

Cancro, DiNitto Lead Terriers

Boston U. Has 21 Lettermen

By SANDY PADWE

Two of the smallest college players in the country are expected to be in the starting lineup tomorrow afternoon when Boston University tangles with Penn State on Beaver Field.

Righthalfback Paul Cancro and quarterback Emo DiNitto both go 5-8, 170, but don't let the size fool you, they're BU's big guns.

Cancro, BU's leading ground gainer for the past two years, is rated as one of the most exciting Terrier players to come along since the great Harry Agganis.

His speed and drive make him a hard man to bring down. In addition to being a strong runner, Cancro is a topnotch defensive player.

DiNitto has been BU's leading passer for the last two years. Last season he completed 41 out of 94 passes for 641 yards. Five went for touchdowns.

In addition to those two, Coach Steve Sinko has 19 other lettermen on hand for the remainder of 1959 season. So far this year BU has a 1-2 mark.

They dropped their first two to George Washington and Kansas, but they pulled an upset last week by stopping West Virginia, 7-0.

Penn State coach Frank Patrick who scouted the Terriers last week, says the Beantowners are a tough ball club. "They didn't really jell until last week but they sure looked good then," he said.

Patrick came away from last week's BU-West Virginia game with plenty of respect for the Terrier offense.

"They have a good running game and they pass well too," said the Lion coach. "They just got off to a slow start this year but now they're rolling."

Patrick also had a lot of praise for BU's All-American end candidate—Gene Prebola. "Tremendous is the best word to describe him," Patrick said.

Sinko, too, has plenty of praise for Prebola. "We've had great ends here," he said, "but Gene is as good as any of them and he's still improving."

The rest of the BU lineup is full of lettermen. Pat McCue at right end, gives the Terriers one of the strongest wing tandems in the East.

At guard Sinko has captain Len Pare and Hal McAvoy. Pare is an efficient workman who never stops hustling and is regarded as an excellent team leader by the BU coaches. He also handles a good bit of the team's punting.

Bob Minihane and Paul Manganaro, who both saw plenty of action last season, are scheduled to start at tackle. Manganaro, from Everett, Mass., is one of the fastest linemen on the BU squad. The center will be Bob Marques who is playing his third season at the pivot post.

In the other backfield positions, Sinko has Hugo Bolin and Glen Stefano. Bolin is the left halfback and Stefano is a fullback.

Jack Farland, a sophomore, is DiNitto's substitute at quarterback and is an outstanding prospect. The BU coaches think Farland will develop into one of the best quarterbacks the Terriers have had in a long time.

150,000-Seat Stadium

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Sao Paulo Football Club officials said Monday their new stadium being built for the 1963 Pan-American Games will seat 150,000. Construction on the huge, oval stadium and other sports facilities of the sprawling sports center already has started. One side of the grandstand is near completion.

Football Hall of Fame

Bob Higgins, Lion football coach from 1930 to 1948, was elected to the football Hall of Fame in 1954. Besides his coaching ability, Higgins was also named as an outstanding collegiate end.
