the rival managers throbbed with activity in the frantic eighth when pinch hitter followed pinch hitter and Al Lopez artfully juggled his pitching staff.

Rivera's running grab of Charlie Neal's curving fly ball came when the Dodgers had men on second and third with two gone in the seventh. Lopez had just put Rivera into the game as a defensive measure in an outfield switch.

The real dramatics of this sunny afternoon came in the eighth when three Dodgers were left on base for an appalling total of 11 although they out-hit the Sox 9-5.

The seventh inning was almost as tense as the eighth with Shaw bobbing and weaving as he pitched his way out of trouble with the help of Rivera's great catch.

Roseboro had flied out to start the seventh but Essegian, hitting for Wills, walked. Zimmer ran for him.

Out of the dugout came Duke Snider, the Dodgers' big power man for years, to swing for Sandy Koufax. Koufax had allowed only five hits and fanned six in a fine seven-inning effort.

Lopez Predicts White Sox Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — We're going to win this thing now," chortled jubilant Manager Al Lopez in the gay White Sox dressing room yesterday.

First White Sox player to bustle into the clubhouse after the White Sox' thrilling 1-0 victory in this fifth World Series game was veteran pitcher Early Wynn, who gets the call in Comiskey Park tomorrow.

"Now you sports writers, we're going back to the big barn," Wynn hollered at the milling writers.

Jungle Jim Rivera who made a game-saving catch of Charlie Neal's poke to deep right center with Dodgers on third and second said:

"I just ran for the fence and there the ball was. I didn't bother snapping down my sun glasses, because they don't help out here."

Rams Foil Hosterman's New Lineup

Ken Hosterman's attempted juggling act fell flat on its face Saturday as the Lion soccer mentor's revamped lineup performed even worse than the original did at Bucknell last week.

"The line just didn't work together. Our players roamed all over the field, playing out of position and getting in the way of others," Hosterman moaned.

"We have an awful lot of work to do as far as teamwork goes. Our trapping was bad and the passing was way off," Hosterman said.

"The only good thing was the defense. Dave Grubb played a great game in the goal. He made a good number of anticipated moves that helped to break up many a score," Hosterman stated.

Grubb's big moment came on a penalty kick by West Chester. The lanky sophomore made the best play of the day when he stopped the almost sure 12-yard kick.

The Lion mentor also credited Larry Fegley for his goaltending stint in the final period and praised Wayne Rodgers for his defensive work.

"Howie Farrer did a great job at halfback for never having played there before," claimed the Nittany coach.

"Although we played a sub par game, you still can't take any credit away from West Chester," said Hosterman.

"They have a really good ball club. They moved as a team and not as individuals, and really hustled to get the ball.

"Their alert defense helped to stall most of our scoring plays, while their line kept the ball moving."

The scoreboard tells only half the story of the Ram victory. West Chester made a total of 48 shots while limiting the Nittany booters to 19. In fact, the only place the Lions could boast any supremacy was in the goal where netminders, Grubb and Fegley, racked up 27 saves to the Rams' seven.

shortstop Luis Aparicio who forced Zimmer at second. Alston went to his bench for pitcher Johnny Podres as a runner for Snider, who hasn't been playing regularly because of an old knee injury.

Junior Gilliam, who had singled in the first, third and fifth, followed with his fourth straight hit, tying another series mark shared by 29 men. Gilliam's fourth hit was a single off the "Iron Curtain" in left field.

Lopez made the move that saved the game as Neal came to bat. He sent Rivera to right and shunted Smith to left, benching Jim McAnany.

Shaw's third offering to Neal was a wild pitch that scooted away from Sherm Lollar, letting Podres take third and Gilliam move to second.

Shaw went to a 3-2 count on Neal, the man who hit two homers off him last Friday in Chicago. Then Neal sent that long fly toward right center. It was apparent Landis wouldn't get there. Rivera was running as soon as the ball was hit and gathered it in, near the fence.

From the clubhouse came word that Lopez planned to start Early Wynn, 22-10, in the sixth game tomorrow. Wynn won the opener but was knocked out Monday.

Freshman Gridders Prepare for Opener

By JOHNNY BLACK

While the Lion varsity gridders have been rolling over Missouri, VMI and Colgate, Coach Earl Bruce has been quietly conditioning his freshman prospects for their short four game slate which opens this Saturday at West Virginia.

After only four weeks of practice the Lion Cubs will get their first test against the Mountie yearlings at Morgantown while the varsity squad carries its quest for victory to Michie Stadium.

Coach Bruce's freshmen teams have been undefeated for the last three years, and the '59 squad will attempt to keep the victory string intact in its four outings this fall.

Two members of the Pennsylvania "Big 33" high school all-stars, which whipped a national scholastic all-star squad at Hershey in August, are among the 36 men trying out for the squad.

