

Players to Present 'Dark of the Moon'

A 24-member cast has been selected for the second Players' production to open Nov. 5 in Schwab Auditorium.

"Dark of the Moon," by Howard Richardson and William Berney, is a folk drama about legends and superstitions of Carolina mountain people. The story tells of Barbara Allen's love for a witch boy named John. Barbara, played by Helen Blumenfeld, is tested for one year in her love for John, who cannot become human unless she proves her faithfulness.

John is played by Henry Yeager. Miss Blumenfeld is a graduate student in speech from Jackson Heights, N. Y.

Other students in the cast are: Robert Sable, Vera Schwartz, Tommie Mochling, Grace Ferrari, George Ulahos, Eleanor Wein, Rodney Busch, Carolyn Geer, June Miller, Anthony Del Signore, Robert Pikulsky, Ellis Grove, Stuart Fischhoff, William Boyer and Lyndalee Day.

Also Charles McCordell, Karen Smith, Martin Friedman, Philip Webber, Zena Ginsberg, Patricia Dill and Ivan Ladizinsky.

The production will run for three days.

First Players' production of the season will open at Center Stage on Homecoming Weekend, Friday and Saturday. The play, "On Borrowed Time," will run for six weekends, closing Nov. 21.

Martin to Deliver Talk At Economic Seminar

"The Chlorine Alkali Industry in the United States—A Study in Structural Stability" is the title of a talk to be given by William H. Martin at the Economics Faculty Seminar at noon today in Dining Room "A" of the Hetzel Union Building.

Dr. Martin, associate professor of economics, has been engaged in extensive research of the chemicals industry, and has recently published a study on "Public Policy and Increased Competition in the Synthetic Ammonia Industry" in The Quarterly Journal of Economics.

Party Presents New Proposals

Campus Party, at its first clique meeting of the year Sunday night, presented the initial reading of several amendments to the party constitution.

The proposals, which must be read a second time before they are voted on, pertain to revisions in the party structure.

The meeting was intended primarily for freshmen interested in campus politics. An informal chat with Party Chairman Charles Steele, following the meeting, proved valuable for the new members seeking information.

Through the Looking Glass with Gabbi

Shay, did you notice that shoddy looking young man standing on the corner of College and Allen with a tin cup? Heh, Heh. He bet on Army. If that same young man wants to bolster his sagging spnits without making his tin cup much lighter, he should take a little jaunt half a block east on College Ave. to Ethel Meserve's. Ethel has the largest selections of ties this side of the Mississippi—literally hundreds. There are knits, especially popular is a new style called the Blazer in a red and grey stripe, printed cottons, Indian silks, webbed wools, and the stylish Tucker line. Every taste can be satisfied at Ethel's tie bar. Come in and see for yourself. By the way, don't forget that you can open a credit account at Ethel's. This will be real handy for our friend with the tin cup.

Baubles, Bangles, Bright shiny beads

see how they gleam. And they really do glitter and gleam. Ethel has the most dazzling collection of bracelets, necklaces, earrings, and pins that you've ever cast your beady little eyes on. Please excuse that puny pun. There are dinner rings in old gold, pearls, jade, and rhinestones. If you like chunky, heavy bracelets, drop in our shop to see our richly decorated baubles with gold trinkets, pearls, and colored stones. We also have the ever-fashionable coin bracelets and for more dressy occasions an intricately designed pearl and gold bracelet.

Ashes to Ashes . . .

well, you know the rest. Ethel has just the thing for your cigarette ashes. Primitive ash trays are the thing this year with the beat set, so I've been told. These ash trays are moulded in simple lines with primitive drawings in the earth colors of brown and blue. In the colors of autumn are our lovely mohair scarfs. See them in bright plaids or brilliant solid colors.

Be seeing you, Gabbi
