

Mule, Band Students Give Team Sendoff

Some 150 cheering students, a makeshift band and a distant relative of the Army mule joined to give the Nittany Lion football team a noisy sendoff to West Point early yesterday.

Students chanted "State, State, State" under direction of the cheerleaders in front of Recreation Hall.

While the team was boarding the bus, Coach Rip Engle told the crowd, "These boys are going to go out there and give you everything they've got."

The mule, draped with a blanket bearing a large "A"; the Air Force Band members, cheerleaders and students marched in front of the bus as it proceeded down Burrowes Rd.

The bus took the players to Black Moshannon Airport. The team then flew to Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N.Y.

Following the game, the team will return by plane and bus, and will arrive in State College at about 9 p.m. tonight.

HEE HAW—The local version of the Army mule appears quite bored at the antics of its keeper Frank Pearson at yesterday morning's spontaneous pep rally. Students, band and cheerleaders were quite enthusiastic in giving the football team a big sendoff to West Point.

HEc College to Hold Nickel Days Drive

Students and faculty in the College of Home Economics will be asked to dig into their pocketbooks for a nickel during a Nickel Days drive Tuesday and Wednesday. The money will be used to pay for a pigeon hole mail system for the college.

The drive is sponsored by the college's student-faculty board. The plan was recommended by students who felt a mail system should be installed to eliminate postage cost for intercollegiate mail. The boxes are also designed to speed up transmission of mail in the college.

Students outside of the College of Home Economics may also leave notes in the boxes for friends who are home economics majors and for the faculty.

"If each student and professor drops a nickel in the containers, we will have enough money to build the boxes," explained Mrs. Barbara Anderson, coordinator of student affairs for the college. The containers will be placed in the front hall of Home Economics Building Tuesday through Thursday.

The mail boxes will be located in the back entrance of the present home economics building. There will be 40 pigeon holes labeled alphabetically for students, faculty and the nine student organizations in the college. The boxes, which will cost the physical plant $28 to build, will be painted and prepared for use by students.

The 3-member committee in charge of Nickel Days include: Elaine Gehrke, Dorothy Yeager and Dr. Katherine Fisher, associate professor of Foods and Nutrition and a faculty member of the student-faculty board.