Ron Tietjens, a 6-2, 222-pound tackle, and Bernard Sabol, a 5-9, 184-pound guard, are the two schoolboys who won the equivalent of All-Star honors. Big and burly, Tietjens played for Ambler High School and Sabol, whose brother Joe was a former Lion lineman, did his high school playing for Coal Township.

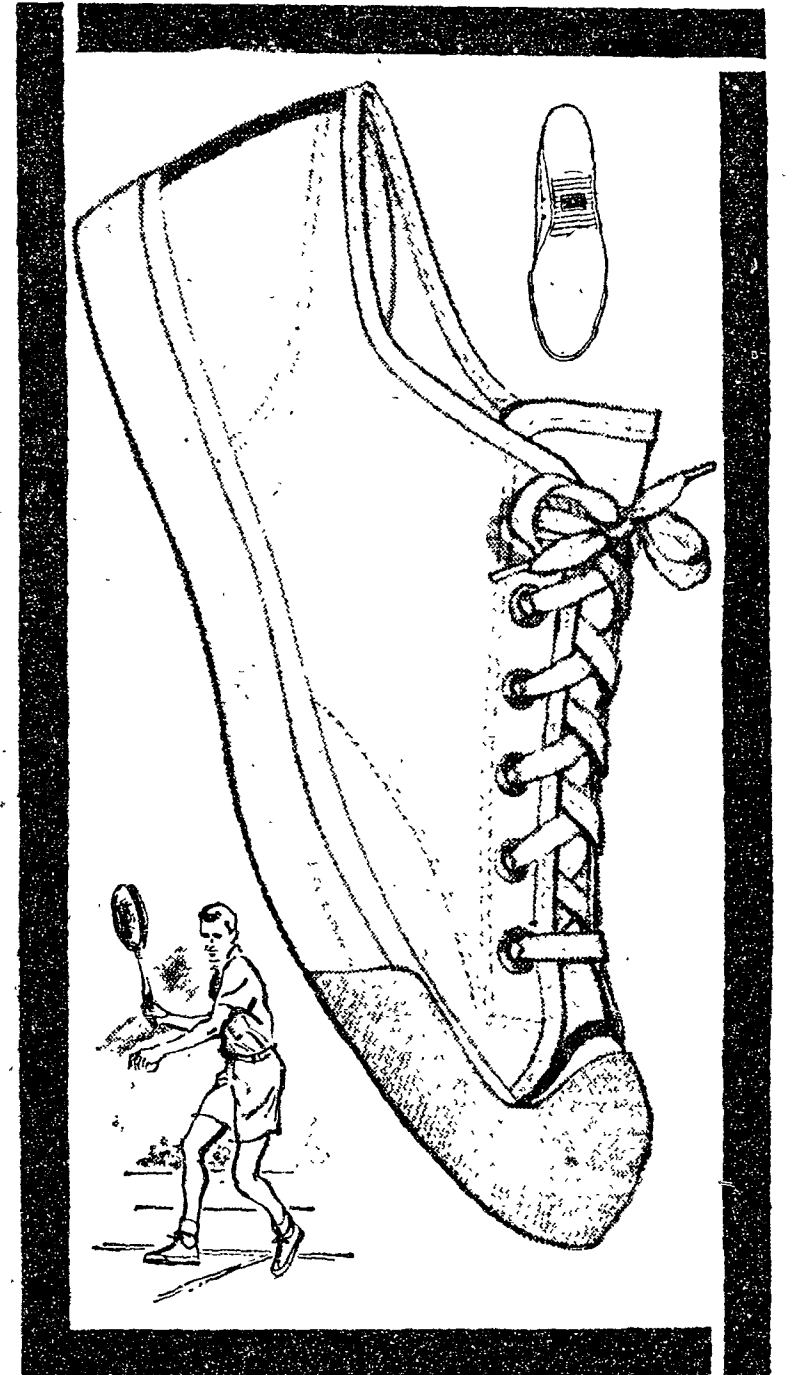

Another tackle, a fullback and a quarterback were accorded All-WPIAL honors in their respective classes. The tackle was Huss Schleiden, a six foot 200-pounder from Marshall High School.

John Torris from Jeannette is the fullback and Francis Smeck from Farrell is the quarterback. Several of the other players received all-county and all-conference nominations.

The overall size of the frosh team is pretty good with a couple of particularly big boys up front.

Dave Capezzuti, a 6-3 258-pound behemoth, is the biggest player on the squad. Two of Capezzuti's mates at tackle pack a lot of weight for the frosh line. Swissvale's Arnold Habic weighs in at 235 and Terry Monaghan, a Germantown Academy product, tips the scales at 217.

Coach Bruce has been stressing fundamentals and conditioning in practice because the team reported a little overweight and out of shape.
